STRIKING NEW SHAPE called "Classique" will be shown to wholesale buyers in Atlantic City by the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. The pieces above carry the "Evening Song" pattern. A total of seven patterns will be shown on the new shape, which features footed hollow ware. It was designed by Kalla (Irwin Kalla of Pittsburgh).

Area Potteries To Display Wide Variety In New Ware

The East Liverpool district's five major dinnerware producers will show a wide variety of new shapes and patterns to wholesale buyers at the second annual six-day Atlantic City China & Glass Show, which opens Sunday.

From the area's kilns, the 4,000 buyers who help fashion America's dinnerware preferences will see more of the vitrified china that was introduced a year ago, along with new patterns and shapes in earthenware — standby of the industry for generations.

LAUNCHED AT noon Sunday in Atlantic City Convention Hall, the show will continue through next Friday noon.

District exhibitors will be: Homer Laughlin China Co., Edwin M. Knowles China Co., Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., Harker Pottery Co. and Hall China Co. Nearly 700 manufacturers and distributors are expected to show their lines.

The Atlantic City show became established a year ago as the major mid-winter market for pottery and glass, replacing the traditional Pittsburgh Pottery & Glass Show, which was held for 79 years.

As the major market, the Atlantic City show became the center for introduction of new lines. The last Pittsburgh show was held in 1958. Plans for the 1959 show were dropped after the organization of the new Atlantic City exhibit in mid-summer.

THE SHOW IS sponsored by the China, Glass & Pottery Association of America, Inc., and directed by the George Little Management of New York City. Exhibits will be open from noon until 6 p. m. Sunday, from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a. m. to noon on Friday. A "get-together" cocktail party is scheduled Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Hotel Dennis.

Homer Laughlin will introduce a number of new patterns in both its "Triumph" china line and its regular earthenware lines.

Eight patterns will be shown in the fine china line. They are:

"Spring Rose," a decorative center in gray leaves and maroon buds, framed with silver edge lines; "Woodland," a decorative stylized leaf motif, a semi-spray border type in delicate turquoise, warm tans and yellows; "October Leaves," a windblown grouping of small decorative fall leaves in cinnamon, persimmon red, yellows and moss greens framed with a nonburnished gold edge line.

"LINDA," a large side spray of turquoise trumpet flowers with linear sweeping gray leaves; "Embassy Rose," a severe stylized single rose in pink angularly placed with gray-green leaves and framed with a silver edge; "Helena," a very delicate fine china-like pattern in linear green leaves with small decorative dots of burnished gold and framed or edged with burnished gold; "White Dogwood," dogwood in a deocrative design in enameled white-on-white accented with touches of red and accented with gray leaves lined with silver, and "Tiara," a simplified delicate coin gold band against a swan white background.

On its fine earthenware line, "Cavalier," Laughlin's will show a pattern called "Winter Garden." It features a highly-stylized decorative daisy-type flower in enameled white with branches of brown and turquoise leaves, silhouetted against a field of turquoise blue. Another pattern shows a pine branch of white, gray and brown against an underglaze shoulder of light pink.

Laughlin also will introduce an entirely new decorating technique called "Color-Tone," a very fine half-tone in an underglaze process.

SEVEN NEW patterns will be shown in the new process. They are:

"Green Maple," which is a wide border of maple leaves in several half-tones from dark green to white, this pattern is duplicated in a brown cedar color called "Cedar Maple," "Rose Garden," a decorative allover floral pattern of several tones of pink in a rose garden effect; "Gold Key," a Greek decorative border in a new "Old Gold" color tone against a white background; "Golden Dawn," a simplified radial line treatment in a border pattern of thick and thin radial lines, and "Lobster Port," a scenic pattern in a blue-gray color — a woodcut type of drawing depicting a fishing village with boats and crews unloading the catch.

Three patterns, also underglaze, will be shown in the "Screen-Craft" design on the "Brittany" shape.

One is called "Pink Lady," small delicate hourglass forms making up a decorative border in pink against a white formal border; "Lady Gray," a duplicate of the same pattern in soft gray, and "Mardi Gras," a modern arrangement of diamonds in alternate browns and yellows.

KNOWLES will introduce a new earthenware shape, "Classique," featuring footed hollow ware. Designed by Kalla (Irwin Kalla of Pittsburgh), the new shape will be shown with seven patterns, some

Army Seizes Laos Reins; Premier Out

One Official Says It's All In Family, With No Bloodshed

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—King Savang Vathana announced the resignation of Premier Phoui Sananikone in a political row Thursday and this tiny Communist-menaced Asian land suddenly found its security in the hands of the army.

"It's a coup d'etat Laotian style," said a smiling official. "It's all in the family, no bloodshed."

He said the army was in control of security, though the Cabinet technically is staying on as caretaker.

Phoui's fall, after his resignation twice had been rejected by the King, was the result of a split in the government over elections.

The government has said the election of a new one-chamber Assembly would be held in April 1960, but no one knows when it really will be held. Estimates range from May to November.

Long-time French and other European residents fear it will result in a pro-Communist majority. The Red Pathet Lao, supported at least morally by Red China and Communist North Viet Nam, has been waging a guerrilla rebellion.

But Sisouk Na Champassak, former information minister and leader of the Committee for Defense of the National Interest CDIN, predicted his organization's strength in the villages will result in "a turn to the right."

CDIN, which includes many military leaders, contended that a new, impartial caretaker Cabinet to prepare for elections should have taken over Dec. 25, when the old Assembly's term expired.

Phoui ruled that the electoral law provided both Cabinet and Assembly should continue until the next election.

Heart Taken With Easing Of Tensions

New Year's Ushered In With Revelry, Religious Services

By The Associated Press

A new year and a new decade dawned Friday on a world still beset by problems of the past but looking hopefully ahead to an era of peace and prosperity.

Around the world the age of the 60s was ushered in with revelry, solemn religious service, and family hearthside gatherings. For the Jan. 1 holiday, there were many activities — rest and relaxation, visits with neighbors and friends, and numerous football games to be witnessed in person or by that electronic marvel which grew to giant size in the 50s, television.

Fair weather was in prospect for most of the eastern and western sections of the country. The weather map elsewhere was expected to be dotted with a variety of snow, rain and stinging north winds.

Amid a variety of New Year's observances about the globe, mankind took heart over what seemed diminished tensions among nations, greater understanding between peoples, and brighter prospects for conquering major problems.

For the moment, at least, there appeared little to cast gloom.

The world's peoples and leaders took note of 1960's arrival in countless ways.

In the United States, millions jammed night clubs and party gathering places, as well as such renowned public spots as New York's Times Square. Others

Last Big Snow Of '59 Lashes Parts Of U.S.

Near-Record Fury Blasts Southwest And Plateau Region

By The Associated Press

The old year's last big snow storm lashed parts of the Southwest and Plateau region with near-record fury Thursday.

Heavy snow and knifing winds created blizzard conditions in north central Arizona near Flagstaff and the Grand Canyon. The snow piled up to a depth of seven inches at Flagstaff in a few hours.

Heavy snow also fell northward into Utah and Albuquerque, N.M. The Weather Bureau warned highway travelers, hunters and stockmen that the storm was bearing eastward into New Mexico and Colorado.

The storm cut visibility to zero in some north central sections of Arizona. Residents of Prescott de-

Wetzel Seeks Another Term; Mason To Run

Columbiana County's veteran State Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel has announced he will seek a sixth term and an East End auctioneer said he is circulating petitions for filing as a nominee for county commissioner.

Wetzel, 60, of Lisbon will be a candidate in the Republican primaries in May for his fourth consecutive term. He served two previous terms before being elected in 1954.

A salesman, he attended Mt. Union College and Carnegie Institute of Technology. He is a member of the Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, Knights Templar, American Legion, Kiwanis Club, Puritan Club and Eagles Lodge. He is married.

Jonathan C. Mason, veteran city auctioneer and onetime state senator, is circulating petitions to file for nomination as Columbiana County commissioner in the Republican primaries in May.

Mason, 61, employed in the transportation department of the Crucible Steel Co., was senator in 1947-48. He was born and educated in Indiana, and has lived in East Liverpool over 30 years.

Rogers Fires New Warning At TV, Radio

Says U.S. Agencies Failed To Use Their Full Power In Quiz

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers reported Thursday that rigged TV shows perpetrated a gigantic hoax on the nation and that federal agencies failed to use fully their power to combat corruption.

Rogers said this power is adquate to take care of abuses, deception and corruption — that no substantial new legislation is needed. But he did urge that payola—undercover payments of employes of broadcasting stations—be made a federal crime, and that federal sanctions over broadcasters be expanded.

And he waved at television and radio networks the possibility that legislation could be enacted later to bring them under direct government regulation. They are not subject to such regulations now—only individual stations.

The report was made to President Eisenhower, who requested it last October after the extent of the TV quiz show rigging had begun to emerge.

It credited the Federal Communications and Trade Commissions and the broadcasting and advertising industries with having taken an active interest in cleaning up corruption and deception.

But Rogers still cracked a whip over all of them.

He said that "while advertising revenue must continue to serve as the economic base for the (broadcasting) industry, it should not be permitted to overwhelm it."

He said that under existing law the government had "substantial means to combat the excesses of commercialization in broadcasting" but "those means do not ap-

Holiday Eve Traffic Light

Sunny And Warmer Due For New Year's

Light traffic was reported on Tri-State District roads on the eve of the New Year's holiday but state patrolmen were keeping their fingers crossed after noting that no accidents had occurred early in the evening.

They waited for the rush of drivers heading home after club and lodge parties welcoming the new year.

There was some increase in traffic on principal roads late in the evening but generally it was light to normal.

Traffic on main highways in Columbiana County was reported slightly heavier than usual by the State Highway Patrol.

Patrol officers at Wintersville reported traffic normal. Neither post had any accidents under investigation.

The Hancock County sheriff's office reported traffic not too heavy while the State Police barracks at Weirton reported traffic growing heavier especially on Routes 22 and 2.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported traffic in its area to be "rather light". The Rochester barracks reported light traffic but commented that the rush had not started.

Meanwhile, the Ohio weatherman apparentlly had made a New Year's resolution — instead of cloudy skies and snow flurries and colder, he forecast some sunshine today and a slight moderation in the cold spell with temperatures expected in the 30's.

Applegate Will Retain 2 For Auditor's Staff

Clearing up virtually the last question about office personnel in the new Democratic regime at City Hall, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate announced Thursday night that he will retain two women employes who worked for the retiring auditor, H. J. Gallimore.

They are Miss Gladys Rinehart, an employe of the office for 20 years, and Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver, who was added to the staff a few years ago.

"Efficiency comes ahead of politics and I will retain the present staff, with no changes planned in the immediate future," Applegate announced. He was the last of the officials-elect to announce details of his office staff.

County's Highway Deaths Show Increase For 1959

Although Columbiana County's traffic accident total for 1959 declined from the previous year, the death toll showed a tragic increase with 28 killed compared to 22 in 1958.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported a total of 750 accidents of all kinds during the year, a considerable drop from the 811 in 1958 and 808 in 1957.

But there were 28 men, women and children killed on the county's roads and highways last year—including 4 young men in one crash, possibly the worst accident in the county's traffic history.

East Liverpool had 2 fatalities in 1959, compared to one the previous year.

Wellsville, which had 3 street deaths in 1958, reported no traffic victims this past year, and Lisbon, Salineville, East Palestine and Columbiana were also free of fatalities. Salem had one killed.

The toll included 15 drivers, 9 passengers, 3 pedestrians and a youth on a bicycle. In 1958, the dead included 8 drivers, 9 passengers and 5 pedestrians.

2 Climbers Marooned In Storm Found Safe

GORHAM, N.H. (AP) — Two young mountain climbers, marooned four days by a snowstorm in lonely White Mountain forest, were found Thursday in excellent condition in an emergency cabin they had the good sense to use as a refuge.

Richard Bonier, 27, of Watertown, Mass., and Harold Karagozian, 25, of Cambridge, Mass., failed to bring along their snowshoes when they began climbing rugged, 5,326-foot Mt. Madison in the Presidential Range last Saturday.

Curb Meters Pay $57,658

East Liverpool parking meters produced $57,658 in 1959, off $5,704 from the record $63,362 shown in 1958, but still the second best by a wide margin in the 12-year history of the operation.

The only other annual revenue figure that approaches last year's total was the $44,720 shown in 1957. Next-best year since the meters went into service was 1953, when they produced $40,500. The worst year was 1951, when they brought in only $32,569.

THE DECLINE in personal incomes that resulted from the steel strike in the last half of 1959 apparently played a big role in the cutback in meter revenues. In most instances, monthly meter revenue in the last half of the year was below comparable months in 1958.

Last year was the second full year of strict "Meter Maid" enforcement of parking regulations. The women meter attendants first were hired in July 1957, part of a revamping of the parking system which also included doubling fees in the heart of the business district and opening of the first city-operated off-street lot.

Three more off-street lots were opened in 1959, but too late in the year to show any appreciable effect on the meter revenue. But the 1960 meter "take" should be boosted by the income from 2 lots at 3rd and Market Sts. and another on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall.

THE INCOME figures do not include hundreds of dollars more collected in $1 penalties from violators. They money is paid as a forfeit at the "Meter Maid" office, then goes to Municipal Court. Most of the court's receipts eventually go into the city's general fund.

For the second consecutive year, December did not produce the highest income of any month. The top month in 1959 was April, in which $6,322 was collected. The top month in 1958 was May, which produced $6,420. December 1957 produced $6,137, a new record at that time. The meters brought in only $2,648 in December 1956. In December 1955, the income was $3,067. In December 1954, it hit $3,305. In 1953, it reached $4,135.

Average monthly meter income in 1959 was $4,804. In 1958 it was $5,280. In 1957 it was $3,702. The average monthly income in 1956 was $2,940. In 1955, it was $3,086. In 1953, it was $3,375. It was $2,943 in 1952; $2,714 in 1951; $2,936 in 1950; $3,163 in 1949 and $3,188 in 1948, the first full year of operation.

METER INCOME was $35,325 in 1952. It hit $37,961 in 1949. It fell to $35,189 in 1950. The income in 1947 was $9,677, but the meters were in service only the last three months of the year.

Here are the monthly collection figures for 1959: January, $4,382; February, $3,771; March, $4,204; April, $6,322; May, $4,820; June, $4,264; July $5,666; August, $4,352; September, $4,477; October, $5,794; November, $3,139, and December, $5,965.

The monthly collection figures for 1958 were: January, $4,610; February, $4,362; March, $4,859; April, $4,780; May, $6,420; June, $5,262; July, $6,351; August, $4,335; September, $6,135; October, $6,246; November, $5,146, and December, $4,852.

New Officials Start Monday

Industry Township Begins Borough Status With '60

Industry Township, formed about 1876 and containing 3,000 persons within its 12 square miles, becomes Industry Borough today.

The first Council, Burgess Harry H. Davis and others elected Nov. 3 will officially take over Monday evening when the present township Board of Supervisors winds up business.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Industry School. New officials will be sworn in, a Council president elected along with a solicitor, and a secretary named. The new president will appoint his committees. A place and time for meetings will be set.

The bid for borough status began when petitions were circulated in August 1958, Guy L. Lang, secretary of the Board of Supervisors, said. Since some 87 per cent of the residents signed petitions favoring the change, the question was not submitted in the general election that year.

Petitions were filed in Beaver County Court in September 1958 and two weeks later approval was given during a hearing before by Judge Morgan Sohn.

Among reasons or the change, residents wanted a better form of government and tax structure and protection from annexation by any adjoining municipalities, Lang said.

New officials include eight Republicans and seven Democrats. Republican Ross Strohm, councilman for four years, is the only carryover from the supervisors.

New officials include Democrat Harry H. Davis, burgess; Democrats Matthew Bertovic and Steve Suchanec, and Republicans James Muns and Strom, Councilmen for four years.

Democrats C. R. Dunlap and Allen Craft and Republican William Ralph Jr., councilmen two years; Democrat Charles P. Henderson, school director; Republican Richard Herter, auditor for six years; Democrat Joseph Mulach, auditor for four years; Frederick Wilton, auditor two years; George C. Baacke, justice of the peace; Earl J. Hineman, tax collector, and Rose Miller, assessor; all four Republicans.

Present township officers include the Board of Supervisors composed of Edward White, chairman, Strohm and Guy Lang, secretary-treasurer.

Others include Hineman, tax collector; Charles Fulmer, assessor; A. C. (Jimmy) Knight, justice of the peace, and Herter, Robert Preston and Joseph Fiediga, auditors.

Other carry-overs into the new borough, besides Strohm, include Hineman and Herter.

Kentucky Man Nabbed As Deserter Of Army

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—FBI agents and Lima detectives Thursday arrested a man they identified as Edward Sweeney, 20, of Prestonsburg, Ky., an Army deserter.

He was arrested at the home of a friend, which authorities had been watching. Officers said Sweeney enlisted in 1957 and served in Germany, but failed to return from leave last January after returning to this country.

Mother Declared Insane; Killed Daughter, Hurt 2

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Coleen Kistler, 32, the Sheffield Lake mother who killed one daughter and wounded two others last Saturday, Thursday was declared mentally ill and committed to Apple Creek State Hospital.

Judge Harold S. Ewing of Lorain County Probate Court pronounced the ruling after a sanity hearing here.

Mrs. Kistler had been undergoing treatment for mental illness before she was arrested Saturday. Killed in the wild shooting spree was Katherine Oda Kistler, one month old. Her sisters, Karen, 10, and Kristine, 2½, were wounded and hospitalized in Lorain.

The father, Ray Kistler, and two sons, Eric, 12, and Franz, 8, were in the garage when the shooting occurred at the family home. Mrs. Kistler fired six shots with a revolver.

Attempts had been made in the past to have the mother committed to Apple Creek, but were delayed because of the holidays, Sheffield Lake police said.

Mrs. Kistler has been at Apple Creek since Monday and was not returned here for the hearing.

Happy New Year Within Reason

After the shouted wishes for a Happy New Year have quit echoing, a calmer kind of wishing begins.

They are wishes for a Happy New Year with in reason.

At the turn of the sixth decade, it's within reason to believe the Western powers do not want to start a war and that the Asiatic powers are decades away from capacity to wage war.

There will be no peace in the sense of an absence of disagreements and belligerency, but it seems likely there may be no war in 1960.

It seems likely, too, that there may be in 1960 some slight progress toward wider recognition of the dignity of mankind.

Whether the progress is made only in this country, or in other countries as well, it will be a net gain in the longest, hardest struggle men have waged — the struggle to be measured for what they are worth as individuals, regardless of the color of their skins, what they believe and what their ancestors believed.

It is unlikely there will be any large-scale outbreaks of bestiality and minority oppression in 1960.

THE NEW YEAR promises to bring further advances in mass understanding of public finances. Even in the United States, the profligate member of international society, it has become proper to question such previously unquestionable things as billion-dollar items in the budget for national defense.

Britain, France and West Germany all have shown that it pays to handle public money with a firm hand. Their currencies have been put in order. Their people are not living in fear of systematic devaluation of their wages and savings.

The national budget could have been balanced this year had it not been for the loss of taxes wiped out by the steel strike. It can be balanced next year if sane men in government can prevail over the half-crazed men who live in fear of being outspent.

Balance apparently is being achieved, also, in government, itself. There is no fear any more of undue domination by the executive, legislative or judicial branches. A strong President, a strong Congress and a strong Supreme Court have been operating for some years in an atmosphere of constitutional harmony.

This may well be the great contribution of the Eisenhower administration to national well-being — that it restored governmental balance after years of unbalance.

IN THE BUSINESS affairs whose proper conduct determines the well-being of most of us as individuals, as well as the well-being of society as a whole, there is similar prospect of balance.

The steel industry's hard fight to repress further dollar-cheapening by appeasing unions with wages boosts that cannot be justified by productivity has stiffened the determination of other industries to call for showdowns on a dangerous practice.

It may be possible for wage earners to see clearly before the end of 1960 that buying power is the only dependable gauge of earning power — that devalued dollars are a fraud to take the value out of savings.

The important thing about inflation is to repress it — not to stop inflation, thereby inducing deflation, but to slow down inflation and keep it from running away.

No reason is in sight or in prospect to keep 1960 from being a good year, as years go. It certainly is not going to be the best year in history; that year never comes. But it is just as certainly not going to be the worst year in history; that one is not likely to come in 1960.

That is what lies behind the calmer kind of wishing for a Happy New Year within reason.

Happy New Year — within reason.

Still Selling America Short

Reports of year-end-retail business reflect widespread surprise that things were as good as they were, all things considered.

In the inverted terminology of businessmen, this means things were a whole lot better than they were expected to be. And in the inverted thinking that underlies the upside-down talk, this means businessmen are still underestimating the capacity of their fellow countrymen for liking new practices and new products.

This induces a certain wonder about the potentialities of the 1960s, which are being heralded as a decade of unprecedented prosperity.

The safest bet anyone could make at the outset of this fabulous decade looming ahead is that the prosperity which is upcoming will catch businessmen less than fully prepared for its potentialities.

THE BUSINESSMEN and the statisticians and seers who guide their thoughts play everything cagey and close to the vest. They would rather be caught with their inventories down than stuck with too much. Plans for expansion that scared them half to death when they looked the first time always prove on second sight to have been unreasonably conservative.

The public appetite for goods and services is grossly underestimated, and apparently the first fresh reminder in that direction is going to come from Detroit, where the demand for trimmer, more manageable automobiles seems to have taken marketing experts by surprise.

Housing plans, likewise, will turn out to have been made without accurately calculating the potentialities of an expanding population total. Even the superhighways that are being eyed sourly by skeptics who remember horses and buggies are going to be totally inadequate by 1969, unless provisions for doubling their capacity were built into the right of ways.

No special insight is needed to make such predictions.

THERE IS NO trick in knowing in advance that U.S. capacity for economic growth in the next 10 years will pop the eyes of close figurers.

The close figurers always have been wrong, because they always have tried so hard to stay on the safe side of everything that they always erred in the direction of caution. Otherwise, they would have been called "reckless," a horrible word.

There never has been a decade in the past when this was not so, beginning with the first settlements in the early days. The potentialities of the United States never have been fully comprehended and never have been reasonably forecast, lest they might sound silly.

The potentialities of the '60s will be no exception.

CARDS FOR NEW YEAR

Happy New Year!
Let's suppose it
Comes despite those
Who oppose it.
Peaceful year
With joy to boot.
(And accept
No substitute.)
Love and kisses. . .
Far less dept . . .
Lower taxes . . .
(WANNA BET?)
World all tranquil,
Fear knocked flat;
No big crisis . . . .
(IN YOUR HAT!)

RUSSIA HAS AGREED to do something about settling their lend-lease debt to the United States. These three agreements will first have to be made by the Soviet: (1) That the U.S. played any part in the war; (2) that, if so, American forces were of any help in saving Russia's neck; (3) that "gratitude," "debt" and "pledge," are not dirty words. Russia got 11 billion in supplies alone from Uncle Sam, but may still claim two sailors' uniforms, and a toy pistol.

A BIG HOUSING DEVELOPMENT is planned for the old Polo Grounds in New York. The tenant who has a room or apartment directly over the home plate will be disturbed by cries of "You're out."

A bedroom where John McGraw once stood will see the ghostly figure of the most fiery manager in history and hear plenty of colorful language.

The spirits of some of the greatest figures in baseball will be heard, house by house, we think.

How about a good name for the development? Mathewson Manors, Hassle Heights, Swat Acres, or Casa McGraw?

It was at the Polo Grounds that the original Harry Stevens sold the first all-hot and went on to expand into one of the biggest catering enterprises on earth. Maybe somebody will tab the housing site: Hot Dogpatch.

LOOKING BACK over the Yuletide, the highlights on the airwaves seem to us to have been Marian Anderson in singing, "He Holds the Whole World in His Hands," and (believe it or not) the simple beauty of a 16-year-Old Movie, "Going My Way," on Christmas afternoon. . . . Would you ever suspect that the folks you see in paper hats, tooting horns and developing a case of super hiccups were the same ones who a week back were deep in reverence for the Holy Night, peace on earth, and the love of little children?

Heavyweight championship fight group includes former assistant attorney general, four lawyers, an insurance man, a travel agent, and Roy Cohn, a man who lost a close decision to the U.S. Army in the McCarthy hearings. It has everybody except an insecticide expert, a magician, a tough Marine sergeant, and an FBI agent, all of which it needs most in the present state of the fight game.

Bill Rosensohn, the boy promotor, sold out his rights to keep in hot water. Vincent Velella disposed of his rights to neglect his law business for the perils of promotion. To your corners, lawyers, businessmen, brokers, investigatory officials and tourist agencies. . . and come out fighting!

NEW HAMPSHIRE birthplace of Sam Foss, author of "House By the Side of Road" is being sold for taxes. Poem today would have to be revised to read:

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
If a thruway isn't due;
There are lights on the front, the side
and rear,
But the autos still crash through.
There are signs all over the roadside
home
And blinker lights bright red,
But a beach car's in the living room
And a big truck is under the bed.
A bulldozer soon may be scooping
me up
In rubble up to my ears—
So sell the old shack for what you can get
And end my nightly fears.

Off The Launching Pad!

Dewey Seen Helping Bid For Steel Peace

By Victor Riesel

History's youngest elder statesman, Thomas Edmund Dewey, is believed to be quite quietly negotiating the end of the steel crisis.

Victor Riesel

There is nothing surprising about Mr. Dewey's peacemaking role. He long has been more a shadow president than an ex-governor. The term "shadow" is invoked here in the British political jargon. But there has been nothing shadowy about his influence on the cabinet of the President of the U. S. The late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, was Dewey's adviser on international affairs. White House press secretary Jim Hagerty was Dewey's executive assistant.

IT WAS Tom Dewey who reached into California to make a youthful senator named Richard Nixon the vice president of the U. S.

It was Tom Dewey who quickly saw the blend of personality and ability in a young lawyer, William Rogers, and got him the post of chief counsel of the Senate Committee on Government Operations when the Republicans controlled Congress away back there.

At the time Rogers found a small apartment in an outlying Washington residential area. His neighbor turned out to be Sen. Nixon. They walked, they golfed, they socialized, they became inseparable friends. Today Rogers is, of course, attorney general of the U. S.

It was Tom Dewey who sent along candidate Eisenhower's earliest and latest labor advisers. Out of the Dewey camp in '52 came President Eisenhower's labor policy. Out of the Dewey camp came the name of the first Eisenhower secretary of labor — the late Martin Durkin, then the Plumbers Union chief. Out of the Dewey camp came the name of Durkin's successor, James Mitchell.

THUS IT WAS natural that Bill Rogers, Jim Mitchell, Dick Nixon and others kept Tom Dewey, the nation's least publicized but most influential Republican leader, well informed. The ex-New York governor knew what few others did — that when Labor Secretary Mitchell tried to get President Eisenhower really to pressure the steel industry behind the scenes, the White House told him to go see Dick Nixon.

At first the vice president held a series of talks, rather desultory and desponding. Then, as revealed here in this column, Nixon began pouring on the heat three weeks ago in an around the weekend series of talks.

Mr. Nixon really pressured the industry to settle. So much so that strike leader Dave McDonald in discussing the 1960 presidential race snapped in weary irritation: "The hell with those . . . (some Democratic hopefuls — VR), Nixon is the only man helping us."

As a result, a group of presidential advisers told Mr. Eisenhower that they believed there would be no new strike. But the strike leaders thought differently. In their private councils they predicted to themselves that there would be another strike — a short one about the first of February.

IT WOULD BE short because the President would swiftly dispatch to Congress a request for a tough compulsory arbitration law. No one wants this. At the same time senatorial friends of labor would again begin unsheathing congressional probes of "big business." That would stir things up.

All this was in the air when Gov. Dewey went down to Washington to talk politics with Dick Nixon.

Labor Secretary Mitchell walked the golf course with his old friends. They talked of the deadlock. Mitchell thought Dewey could help because the former presidential candidate now has the highest contacts in industrial and financial circles in Manhattan where it counts. What Mr. Dewey said only the handful of men know. Mitchell passed on a "no comment" when this reporter asked.

Silence was a drug on the market in this inner circle. But the belief is that Mr. Dewey did return to New York for discussions with top industry people which could lead to a settlement.

Byrd On Highway Aid

By Raymond Moley

Frequently Harry F. Byrd seems to stand out almost alone — a prudent man amid a field of profligates. For this he should be remembered years hence, when our descendents are still paying for the extravagances of others.

His consistent reason should be fresh when the outpourings of most of his colleagues are buried from remembrance in some dark cellar of the Library of Congress.

Most recently, the Virginia senator has made public his correspondence with Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller on the matter of our federal highway program. What he has to say about an "inexcusable mess" is lucid, concise, and trenchant.

AS CHAIRMAN of the Senate Finance Committee, Byrd must strive to see that the fiscal integrity of the federal government is preserved. In accomplishing this, he has sometimes to perform onerous tasks.

In the last session he found it necessary to steer a bill to passage increasing the federal gasoline tax and diverting general revenue to the Highway Trust Fund.

This was an expedient which he hopes will not be permanent, forced by developments arising from the 1958 interstate highway legislation with its 90-10 matching formula—the federal government putting up $90 for each $10 supplied by the states.

In his letter to the secretary, Sen. Byrd underlines the fact that last year: "Federal spenders abandoned the highway pay-as-we-go policy and gorged themselves on authorizations and allocation."

No one involved, he points out, can escape blame for what was done: "The administration approved it. Congress enacted it. States were amenable and let the contracts. Contractors bid on the proposals. They all knew they were bankrupting the fund."

ESSENTIALLY, the 1958 legislation put an irresistible lure in the hands of federal spenders.

The states have fallen to the temptation of acquiring large sums of federal money with relatively small state outlays. Systems were launched precipitously. And this has been done with little thought given to the devious evils of the temptation.

To date, the interstate program has shown many of the haphazard and wasteful characteristics of a crash program.

Rights-of-way acquisition costs exceed what they should be. Collusion and fraud have been made easier than under a program of meeting highway needs more gradually and efficiently with available funds.

There is also the presence of inordinately expensive roads, "dream designs without limit on expenses."

In brief, Byrd points out that the Clay Commission in 1954 estimated the interstate system should cost 23 billion dollars. "Now the program has been revised and the estimate raised to $39,900,000,000 . . . or more than 73 per cent in five years."

IN JANUARY 1961 the secretary of commerce must present a new estimate with a report on findings and recommendations to Congress.

Sen. Byrd's letter asks Secretary Mueller to deal frankly with the size and expedited schedule of the interstate system and the possibility of overtaxing the financial, technical and administrative facilities at the state, local, and federal levels.

"I hope strengthening financial control throughout all levels of government will not await your 1961 report," Byrd says. He hopes for Commerce Department co-operation with the Bureau of Public Roads and the General Accounting Office.

Byrd's observations deserve wide attention. They spring from 50 years of work for sound, progressive highways. He is largely credited with the development of Virginia's state highway system.

As governor he achieved successful financing and administration of roads before he went to the Senate in 1933. His experience and best thinking is that continuing, sound progress can be made in meeting our highway transportation requirements with a maximum of efficiency and economy and a minimum of nonessentials and profiteering on a "pay-as-we-go" basis.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Charles McNeill, a Republican, assumed his duties as burgess of Midland.

Joseph N. Finley, Chester contractor and lumber dealer, headed the Chester Kiwanis Club.

Mayor Wallace L. Fogo of Wellsville retired from the office after serving two consecutive terms.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Wendell H. Vodrey spoke on "Behind The Scenes" during a meeting of the Helen Gould Literary Club.

King Winter hurled the full force of his frigid might against the East Liverpool district, sending the mercury to zero and halting river traffic.

TEN YEARS AGO — Homer T. Amos ended 12 years of service as president of council.

City Solicitor John B. McDonald took the oath of office from Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans.

The South American Country of Colombia borders the Isthmus of Panama.

The largest bay in the world is the Bay of Bengal in the Indian Ocean.

A Risky Proposal

By David Lawrence

McDonald's Strike Strategy Could Backfire

Surely David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, couldn't have been serious when he hinted the other day that, instead of resuming the strike in the 11 big companies of the steel industry, he might decide to halt operations only in the plant of one or two companies at a time. If so, the nation would be given a dramatic demonstration of the monopoly power of big unionism. A single powerful union would be revealed as damaging one competitor, while benefiting another, by the discriminatory use of the strike weapon.

David Lawrence

THERE IS even a possibility that this kind of economic "restraint of trade" might come under existing anti-trust laws. For, while the right to strike is not itself restricted under current laws — except when an 80-day injunction is issued under the Taft-Hartley Act — there have been prosecutions in the past when labor unions deliberately have conspired with managements to hurt third parties.

It could be argued that, in this instance, the companies that are permitted by the union to keep their plants open would not be voluntarily cooperating with the strategy of the union. But, on the other hand, the adverse effect on free competition would be the same.

There never has been a test of the legality of a strike called in part of an industry after an industry-wide bargaining process has collapsed.

But the National Labor Relations Board has recognized as legal a lockout declared by employers who are parties to an association-bargaining formula. In certain instances, for example, where all the newspapers in a given city have agreed to lock out their employes if any single member of the association becomes the victim of a strike, the board was upheld the exercise of the lockout power of the employers.

IN THE CASE of the current steel controversy, there isn't any association bargaining as such, because each company is, theoretically at least, engaged in negotiating its own contract. And in the past separate contracts — largely covering the same terms, but with local differences — have been signed.

The 11 companies might endeavor to exercise their right of lockout and it could mean a protracted legal battle, so that, for all practical purposes, the net result would be to emphasize to the American people that a national union, financially supported by the nation's biggest labor union organization — the AFL-CIO—can pick on a single employer and bring to bear enormous economic pressure to get its way.

Congress would doubtless be impressed by this show of strength and would listen more attentively to appeals for a curb on industry - wide bargaining.

The spectacle of 11 companies which are normally competitors now being banded together to achieve an economic result in the field of wages and working conditions is not one that champions of the antitrust laws can possibly relish.

But this result has been forced on the 11 companies by the banding together of all their workmen in a single organization which wields power over all competitors and fixes the labor costs for all of them, thus indirectly fixing prices in a whole industry.

TO SELECT certain companies for a strike and to let others, temporarily at least, continue operations is not likely to be palatable to the workers themselves, especially those selected for the first period of enforced idleness.

This is bound to produce resentment among the workers. For years they have been accustomed to industry - wide bargaining in steel.

There are some industries, like automobiles, where the strategy of the national union is to pick on one company at a time and threaten a strike before putting direct pressure on a second or third company. The auto workers have been educated to these tactics, but the same is not true of the steel employes.

If Mr. McDonald carries on a partial strike in steel, the country will have an opportunity to see just how the economic power of a big union is exercised.

Congress would then be asked to stop all collusion between competitors in fixing wages or working rules and this would naturally be extended to cover the representatives of the employes of all competitors. Legislation would be proposed to require the employes of each company to operate independently of the union in any other company.

If adopted, this could certainly be construed to mean that uniform expiration dates of contracts would in themselves be evidence of a conspiracy between competing companies. Mr. McDonald will be taking a big risk if he follows through on his reported plan.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Some years ago, friends started to show me a special kind of postcard highly favored for sending back home from Florida. Scantily garbed bathing beauties were shown in a variety of poses. The interesting thing is this that in all this time the girls and the poses never have been changed. The same models are still being shown, and they must be grandmothers by this time.

In the furor over De Gaulle's policy of French muscle-flexing, my sympathies are with the Frenchman. I doubt, as I suspect he does, that La Belle France could fight her way out of a wet paper sack, but I am all for demanding the respect that is due a country which helped to write the textbook on international power politics.

One of the things I noted in the big football game between the Colts and the Giants was the resolute way the former lined up for each scrimmage, which may or may not have had something to do with the way the game turned out. In this era of televised football, when everybody is an expert, a spectator must be careful what he says, because a real expert might be listening.

I had the impression while helping to address Christmas cards this year that it won't be long until 50 per cent of the people most of us know will be living in Florida and California — perhaps even more than that, considering that the people most of us know move closer to retirement each year.

Much as I regret it, I am unable to find anything to celebrate about the passing of one calendar year and the beginning of another. I enjoy New Year's Eve parties only because I enjoy parties, not because I held any grudge against the old year or any high hopes for the new one.

Few people know that dandelions in this climate frequently bloom in December and January, that grass continues to be green and to grow during the winter, that some vines and shrubs never stop growing and that right now rhubarb, peonies and the buds on lilacs are twittering on the brink of bursting forth, though spring does not come officially until late in March and never actually arrives until late in April.

With misgivings about being misunderstood on this point, I believe it is impossible to have a resolution any more without falling into the hands of Communists, for the same reason it is impossible to have a picnic without flies and ants, and this must be taken into account from now on whenever political conditions become intolerable, as they clearly were in Cuba under Fulgencio Batista.

If anyone makes the mistake of asking me what the most interesting thing was in 1959 I will say unhesitatingly it was the collapse of the myth that television had risen above the mediocrity that plagues other forms of communication. Then came the moment of truth, when Charles Van Doren was revealed to the mortal — and the myth went phttt.

I am increasingly annoyed by singular verbs with composite nouns, this being one of those traps set for unwary people who, having been told something can be done under certain circumstances, take it upon themselves to do the same thing under all circumstances. Nine times out of 10 the singular verbs hooked up with composite nouns are wrong.

One of my favorite Christmas treats is a slab of fruit cake for breakfast, though I see no merit in fruit cake at any other time.

For the first time in my adult life, I went through a Christmas without receiving a new necktie, thereby strengthening my belief in the necessity of doing something revolutionary about the necktie problem, such as replacing the entire drab lot with one of those leather bow ties in favor with gas station attendants.

Nothing gives me the willies like the thought of being on a ship that had caught fire at sea, because my fear of fire then would be augmented by my even greater fear of drowning.

There are times in some labor negotiations when some of the hogwash reminds me strongly of the case of a householder arrested for the crime of resisting a burglar.

The steel industry's hard fight to repress further dollar-cheapening by appeasing unions with wages boosts that cannot be justified by productivity has stiffened the determination of other industries to call for showdowns on a dangerous practice.

It may be possible for wage earners to see clearly before the end of 1960 that buying power is the only dependable gauge of earning power — that devalued dollars are a fraud to take the value out of savings.

The important thing about inflation is to repress it — not to stop inflation, thereby inducing deflation, but to slow down inflation and keep it from running away.

No reason is in sight or in prospect to keep 1960 from being a good year, as years go. It certainly is not going to be the best year in history; that year never comes. But it is just as certainly not going to be the worst year in history; that one is not likely to come in 1960.

That is what lies behind the calmer kind of wishing for a Happy New Year within reason.

Happy New Year — within reason.

Still Selling America Short

Reports of year-end-retail business reflect widespread surprise that things were as good as they were, all things considered.

In the inverted terminology of businessmen, this means things were a whole lot better than they were expected to be. And in the inverted thinking that underlies the upside-down talk, this means businessmen are still underestimating the capacity of their fellow countrymen for liking new practices and new products.

This induces a certain wonder about the potentialities of the 1960s, which are being heralded as a decade of unprecedented prosperity.

The safest bet anyone could make at the outset of this fabulous decade looming ahead is that the prosperity which is upcoming will catch businessmen less than fully prepared for its potentialities.

THE BUSINESSMEN and the statisticians and seers who guide their thoughts play everything cagey and close to the vest. They would rather be caught with their inventories down than stuck with too much. Plans for expansion that scared them half to death when they looked the first time always prove on second sight to have been unreasonably conservative.

The public appetite for goods and services is grossly underestimated, and apparently the first fresh reminder in that direction is going to come from Detroit, where the demand for trimmer, more manageable automobiles seems to have taken marketing experts by surprise.

Housing plans, likewise, will turn out to have been made without accurately calculating the potentialities of an expanding population total. Even the superhighways that are being eyed sourly by skeptics who remember horses and buggies are going to be totally inadequate by 1969, unless provisions for doubling their capacity were built into the right of ways.

No special insight is needed to make such predictions.

THERE IS NO trick in knowing in advance that U.S. capacity for economic growth in the next 10 years will pop the eyes of close figurers.

The close figurers always have been wrong, because they always have tried so hard to stay on the safe side of everything that they always erred in the direction of caution. Otherwise, they would have been called "reckless," a horrible word.

There never has been a decade in the past when this was not so, beginning with the first settlements in the early days. The potentialities of the United States never have been fully comprehended and never have been reasonably forecast, lest they might sound silly.

The potentialities of the '60s will be no exception.

CARDS FOR NEW YEAR

Happy New Year!
Let's suppose it
Comes despite those
Who oppose it.
Peaceful year
With joy to boot.
(And accept
No substitute.)
Love and kisses. . .
Far less dept . . .
Lower taxes . . .
(WANNA BET?)
World all tranquil,
Fear knocked flat;
No big crisis . . . .
(IN YOUR HAT!)

RUSSIA HAS AGREED to do something about settling their lend-lease debt to the United States. These three agreements will first have to be made by the Soviet: (1) That the U.S. played any part in the war; (2) that, if so, American forces were of any help in saving Russia's neck; (3) that "gratitude," "debt" and "pledge," are not dirty words. Russia got 11 billion in supplies alone from Uncle Sam, but may still claim two sailors' uniforms, and a toy pistol.

A BIG HOUSING DEVELOPMENT is planned for the old Polo Grounds in New York. The tenant who has a room or apartment directly over the home plate will be disturbed by cries of "You're out."

A bedroom where John McGraw once stood will see the ghostly figure of the most fiery manager in history and hear plenty of colorful language.

The spirits of some of the greatest figures in baseball will be heard, house by house, we think.

How about a good name for the development? Mathewson Manors, Hassle Heights, Swat Acres, or Casa McGraw?

It was at the Polo Grounds that the original Harry Stevens sold the first all-hot and went on to expand into one of the biggest catering enterprises on earth. Maybe somebody will tab the housing site: Hot Dogpatch.

LOOKING BACK over the Yuletide, the highlights on the airwaves seem to us to have been Marian Anderson in singing, "He Holds the Whole World in His Hands," and (believe it or not) the simple beauty of a 16-year-Old Movie, "Going My Way," on Christmas afternoon. . . . Would you ever suspect that the folks you see in paper hats, tooting horns and developing a case of super hiccups were the same ones who a week back were deep in reverence for the Holy Night, peace on earth, and the love of little children?

Heavyweight championship fight group includes former assistant attorney general, four lawyers, an insurance man, a travel agent, and Roy Cohn, a man who lost a close decision to the U.S. Army in the McCarthy hearings. It has everybody except an insecticide expert, a magician, a tough Marine sergeant, and an FBI agent, all of which it needs most in the present state of the fight game.

Bill Rosensohn, the boy promotor, sold out his rights to keep in hot water. Vincent Velella disposed of his rights to neglect his law business for the perils of promotion. To your corners, lawyers, businessmen, brokers, investigatory officials and tourist agencies. . . and come out fighting!

NEW HAMPSHIRE birthplace of Sam Foss, author of "House By the Side of Road" is being sold for taxes. Poem today would have to be revised to read:

Let me live in a house by the side
of the road
If a thruway isn't due;
There are lights on the front, the side
and rear,
But the autos still crash through.
There are signs all over the roadside
home
And blinker lights bright red,
But a beach car's in the living room
And a big truck is under the bed.
A bulldozer soon may be scooping
me up
In rubble up to my ears—
So sell the old shack for what you can get

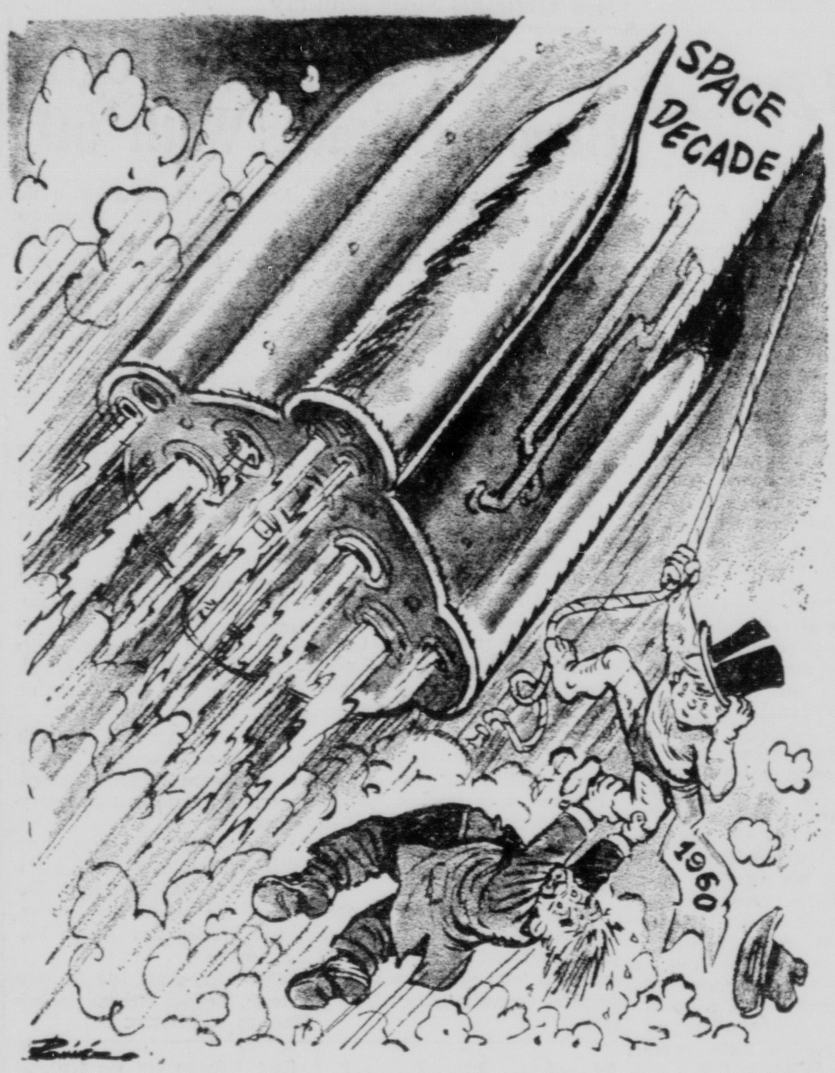
Off The Launching Pad!



Dewey Seen Helping Bid For Steel Peace

By Victor Riesel

History's youngest elder statesman, Thomas Edmund Dewey, is believed to be quite quietly negotiating the end of the steel crisis.

Victor Riesel

There is nothing surprising about Mr. Dewey's peacemaking role. He long has been more a shadow president than an ex-governor. The term "shadow" is invoked here in the British political jargon. But there has been nothing shadowy about his influence on the cabinet of the President of the U. S. The late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, was Dewey's adviser on international affairs. White House press secretary Jim Hagerty was Dewey's executive assistant.

IT WAS Tom Dewey who reached into California to make a youthful senator named Richard Nixon the vice president of the U. S.

It was Tom Dewey who quickly saw the blend of personality and ability in a young lawyer, William Rogers, and got him the post of chief counsel of the Senate Committee on Government Operations when the Republicans controlled Congress away back there.

At the time Rogers found a small apartment in an outlying Washington residential area. His neighbor turned out to be Sen. Nixon. They walked, they golfed, they socialized, they became inseparable friends. Today Rogers is, of course, attorney general of the U. S.

It was Tom Dewey who sent along candidate Eisenhower's earliest and latest labor advisers. Out of the Dewey camp in '52 came President Eisenhower's labor policy. Out of the Dewey camp came the name of the first Eisenhower secretary of labor — the late Martin Durkin, then the Plumbers Union chief. Out of the Dewey camp came the name of Durkin's successor, James Mitchell.

THUS IT WAS natural that Bill Rogers, Jim Mitchell, Dick Nixon and others kept Tom Dewey, the nation's least publicized but most influential Republican leader, well informed. The ex-New York governor knew what few others did — that when Labor Secretary Mitchell tried to get President Eisenhower really to pressure the steel industry behind the scenes, the White House told him to go see Dick Nixon.

At first the vice president held a series of talks, rather desultory and desponding. Then, as revealed here in this column, Nixon began pouring on the heat three weeks ago in an around the weekend series of talks.

Mr. Nixon really pressured the industry to settle. So much so that strike leader Dave McDonald in discussing the 1960 presidential race snapped in weary irritation: "The hell with those . . . (some Democratic hopefuls — VR), Nixon is the only man helping us."

As a result, a group of presidential advisers told Mr. Eisenhower that they believed there would be no new strike. But the strike leaders thought differently. In their private councils they predicted to themselves that there would be another strike — a short one about the first of February.

IT WOULD BE short because the President would swiftly dispatch to Congress a request for a tough compulsory arbitration law. No one wants this. At the same time senatorial friends of labor would again begin unsheathing congressional probes of "big business." That would stir things up.

All this was in the air when Gov. Dewey went down to Washington to talk politics with Dick Nixon.

Labor Secretary Mitchell walked the golf course with his old friends. They talked of the deadlock. Mitchell thought Dewey could help because the former presidential candidate now has the highest contacts in industrial and financial circles in Manhattan where it counts. What Mr. Dewey said only the handful of men know. Mitchell passed on a "no comment" when this reporter asked.

Silence was a drug on the market in this inner circle. But the belief is that Mr. Dewey did return to New York for discussions with top industry people which could lead to a settlement.

Byrd On Highway Aid

By Raymond Moley

Frequently Harry F. Byrd seems to stand out almost alone — a prudent man amid a field of profligates. For this he should be remembered years hence, when our descendents are still paying for the extravagances of others.

His consistent reason should be fresh when the outpourings of most of his colleagues are buried from remembrance in some dark cellar of the Library of Congress.

Most recently, the Virginia senator has made public his correspondence with Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller on the matter of our federal highway program. What he has to say about an "inexcusable mess" is lucid, concise, and trenchant.

AS CHAIRMAN of the Senate Finance Committee, Byrd must strive to see that the fiscal integrity of the federal government is preserved. In accomplishing this, he has sometimes to perform onerous tasks.

In the last session he found it necessary to steer a bill to passage increasing the federal gasoline tax and diverting general revenue to the Highway Trust Fund.

This was an expedient which he hopes will not be permanent, forced by developments arising from the 1958 interstate highway legislation with its 90-10 matching formula—the federal government putting up $90 for each $10 supplied by the states.

In his letter to the secretary, Sen. Byrd underlines the fact that last year: "Federal spenders abandoned the highway pay-as-we-go policy and gorged themselves on authorizations and allocation."

No one involved, he points out, can escape blame for what was done: "The administration approved it. Congress enacted it. States were amenable and let the contracts. Contractors bid on the proposals. They all knew they were bankrupting the fund."

ESSENTIALLY, the 1958 legislation put an irresistible lure in the hands of federal spenders.

The states have fallen to the temptation of acquiring large sums of federal money with relatively small state outlays. Systems were launched precipitously. And this has been done with little thought given to the devious evils of the temptation.

To date, the interstate program has shown many of the haphazard and wasteful characteristics of a crash program.

Rights-of-way acquisition costs exceed what they should be. Collusion and fraud have been made easier than under a program of meeting highway needs more gradually and efficiently with available funds.

There is also the presence of inordinately expensive roads, "dream designs without limit on expenses."

In brief, Byrd points out that the Clay Commission in 1954 estimated the interstate system should cost 23 billion dollars. "Now the program has been revised and the estimate raised to $39,900,000,000 . . . or more than 73 per cent in five years."

IN JANUARY 1961 the secretary of commerce must present a new estimate with a report on findings and recommendations to Congress.

Sen. Byrd's letter asks Secretary Mueller to deal frankly with the size and expedited schedule of the interstate system and the possibility of overtaxing the financial, technical and administrative facilities at the state, local, and federal levels.

"I hope strengthening financial control throughout all levels of government will not await your 1961 report," Byrd says. He hopes for Commerce Department co-operation with the Bureau of Public Roads and the General Accounting Office.

Byrd's observations deserve wide attention. They spring from 50 years of work for sound, progressive highways. He is largely credited with the development of Virginia's state highway system.

As governor he achieved successful financing and administration of roads before he went to the Senate in 1933. His experience and best thinking is that continuing, sound progress can be made in meeting our highway transportation requirements with a maximum of efficiency and economy and a minimum of nonessentials and profiteering on a "pay-as-we-go" basis.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Charles McNeill, a Republican, assumed his duties as burgess of Midland.

Joseph N. Finley, Chester contractor and lumber dealer, headed the Chester Kiwanis Club.

Mayor Wallace L. Fogo of Wellsville retired from the office after serving two consecutive terms.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mrs. Wendell H. Vodrey spoke on "Behind The Scenes" during a meeting of the Helen Gould Literary Club.

King Winter hurled the full force of his frigid might against the East Liverpool district, sending the mercury to zero and halting river traffic.

TEN YEARS AGO — Homer T. Amos ended 12 years of service as president of council.

City Solicitor John B. McDonald took the oath of office from Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans.

A Risky Proposal

By David Lawrence

McDonald's Strike Strategy Could Backfire

Surely David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, couldn't have been serious when he hinted the other day that, instead of resuming the strike in the 11 big companies of the steel industry, he might decide to halt operations only in the plant of one or two companies at a time. If so, the nation would be given a dramatic demonstration of the monopoly power of big unionism. A single powerful union would be revealed as damaging one competitor, while benefiting another, by the discriminatory use of the strike weapon.

David Lawrence

THERE IS even a possibility that this kind of economic "restraint of trade" might come under existing anti-trust laws. For, while the right to strike is not itself restricted under current laws — except when an 80-day injunction is issued under the Taft-Hartley Act — there have been prosecutions in the past when labor unions deliberately have conspired with managements to hurt third parties.

It could be argued that, in this instance, the companies that are permitted by the union to keep their plants open would not be voluntarily cooperating with the strategy of the union. But, on the other hand, the adverse effect on free competition would be the same.

There never has been a test of the legality of a strike called in part of an industry after an industry-wide bargaining process has collapsed.

But the National Labor Relations Board has recognized as legal a lockout declared by employers who are parties to an association-bargaining formula. In certain instances, for example, where all the newspapers in a given city have agreed to lock out their employes if any single member of the association becomes the victim of a strike, the board was upheld the exercise of the lockout power of the employers.

IN THE CASE of the current steel controversy, there isn't any association bargaining as such, because each company is, theoretically at least, engaged in negotiating its own contract. And in the past separate contracts — largely covering the same terms, but with local differences — have been signed.

The 11 companies might endeavor to exercise their right of lockout and it could mean a protracted legal battle, so that, for all practical purposes, the net result would be to emphasize to the American people that a national union, financially supported by the nation's biggest labor union organization — the AFL-CIO—can pick on a single employer and bring to bear enormous economic pressure to get its way.

Congress would doubtless be impressed by this show of strength and would listen more attentively to appeals for a curb on industry - wide bargaining.

The spectacle of 11 companies which are normally competitors now being banded together to achieve an economic result in the field of wages and working conditions is not one that champions of the antitrust laws can possibly relish.

But this result has been forced on the 11 companies by the banding together of all their workmen in a single organization which wields power over all competitors and fixes the labor costs for all of them, thus indirectly fixing prices in a whole industry.

TO SELECT certain companies for a strike and to let others, temporarily at least, continue operations is not likely to be palatable to the workers themselves, especially those selected for the first period of enforced idleness.

This is bound to produce resentment among the workers. For years they have been accustomed to industry - wide bargaining in steel.

There are some industries, like automobiles, where the strategy of the national union is to pick on one company at a time and threaten a strike before putting direct pressure on a second or third company. The auto workers have been educated to these tactics, but the same is not true of the steel employes.

If Mr. McDonald carries on a partial strike in steel, the country will have an opportunity to see just how the economic power of a big union is exercised.

Congress would then be asked to stop all collusion between competitors in fixing wages or working rules and this would naturally be extended to cover the representatives of the employes of all competitors. Legislation would be proposed to require the employes of each company to operate independently of the union in any other company.

If adopted, this could certainly be construed to mean that uniform expiration dates of contracts would in themselves be evidence of a conspiracy between competing companies. Mr. McDonald will be taking a big risk if he follows through on his reported plan.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Some years ago, friends started to show me a special kind of postcard highly favored for sending back home from Florida. Scantily garbed bathing beauties were shown in a variety of poses. The interesting thing is this that in all this time the girls and the poses never have been changed. The same models are still being shown, and they must be grandmothers by this time.

In the furor over De Gaulle's policy of French muscle-flexing, my sympathies are with the Frenchman. I doubt, as I suspect he does, that La Belle France could fight her way out of a wet paper sack, but I am all for demanding the respect that is due a country which helped to write the textbook on international power politics.

One of the things I noted in the big football game between the Colts and the Giants was the resolute way the former lined up for each scrimmage, which may or may not have had something to do with the way the game turned out. In this era of televised football, when everybody is an expert, a spectator must be careful what he says, because a real expert might be listening.

I had the impression while helping to address Christmas cards this year that it won't be long until 50 per cent of the people most of us know will be living in Florida and California — perhaps even more than that, considering that the people most of us know move closer to retirement each year.

Much as I regret it, I am unable to find anything to celebrate about the passing of one calendar year and the beginning of another. I enjoy New Year's Eve parties only because I enjoy parties, not because I held any grudge against the old year or any high hopes for the new one.

Few people know that dandelions in this climate frequently bloom in December and January, that grass continues to be green and to grow during the winter, that some vines and shrubs never stop growing and that right now rhubarb, peonies and the buds on lilacs are twittering on the brink of bursting forth, though spring does not come officially until late in March and never actually arrives until late in April.

With misgivings about being misunderstood on this point, I believe it is impossible to have a resolution any more without falling into the hands of Communists, for the same reason it is impossible to have a picnic without flies and ants, and this must be taken into account from now on whenever political conditions become intolerable, as they clearly were in Cuba under Fulgencio Batista.

If anyone makes the mistake of asking me what the most interesting thing was in 1959 I will say unhesitatingly it was the collapse of the myth that television had risen above the mediocrity that plagues other forms of communication. Then came the moment of truth, when Charles Van Doren was revealed to the mortal — and the myth went phttt.

I am increasingly annoyed by singular verbs with composite nouns, this being one of those traps set for unwary people who, having been told something can be done under certain circumstances, take it upon themselves to do the same thing under all circumstances. Nine times out of 10 the singular verbs hooked up with composite nouns are wrong.

One of my favorite Christmas treats is a slab of fruit cake for breakfast, though I see no merit in fruit cake at any other time.

For the first time in my adult life, I went through a Christmas without receiving a new necktie, thereby strengthening my belief in the necessity of doing something revolutionary about the necktie problem, such as replacing the entire drab lot with one of those leather bow ties in favor with gas station attendants.

Nothing gives me the willies like the thought of being on a ship that had caught fire at sea, because my fear of fire then would be augmented by my even greater fear of drowning.

There are times in some labor negotiations when some of the hogwash reminds me strongly of the case of a householder arrested for the crime of resisting a burglar.

Court Pays Less In City Revenues

Municipal Court turned over $52,501 to the city treasury in 1959, a drop of $10,852 from the $63,353 reported in 1958, it was shown Thursday in the final annual report of Clerk Harold L. Powell.

The sharp decline in personal income that resulted from the steel strike in the last half of the year was mainly responsible for the drop in court revenue, Powell commented.

THE REVENUE turned over to the city last year was comprised of $46,522 in fines, costs and forfeitures from city criminal actions and $5,979 in costs from civil cases. In 1958, the city's share of the revenue was comprised of $56,692 in criminal penalties and $6,671 in civil costs.

Ironically, the overall amount of case handled by the court was higher in 1959 than in 1958. The total handled in 1959 was $106,338 — $46,788 in the civil branch and $59,550 in the criminal branch.

THE TOTAL handled in 1958 was $1,302 less. It was $105,036, made up of $34,134 in the civil branch and $70,902 in the criminal branch.

The totals include funds collected on trusteeships and judgments and turned over to creditors, garnishee fees and refunded bonds in criminal cases.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $2,558 to the county treasury from state cases; $2,238 to the state treasury and $900 to the Law Library Association.

Fines and costs, by months, in city criminal cases were: January, $3,225; February, $3,326; March, $6,028; April, $3,871; May, $4,698; June, $5,705; July, $4,258; August, $3,886; September, $3,896; October, $2,390; November, $2,395, and December, $2,839.

CIVIL COSTS by months were: January, $624; February, $535; March, $771; April, $808; May, $645; June, $631; July, $562; August, $254; September, $365; October, $307; November, $304, and December, $169.

The court disposed of 2,253 cases last year, a decline of 239 from the 2,492 disposed of in 1958.

A breakdown on cases in 1959 showed: 681 civil cases filed, 789 disposed of and 54 left pending; 1,084 city criminal cases filed, 1,069 disposed of and 27 left pending, and 488 state criminal cases filed, 469 disposed of and 82 left pending.

City, Midland Boy Suffer Fall Injury

A city boy and a Midland youngster, hurt in falls at home, were treated at City Hospital Thursday evening, along with a Chester youth injured playing basketball.

Charles Cronin, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cronin, 1050 St. Clair Ave., suffered a laceration above the left eye when he fell against a chair while running.

Dennis Kilcoyne, 2, of Hillcrest Manor, Midland, was treated for a cut of the lower lip after he fell against a coffee table at home.

Blaine Pinney, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Pinney of Indiana Ave., Chester, received an injury of the right ankle while playing basketball at Chester High School.

Car Damaged In Crash With Rig On Route 518

LISBON — A 1958 sedan driven by James L. Thompson, 55, of Kensington R. D. 1 was damaged in a collision with a truck and trailer on Route 518 between West Point and Gavers Thursday afternoon at 2:10.

The State Highway Patrol said the truck, driven by Louis Rouse, 31, of Rushville, Ind., came around a curve left of center and Thompson's car hit the rear wheels of the truck. Rouse was charged with driving left of center.

Hancock Youth Hurt When Struck By Car

William Kiner, 18, of Frankfort Rd., New Cumberland, was treated at City Hospital Thursday about 3:30 p. m. after he was struck by a car on Route 68 at Smiths Ferry.

He suffered bruises and abrasions of the left chest and both lower legs.

Bernard Zlatovich, Ohio Township constable, said Kiner apparently got out of a car and walked behind it to cross the road. He walked into the path of a car driven by William H. Greenwood of Laura Ave., the constable said.

Generous Thieves

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A store detective said the three women were shoplifting. The women readily told police that the detective was right but, they said, they were really going to send the loot to others as gifts. Police were unimpressed by the women's generosity, and charged them with theft.

Crank Calls In 'Sniper Case' Bring Fears Of A Psychopath

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Lois Clark, whose husband was killed by a Christmas eve sniper, said Thursday she is receiving crank telephone calls and expressed fear a psychopath may be "running loose."

The attractive widow said in an interview at her home in nearby Mentor that the calls started in the early spring.

"The phone rings and there is silence on the other end," the 30-year-old former model said. "Then the person hangs up. I had such a call on the day of the funeral (Monday), and another Tuesday while the prosecutor was here."

Charles R. Clark, 35, a Boy Scout leader and Sunday school superintendent who worked for an electrical firm, was killed when hit in the temple by a bullet which crashed through a kitchen window at his home.

Mrs. Clark was cleared of any complicity in his death by a polygraph test Wednesday.

A similar test earlier showed that Floyd E. Hargrove was lying when he admitted shooting Clark. Sheriff William B. Evans said Mrs. Clark admitted having had an illicit love affair with Hargrove, who said he "confessed" the shooting to spare her from further investigation of her past.

In reply to a reporter's question, Mrs. Clark said she thought the bullet that killed her husband might possibly have been meant for her.

"There may be a psychopath of some kind running loose, who might shoot anybody," she added.

She said she was afraid to stay in the house until "whoever responsible is caught" and that she wanted Clark's parents to remain with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Clark of Rochester, N. Y., parents of the slaying victim, stood by during the interview.

"We won't leave her alone," said the father-in-law. "We will stay here as long as we are needed."

Edward R. Ostrander, Lake County prosecutor, said the killing was no accident. He said tests conducted by Emory Galloway, superintendent of the mobile crime laboratory of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification, established that the shot was fired from the crotch of a tree 44 feet behind the Clark home.

The prosecutor said he would consult with Coroner Thomas W. McBurney about the possibility of holding an inquest into the slaying.

"It would be an advantage to put all the witnesses under oath and get them on record," he said.

1959 Most Successful Year In History Of Ohio Turnpike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The year ending Thursday was the most successful in the history of the Ohio Turnpike with respect to traffic, safety and revenue, James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the turnpike commission, said in a year-end statement.

"Each month of the year saw greater use of the Ohio Turnpike with consequent greater income for the commission than in the corresponding months of any previous year since the first portion of the turnpike was opened to traffic on Dec. 1, 1954," the chairman said.

Toll revenue from commercial and passenger vehicles would have been even greater had it not been for the 116-day steel strike "which inevitably affected both travel and transportation," he added.

Shocknessy said the 12,030,000 automobiles, trucks and buses which used the turnpike in 1959 exceeded by 800,000, or seven per cent, the volume of traffic during the best preceding year.

"The commission's gross revenue in 1959 was approximately $23,300,000, which was $2,475,000, or 12 per cent, higher than the total receipts of any previous year," Shocknessy said. "As a consequence of this favorable financial experience the sum credited to the reserve account of the sinking fund stood at $9,432,396 at the close of 1959, a substantial advance from the balance of $2,788,117 in that fund at the beginning of the year."

Turnpike police said the fatal accident rate on the 241-mile toll road this year was 1.76 per 100 million miles traveled, compared with the previous low of 1.79 in 1956. The fatal accident rate on all other highways in Ohio was 5.3 per 100 million miles, police said. Sixteen persons were killed in a similar number of accidents on the turnpike this year.

Shocknessy said an increase in the strength of the police detachment assigned to the turnpike by the Ohio Turnpike Patrol and closer surveillance of speed were factors in the reduction of the accident rate on the toll road.

2 Men Plead Guilty To Theft, Wounding

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two men who shot and wounded a policeman have pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and shooting with intent to wound.

John Thomas Deck, 29, of Ottawa Lake, Mich., and James Edward Dressel, 25, of Temperance, Mich., were charged in the shooting Nov. 21 of Patrolman Robert J. Lovett. Lovett and another patrolman surprised the pair during a burglary at Swift & Co.

Lovett, shot in the neck, still has not returned to duty.

Sentencing of the men has been pending a report from the probation department.

Motorist Heads West, But Without A Motor

KNOX, Ind. (AP) — State Trooper Delvie Masterson found a puzzled wrecker truck driver standing along U. S. 30 with a car he pushed for a mile in an attempt to help the driver start it.

The motorist blithely admitted his 1947 model didn't even have an engine. He had been shoved by various cars, trucks and wreckers all the way from Cleveland and hoped to reach Joliet, Ill., the same way.

Weather

scribed the wintry blow as one of the worst ever to hit that region.

Two to four inches of new snow covered most of Utah and parts of Idaho. Axle-deep snow slowed travel on roads south of Salt Lake City.

Brisk northerly winds pushed colder air into the northern and central Plains. The frigid air was expected to stab deep into the far Southwest on New Year's Day.

The entire region from the mountains of the West Coast States into the Plateau and Rocky Mountain region was expected to feel the effects of the storm.

Generally pleasant but cool weather was the rule over the eastern half of the nation, except for scattered light snow and snow flurries in the Great Lakes region and over the central and northern Appalachians.

Mostly fair weather was on tap for most of the eastern third of the nation on New Year's Day, except for possible snow flurries from northwestern Pennsylvania into western New York.

Occasional rain was forecast from the Middle and Lower Mississippi Valley into the southern plains. Snow and snow flurries were in prospect from the Upper Mississippi Valley and northern and central Plains.

She Arranges Election But Can't Vote Herself

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — After spending most of a year setting up the machinery for primary and general elections and registration, Mrs. Cecile E. Cole, deputy election commissioner, learned she couldn't vote herself.

She moved and did not have 30 days residence at the new address.

Ohio Farmer Faces Arraignment On Taxes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—An Allen County farmer will be arraigned in U.S. District Court here Jan. 8 on four counts of income tax evasion.

Stanley Bixel, 55, was indicted secretly by a federal grand jury Dec. 9. Announcement of the indictment was withheld until after Christmas, Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard M. Colasurd said.

Bixel, owner of a 300-acre farm near Bluffton, declared his income at $7,000 and paid $60 income tax during the years 1953 to 1956, Colasurd said.

The government claims Bixel's income during the four years was owed on his earnings.

10,030 Voters Qualified For 1960 Balloting

East Liverpool is starting 1960 with 10,030 registered voters after the names of 691 were dropped in the County Election Board's annual yearend check.

The registration is down 342 from the 10,372 on the rolls Jan. 1, 1959. The total is down 691 from the 10,721 who were qualified for the Nov. 2 general election.

State law requires the Election Board to check each name on its registration list at the end of every year, eliminating those who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years or kept their record active by transferring — giving notice of change of address.

Thanks to a new state law, reregistration will be easier than ever before for those who have their names dropped from the list.

Postcard notices will be mailed Saturday to each of the newly-disqualified voters. But instead of visiting the Election Board's office to register again, they need merely fill in and return an "application for reinstatement of registration" which forms half of the double-fold postcard notice.

However, the cards must be returned within 30 days if the voter wishes to take advantage of the "re-register by mail" feature of the new law, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out.

The return card carries postage and the board's address on its face, so it will require little effort for the voters to qualify again, O'Hanlon pointed out. The new law will allow a saving in time for electors and should prove a money-saving move for Election Boards throughout the state, he added.

When an application for reinstatement is received through the mail, the board will compare the voter's signature with the name on the canceled registration card, O'Hanlon explained. If the signature on the reinstatement card appears valid, the registration will be renewed.

In the past, the Election Board mailed postcard notices to the disqualified electors, but the law required them to visit the office in person to register again.

O'Hanlon pointed out the present registration is down 2,612 from the all-time high of 12,642 recorded for the November 1940 presidential election.

The drop in voter registration since World War II can be attributed mainly to migration to new residential districts in Liverpool and St. Clair Townships on the fringes of the city where voter registration is not required, he said.

In the new registration figures, the Second Ward retains its position as the city's largest, with 3,246 electors. The Fourth Ward has 2,627; the Third Ward has 1,841 and the First Ward has 2,316.

On Jan. 1, 1959, the Second Ward had 3,352, the Fourth Ward had 2,779, the First, 2,377 and the Third, 1884.

Here's a breakdown by precincts showing the number of registrations canceled in each case, along with the new voter totals:

First Ward: A, 22 dropped and 477 remaining; B, 27 and 393; C, 24 and 228; D, 23 and 418; E, 15 and 333; F, 10 and 213; and G, 13 and 254.

Second Ward: A, 25 and 369; B, 24 and 435; C, 32 and 347; D, 23 and 334; E, 21 and 421; F, 27 and 233; G, 22 and 242; H, 16 and 300; I, 14 and 287; and J, 13 and 278.

Third Ward: A, 21 and 24; B, 27 and 309. C, 18 and 330; D, 20 and 369; E, 9 and 214; F, 7 and 148, and G, 22 and 247.

Fourth Ward: A, 19 and 336; B, 45 and 354; C, 21 and 237; D, 17 and 259; E, 23 and 349; F, 63 and 443; G, 16 and 291, and H, 12 and 358.

Gas Concern Lists Project

In a yearend report, the Peoples Gas Co. of Pittsburgh said it plans in 1960 to spend $71,000 for laying of transmission line and installation of measuring equipment to accomodate new customers in Midland.

In the 1959-1960 improvement program, $253,000 is listed for the Midland area and $111,000 for the Burgettstown area.

The company serves 260,000 customers in 13 Western Pennsylvania counties.

An estimated 91 billion cubic feet of gas was sold during 1959 and the amount is expected to increase to close to 100 billion cubic feet in 1960, the company said.

It plans to carry over into its 75th year a $31,379,400 expansion and general improvement program. The 2-year distribution expenditure amounts to over $11 million.

The company reported nearly 3,700 new domestic gas heating customers added in 1959 and some 5,000 expected in 1960.

Under a production program, the company drilled 7 deep wells and 23 shallow wells which added 62 million cubic feet during 1959. Some 15 shallow and 11 deep wells are planned for 1960.

The company laid 244 miles of pipe line and plans 240 miles for 1960.

Cost To Police Ohio Pike Passes $1 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The cost of policing Northern Ohio's 241-mile toll turnpike, now four years old, has passed the million dollar mark, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported Thursday.

Actual cost during the period ending last June 30 was $1,195,821, figures showed. The Turnpike Commission paid the money directly to the highway department for policing by 60 uniformed officers and five radio operators.

Columbus Mayor Fills Post As One Last Official Act

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wednesday, in one of his last official acts before leaving office, Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner appointed the Rev. Mr. Russell M. Jones to fill a vacancy on city council.

Thursday Judge Kenneth L. Sater of Franklin County Common Pleas Court granted a temporary injunction which prevents the new councilman from exercising any of the powers and duties of the office.

The request for an injunction was filed by City Attorney Russell Leach, who contends the outgoing mayor had no power or authority to interfere with the city council membership.

A hearing has been set for Jan. 8. The Rev. Mr. Jones, a Negro, was an unsuccessful candidate for council in November. He is a Baptist and is the chaplain of the county tuberculosis hospital. Both he and Sensenbrenner are Democrats.

City council has a 3-3 political tie at the moment. Sensenbrenner was defeated for re-election by Republican Ralston Westlake.

Rep. McCulloch Named Head Of GOP Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) Thursday designated Rep. William M. McCulloch (R-Ohio) as acting chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Simpson, a patient at Bethesda Naval Hospital where he underwent brain surgery Dec. 14, said McCulloch will act in his place as chairman "until I shall declare the grant of powers herein made rescinded."

10,030 Voters Qualified For 1960 Balloting

East Liverpool is starting 1960 with 10,030 registered voters after the names of 691 were dropped in the County Election Board's annual yearend check.

The registration is down 342 from the 10,372 on the rolls Jan. 1, 1959. The total is down 691 from the 10,721 who were qualified for the Nov. 2 general election.

State law requires the Election Board to check each name on its registration list at the end of every year, eliminating those who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years or kept their record active by transferring — giving notice of change of address.

Thanks to a new state law, re-registration will be easier than ever before for those who have their names dropped from the list.

Postcard notices will be mailed Saturday to each of the newly-disqualified voters. But instead of visiting the Election Board's office to register again, they need merely fill in and return an "application for reinstatement of registration" which forms half of the double-fold postcard notice.

However, the cards must be returned within 30 days if the voter wishes to take advantage of the "re-register by mail" feature of the new law, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out.

The return card carries postage and the board's address on its face, so it will require little effort for the voters to qualify again, O'Hanlon pointed out. The new law will allow a saving in time for electors and should prove a money-saving move for Election Boards throughout the state, he added.

When an application for reinstatement is received through the mail, the board will compare the voter's signature with the name on the canceled registration card, O'Hanlon explained. If the signature on the reinstatement card appears valid, the registration will be renewed.

In the past, the Election Board mailed postcard notices to the disqualified electors, but the law required them to visit the office in person to register again.

O'Hanlon pointed out the present registration is down 2,612 from the all-time high of 12,642 recorded for the November 1940 presidential election.

The drop in voter registration since World War II can be attributed mainly to migration to new residential districts in Liverpool and St. Clair Townships on the fringes of the city where voter registration is not required, he said.

In the new registration figures, the Second Ward retains its position as the city's largest, with 3,246 electors. The Fourth Ward has 2,627; the Third Ward has 1,841 and the First Ward has 2,316.

On Jan. 1, 1959, the Second Ward had 3,352, the Fourth Ward had 2,779, the First, 2,377 and the Third, 1884.

Here's a breakdown by precincts showing the number of registrations canceled in each case, along with the new voter totals:

First Ward: A, 22 dropped and 477 remaining; B, 27 and 393; C, 24 and 228; D, 23 and 418; E, 15 and 333; F, 10 and 213; and G, 13 and 254.

Second Ward: A, 25 and 369; B, 24 and 435; C, 32 and 347; D, 23 and 334; E, 21 and 421; F, 27 and 233; G, 22 and 242; H, 16 and 300; I, 14 and 287; and J, 13 and 278.

Third Ward: A, 21 and 24; B, 27 and 309. C, 18 and 330; D, 20 and 369; E, 9 and 214; F, 7 and 148, and G, 22 and 247.

Fourth Ward: A, 19 and 336; B, 45 and 354; C, 21 and 237; D, 17 and 259; E, 23 and 349; F, 63 and 443; G, 16 and 291, and H, 12 and 358.

Gas Concern Lists Project

In a yearend report, the Peoples Gas Co. of Pittsburgh said it plans in 1960 to spend $71,000 for laying of transmission line and installation of measuring equipment to accomodate new customers in Midland.

In the 1959-1960 improvement program, $253,000 is listed for the Midland area and $111,000 for the Burgettstown area.

The company serves 260,000 customers in 13 Western Pennsylvania counties.

An estimated 91 billion cubic feet of gas was sold during 1959 and the amount is expected to increase to close to 100 billion cubic feet in 1960, the company said.

It plans to carry over into its 75th year a $31,379,400 expansion and general improvement program. The 2-year distribution expenditure amounts to over $11 million.

The company reported nearly 3,700 new domestic gas heating customers added in 1959 and some 5,000 expected in 1960.

Under a production program, the company drilled 7 deep wells and 23 shallow wells which added 62 million cubic feet during 1959. Some 15 shallow and 11 deep wells are planned for 1960.

The company laid 244 miles of pipe line and plans 240 miles for 1960.

Cost To Police Ohio Pike Passes $1 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The cost of policing Northern Ohio's 241-mile toll turnpike, now four years old, has passed the million dollar mark, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported Thursday.

Actual cost during the period ending last June 30 was $1,195,821, figures showed. The Turnpike Commission paid the money directly to the highway department for policing by 60 uniformed officers and five radio operators.

Columbus Mayor Fills Post As One Last Official Act

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wednesday, in one of his last official acts before leaving office, Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner appointed the Rev. Mr. Russell M. Jones to fill a vacancy on city council.

Thursday Judge Kenneth L. Sater of Franklin County Common Pleas Court granted a temporary injunction which prevents the new councilman from exercising any of the powers and duties of the office.

The request for an injunction was filed by City Attorney Russell Leach, who contends the outgoing mayor had no power or authority to interfere with the city council membership.

A hearing has been set for Jan.8. The Rev. Mr. Jones, a Negro, was an unsuccessful candidate for council in November. He is a Baptist and is the chaplain of the county tuberculosis hospital. Both he and Sensenbrenner are Democrats.

Both Parties Confident

Congressional Battles Due In Ohio

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Democrats, who captured three congressional seats from Republicans in 1958, will try for control of the 23-member Buckeye delegation in 1960.

They plan to concentrate their efforts in three districts where Republicans will not seek reelection and in two nominally Democratic districts where a Republican holds one seat and the other is vacant through death.

Success in that ambitious program would give Democrats a 12-11 edge in the Ohio delegation now composed of 14 Republicans and eight Democrats.

But Republican strategists assert they will retain all present GOP seats, win back the three lost to Democrats last year and possibly capture the 6th District seat in Southern Ohio left vacant by the death of Democrat James G. Polk. That would give Republicans a 15-8 advantage.

Those conflicting objectives make the congressional primaries next May 3 especially interesting for voters who take their politics seriously. Nominees will square off for the showdown in the Nov. 8 general election.

The three Republicans who have announced they will not seek reelection are: Reps. William E. Hess of Cincinnati in the 2nd District, John E. Henderson of Cambridge in the 15th and A. D. Baumhart Jr. of Vermilion in the 13th.

Hess has represented the 2nd District, a part of Hamilton County, since 1929. If Republicans put up Cincinnati Mayor Donald Clancy as their candidate, Democrats may be hard pressed for an opponent to beat him although party leaders say they have a couple of potential vote-getters ready to announce when the time is right.

Rep. Gordon H. Scherer, Cincinnati Republican, has represented the 1st District in the rest of Hamilton County since his election in 1952.

State Sen. Tom V. Moorehead of Zanesville has taken out petitions to qualify for the Republican nomination in the 15th District of Southeastern Ohio. Possible opponents in the GOP primary are Randall Metcalf of Marietta, Washington County chairman, and Vincent Linn of Zanesville, a member of the state central committee.

On the other side, Herbert U. Smith of Marietta, former state representative and executive assistant to ex-Congressman Robert T. Secrest, and John Hayes Ferguson of Cambridge have announced for the Democratic nomination. Other Democrat possibilities are Charles S. Leasure, former Muskingum County prosecutor and executive secretary to the late Gov. Martin L. Davey, and State Rep. Rhoderic G. Mills of New Lexington.

Counties in the 15th are Muskingum, Guernsey, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Monroe and Washington.

State Sen. Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin stepped into the breech opened by the unexpected retirement of Baumhart in the 13th District. Only other Republican talked about for that nomination is Woodrow Mathna, Lorain city councilman, after Sheriff Vernon M. Smith of Elyria declined.

Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys, former Elyria mayor, is toying with the idea of seeking the Democratic nomination. He has received the apparent blessing of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle but the governor indicated Keys would have to quit his $14,000 a year cabinet post to run.

That would leave Keys, father of 10 children, with only his extra salary of $3,240 annually as a member of the Lorain County Election Board for a campaign.

The 13th District embraces Lorain, Huron, Erie and Sandusky counties.

Primary fights for both parties appear in the making in the 6th District, unrepresented since the death of Polk, a Democrat.

Former postmaster Frank E. Smith of Portsmouth has announced for the Democratic nomination and expects opposition, possibly from State Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune of Washington Court House.

Three Republicans have announced in the 6th. They are S. A. Ringer of Leesburg, a candidate in previous elections; William H. Harsha Jr., Portsmouth attorney and member of the state GOP committee, and Mack Sauer of Hillsboro.

A special election in the 6th District also will be held for a two-month unexpired term.

The district covers the counties of Pickaway, Fayette, Ross, Highland, Clermont, Brown, Adams, Scioto and Pike.

A Republican primary battle may be possible in the 17th District where State Rep. John Ashbrook of Johnstown has announced. Lawrence Burns Jr., Coshocton attorney and GOP aspirant in 1958, is considering the race and reports indicate a Richland County candidate may enter.

Seeking reelection in the 17th will be Robert W. Levering of Fredericktown, first term Democrat who won election after the death of GOP Rep. J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette.

Counties in the district are Delaware, Licking, Coshocton, Knox, Holmes, Richland and Ashland.

Republicans also have their eyes on the districts of two other Democrat first term congressmen. They are Reps. Walter H. Moeller of Lancaster in the 10th and Robert E. Cook of Kent in the 11th. Both expect to stand for reelection.

In the 10th, former State Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton may be opposed for the GOP nomination by Homer E. Abele, McArthur attorney and unsuccessful candidate last year.

The district covers the counties of Fairfield, Hocking, Athens, Vinton, Jackson, Meigs, Gallia and Lawrence.

Republican leaders said Cook would have opposition in the 11th which is composed of the counties of Lake, Geauga, Portage, Ashtabula and part of Trumbull.

In the 4th District, where Republican William M. McCulloch of Piqua seeks reelection, State Rep. Joseph J. Murphy, also of Piqua, may run for the Democrat nomination.

Democrats are planning an assault on the 3rd District seat held since 1951 by Republican Paul F. Schenck of Dayton. Schenck is expected to run again.

Democrats also assert with tongue in cheek that they might be able to oust Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Lyndhurst in the 22nd District, a part of Cuyahoga, County, but they did not name their prospect.

Republican Rep. William E. Minshall of Rocky River has taken out petitions to seek reelection in the 23rd District amid reports that former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender may oppose him for the seat that Bender once held. The district is a part of Cuyahoga County.

Leaders in both parties said incumbents in other districts would seek reelection, many of them without opposition in the primary. They added that all expected opposition in the November payoff election.

Republican incumbents include: Reps. Delbert L. Latta of Bowling Green in the 5th District, Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester in the 7th, Jackson E. Betts of Findlay in the 8th, Samuel L. Devine of Columbus in the 12th, William H. Ayres of Akron in the 14th and Frank T. Bow of Canton in the 16th.

Democrat incumbents include: Reps. Thomas L. Ashley of Waterville, near Toledo, in the 9th, Wayne L. Hays of Flushing in the 18th, Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown in the 19th, Michael J. Feighan of Cleveland in the 20th and Charles A. Vanik of Cleveland in the 21st.

Stock Market Ends 1959 On Turbulent Key

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market ended 1959 Thursday in a turbulent session. Vicious profit taking late in the day failed to prevent the Dow Jones industrial average from going to a new historic high.

Volume swelled to 3,810,000 shares from 3,680,000 Wednesday and was the largest since Dec. 8 when 3,870,000 shares changed hands.

The Dow industrials advanced 2.39 to 679.36, a new historic closing high which topped the Aug. 3 record of 678.10.

At the end of the first hour the Dow industrials stood at 680.30, well above the previous closing peak and the only question was whether they could remain in record-breaking territory by the market close. Twice before this month, on Dec. 15 and Dec. 21, they had topped the Aug. 3 high at the end of the first hour but they retreated and ended each of those sessions with a loss.

In view of the other two failures to retain the advance above the August peak, brokers saw the market as now in a position to benefit from a psychological spur.

Motors, steels and oils paced the early advance and some of the space age stocks also were vigorous. Rails made a strong showing at the start and other "neglected groups did well.

The best gains began to fade after the first hour, however. A flutter of recovery in early afternoon stemmed the tide. Heavy selling in the final half hour made it a question of touch-and-go whether the market would end higher or lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $230.50, and remained substantially below its record high of $235.80 reached on Aug. 3. The industrials were up 50 cents, the rails 20 cents and the utilities 40 cents.

Of 1,273 issues traded, a broad market, 568 advanced and 489 declined. New highs exceeded new lows for the year by 26 to 17.

American Stock Exchange prices also were irregularly higher as volume swelled to 2,890,000 shares from 2,130,000 Wednesday.

Goverment bonds closed mixed to lower in moderately active trading. Most long-range issues ended the year at historic lows.

Volume totaled $8,620,000 par value on the Big Board compared with $7,590,000 Wednesday.

$3,878 Shortage Bared In Account Of Lucas Clerk

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—State examiners Thursday reported a $3,878 fund shortage in an account of the Lucas County clerk of courts. Auditors said they were unable to determine where the money went.

William R. Morris, deputy state inspector, said the missing funds were in fees for motor vehicle titles, duplicate titles and notations of liens. The shortage occurred over a 16-year-period, Morris said.

The examiners asked recovery of $2,952 from the present clerk, Francis Pietrykowski; $910 from Gordon Jeffery, who was clerk from 1943 to 1957 and the remainder from the estate of Edward M. Ryan, who served briefly in 1957.

Commented Pietrykowski:

"It is too late now to accuse any of my employes, but I have already taken steps to revise procedure."

He added that despite several audits examiners failed to discover the shortage until he pointed it out last month.

'Would Marry Again,' Woman, 104, Declares

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Today is the big day for Catherine Clark — it's birthday No. 104. She's still up and about, spry as can be.

"I would marry again if I could find a man with a good horse and wagon," she says facetiously.

Mrs. Clark lives here with her daughter, Johanna Clarke, who says the only real restriction on the mother is to reduce her stair climbing.

A special election in the 6th District also will be held for a two-month unexpired term.

The district covers the counties of Pickaway, Fayette, Ross, Highland, Clermont, Brown, Adams, Scioto and Pike.

A Republican primary battle may be possible in the 17th District where State Rep. John Ashbrook of Johnstown has announced. Lawrence Burns Jr., Coshocton attorney and GOP aspirant in 1958, is considering the race and reports indicate a Richland County candidate may enter.

Seeking reelection in the 17th will be Robert W. Levering of Fredericktown, first term Democrat who won election after the death of GOP Rep. J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette.

Counties in the district are Delaware, Licking, Coshocton, Knox, Holmes, Richland and Ashland.

Republicans also have their eyes on the districts of two other Democrat first term congressmen. They are Reps. Walter H. Moeller of Lancaster in the 10th and Robert E. Cook of Kent in the 11th. Both expect to stand for reelection.

In the 10th, former State Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton may be opposed for the GOP nomination by Homer E. Abele, McArthur attorney and unsuccessful candidate last year.

The district covers the counties of Fairfield, Hocking, Athens, Vinton, Jackson, Meigs, Gallia and Lawrence.

Republican leaders said Cook would have opposition in the 11th which is composed of the counties of Lake, Geauga, Portage, Ashtabula and part of Trumbull.

In the 4th District, where Republican William M. McCulloch of Piqua seeks reelection, State Rep. Joseph J. Murphy, also of Piqua, may run for the Democrat nomination.

Democrats are planning an assault on the 3rd District seat held since 1951 by Republican Paul F. Schenck of Dayton. Schenck is expected to run again.

Democrats also assert with tongue in cheek that they might be able to oust Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Lyndhurst in the 22nd District, a part of Cuyahoga, County, but they did not name their prospect.

Republican Rep. William E. Minshall of Rocky River has taken out petitions to seek reelection in the 23rd District amid reports that former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender may oppose him for the seat that Bender once held. The district is a part of Cuyahoga County.

Leaders in both parties said incumbents in other districts would seek reelection, many of them without opposition in the primary. They added that all expected opposition in the November payoff election.

Republican incumbents include: Reps. Delbert L. Latta of Bowling Green in the 5th District, Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester in the 7th, Jackson E. Betts of Findlay in the 8th, Samuel L. Devine of Columbus in the 12th, William H. Ayres of Akron in the 14th and Frank T. Bow of Canton in the 16th.

Democrat incumbents include: Reps. Thomas L. Ashley of Waterville, near Toledo, in the 9th, Wayne L. Hays of Flushing in the 18th, Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown in the 19th, Michael J. Feighan of Cleveland in the 20th and Charles A. Vanik of Cleveland in the 21st.

Dies As Car Hits Wall

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernard Stitt, 60, of Cleveland, died Thursday when his car hit a wall of the Memorial Shoreway underpass. Police theorized that he might have suffered a heart attack and did not immediately classify his death as a traffic fatality.

Stock Market Ends 1959 On Turbulent Key

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market ended 1959 Thursday in a turbulent session. Vicious profit taking late in the day failed to prevent the Dow Jones industrial average from going to a new historic high.

Volume swelled to 3,810,000 shares from 3,680,000 Wednesday and was the largest since Dec. 8 when 3,870,000 shares changed hands.

The Dow industrials advanced 2.39 to 679.36, a new historic closing high which topped the Aug. 3 record of 678.10.

At the end of the first hour the Dow industrials stood at 680.30, well above the previous closing peak and the only question was whether they could remain in record-breaking territory by the market close. Twice before this month, on Dec. 15 and Dec. 21, they had topped the Aug. 3 high at the end of the first hour but they retreated and ended each of those sessions with a loss.

In view of the other two failures to retain the advance above the August peak, brokers saw the market as now in a position to benefit from a psychological spur.

Motors, steels and oils paced the early advance and some of the space age stocks also were vigorous. Rails made a strong showing at the start and other "neglected groups did well.

The best gains began to fade after the first hour, however. A flutter of recovery in early afternoon stemmed the tide. Heavy selling in the final half hour made it a question of touch-and-go whether the market would end higher or lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $230.50, and remained substantially below its record high of $235.80 reached on Aug. 3. The industrials were up 50 cents, the rails 20 cents and the utilities 40 cents.

Of 1,273 issues traded, a broad market, 568 advanced and 489 declined. New highs exceeded new lows for the year by 26 to 17.

American Stock Exchange prices also were irregularly higher as volume swelled to 2,890,000 shares from 2,130,000 Wednesday.

Goverment bonds closed mixed to lower in moderately active trading. Most long-range issues ended the year at historic lows.

Volume totaled $8,620,000 par value on the Big Board compared with $7,590,000 Wednesday.

$3,878 Shortage Bared In Account Of Lucas Clerk

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—State examiners Thursday reported a $3,878 fund shortage in an account of the Lucas County clerk of courts. Auditors said they were unable to determine where the money went.

William R. Morris, deputy state inspector, said the missing funds were in fees for motor vehicle titles, duplicate titles and notations of liens. The shortage occurred over a 16-year-period, Morris said.

The examiners asked recovery of $2,952 from the present clerk, Francis Pietrykowski; $910 from Gordon Jeffery, who was clerk from 1943 to 1957 and the remainder from the estate of Edward M. Ryan, who served briefly in 1957.

Commented Pietrykowski:

"It is too late now to accuse any of my employes, but I have already taken steps to revise procedure."

He added that despite several audits examiners failed to discover the shortage until he pointed it out last month.

'Would Marry Again,' Woman, 104, Declares

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Today is the big day for Catherine Clark — it's birthday No. 104. She's still up and about, spry as can be.

"I would marry again if I could find a man with a good horse and wagon," she says facetiously.

Mrs. Clark lives here with her daughter, Johanna Clarke, who says the only real restriction on the mother is to reduce her stair climbing.

West Virginia Calls All Available Troopers

CHARLESTON (AP) — Every available trooper will be on duty in West Virginia over the holiday weekend, State Police Supt. Hazen Fair said today.

"No favoritism will be shown the reckless driver on the highway," Fair warned. "So, please, do not drink and drive and a happy New Year to all."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Questioned On Home Atmosphere

Starting the new year, let us take inventory of our stock as parents. What kind of family atmosphere do we provide? Is it one of hope, security, understanding and love? Do our children feel that we parents highly respect each other: that we keep looking for the best in each other and build on each others' strengths? Do they see us as companionable parents, cultivating daily enjoyments with each other and with them? Do they find us consistent with each other, striving to agree on major matters and in their presence calmly reasoning out the small matters on which we don't always agree? Whether our children are 3, 9 or 16, do they know what they can expect of us; what we will almost surely say or do next, especially in matters of great importance to them? Do they find us to be persons of integrity?

By Garry Meyers

DO THEY feel that we act and speak as grownups and don't descend to childish ways with each other, with them or with other persons? Do they feel proud of us when in our presence, and when thinking of us, or talking about us in our absence?

When we are no longer alive what will they say about us? What ways of ours will they applaud? What will they condemn? Will they have a genuine esteem for us as persons and parents? What in us will they choose to emulate as husband or wife, father or mother, and as persons mingling with their fellows?

Will our children feel that, no matter what our frailties or shortcomings, we have kept striving to improve?

What values are they learning from us as they grow up? Have they seen us placing foremost what gives immediate pleasures and satisfactions, that which is merely measured by dollars and cents and will surely perish? Or have they seen us setting our hearts and minds on the spiritual side of life?

THREATENING NEARLY all parents is the fear we might expect too much of our children and be too strict with them. For every child who will say his parents held him up to standards of conduct and effort that were too high, thousands perhaps will be forever grateful for having had such parents. Among the saddest things many children will say in the future is: "if only my parents had brought me up with a firmer hand."

I once wrote a parent's prayer for myself, including these words:

"Make me so fair and just, so considerate and companionable to my children that they will have a genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children."

This prayer, which thousands have asked for, may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ohio Distribution On Old Age Pay Hits Over Billion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 1 1-3 billion dollars has been distributed under Ohio's old age pension program since it began in 1934, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported Thursday.

The total stood at $1,307,600,970 with the federal government paying $670,453,544, or 51.2 per cent, of the aggregate.

At the start, Ohio bore the entire cost of the program. Distributions during the first six months totaled $1,094,469 to about 47,000 pensioners.

In contrast, the state's bookkeeping year ending last June 30 saw the distribution of $72,808,777. Federal funds accounted for $43,040,716 of that total.

During the last 25 years, annual distributions averaged $52,304,038. Federal contributions, beginning in 1936, averaged $27,935,564 annually.

Cities, Towns Got Record Money In Gas Tax, Car Tags

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Local governments received more money than ever this year from the gasoline tax and motor vehicle licenses to help improve and maintain their streets and highways.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported Thursday that the 1959 total exceeded by nearly four million dollars the amount distributed last year to counties, cities, villages and townships.

Local governments received $61,625,641 from license fees and $54,465,381 in gas tax revenues for a total of $116,091,022 this year.

During the year each of the 88 counties got $230,000 from the gasoline tax, compared with $210,000 in 1958. Each township received $8,000, against only $7,600 last year. Cities and villages shared $23,586,581 this year, compared with $21,953,907 in 1958.

Husband Can Be Dieter's Best Friend

"If women would only wake up and realize the real connotation of 'pleasingly plump' they would save themselves heartaches later on. It's a well meaning phrase that implies, 'You're getting fat but I can't tell you.'" This warning came from a homemaker who to her disgust has slipped into the buxom class.

By Ida Jean Kain

Admittedly a husband is on the spot. When his once slim-trim little wife continues to gain unneeded pounds, he is reluctant to bring up the subject. But for a husband to feel apprehensive about his wife's mounting weight and say nothing, is no favor to her.

In the early years of marriage, perhaps the best approach is to give it the light touch with gentle kidding. The following letter from a young wife would seem to bear this out. Her letter began, "Dear Sister Dieter":

"I, TOO, AM only 22 years old. I have a wonderful husband and two lovely children. After my first child was born I weighed 138 pounds. I felt awful — and so sorry for myself that I ate more. It seemed I craved sweets and always had them around.

"When I married I weighed 115 pounds and my husband told me how nice I looked. When I got heavy he started to tease me and call me fatty. Also my friends would comment, 'You're a lot heavier than you used to be aren't you?'

"My little boy was a year old before I made up my mind to take action and do something about my weight. I started reading the IJK column and to diet. I exercised faithfully. Believe me, I was ready to give up many a time. But my husband, bless him, would say 'fatty' again and try to encourage me to stay with slimming. Somehow I mustered the will power.

After my second child was born I started to diet and exercise right away. My little girl is 15 months old now and I am back in shape again. I still exercise daily. I set aside a certain time, usually before the children are up. Daily exercise helps me feel alive — and I can do my work a lot better.

"SO, OVERWEIGHT young mothers, good luck with your slimming. I know you can do it. To bolster your morale, put on a little perfume and make-up in the late afternoon. This makes you feel better. My little boy, now 4, tells me how pretty I look."

It's a wise husband who has the courage to bring the subject of excess weight up early. The best way is to approach the problem with a light touch but always expressing love, and instilling confidence. The slightest suggestion of criticism undermines rather than strengthens.

Deadline Set On How To Care For Patients

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — By mid - January, trustees must decide how to care for 46 patients at Mount Logan Tuberculosis Hospital here.

Dr. Damon E. Wetterauer, hospital medical director, announced at a board meeting that 11 staff members — whom he called "key personnel" — have resigned, effective Jan. 15.

The resignations follow failure of the trustees to renew Wetterauer's contract, which expires in January.

He recommended transferring the patients to other facilities, but the trustees postponed action until they meet again next Wednesday.

The hospital is a six - county operation, serving Ross, Scioto, Pike, Fayette, Highland and Jackson counties.

Four Are Victims Of Wood Alcohol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four men are dead after drinking wood alcohol which police say they apparently obtained from laboratory supplies at the National Institutes of Health.

The fourth fatality was that of George D. Boone, 46, an employe in the transportation division of NIH. He died in a hospital Thursday.

Otto R. Saunders, 42, an elevator operator at NIH, collapsed on the job Monday and died the next day. Marvin E. Ford, 33, also an elevator operator, died Wednesday night. Ford's brother Hugh, 38, a porter at Honolulu's International Airport, died at an Ingleside, Calif., hospital after being taken unconscious off a transcontinental plane at Los Angeles Tuesday. Hugh Ford was en route back to his job after a visit here.

Butler Sheriff's Office Again Has Full Staff

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Butler County Sheriff's Office, which has been operated for two months with reduced personnel, had a full staff again beginning Thursday night.

Sheriff Paul A. Pell, a Republican, slashed his normal force of about 25 to less than half that number on Nov. 1 when the Democratic-controlled county commission refused to grant him an additional appropriation of about $12,000. His 1960 appropriation will be come available at midnight tonight.

Pell said he had about 13 deputies and office workers on duty Thursday and approximately 11 others reported last night — even before they officially go back on the payroll.

Teacher-Board Ruling Given By Attorney General

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A teacher employed by a local school district cannot simultaneously serve on the board of another local school district in the same county, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy ruled Thursday.

The opinion to Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan involves an unnamed teacher in the Brecksville Local School District who was elected to the board of the Independence Local School District, effective with the start of the new year.

Effect of the opinion, McElroy said, is that the teacher would have to resign to take the school board post.

City Lets Contracts For $18,998

Retiring Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety - Service Director Joseph F. Ross awarded 4 contracts totaling $18,998 Thursday afternoon, topped by a $9,642 project for a new garage and storage building for the incinerator department.

The Boyd Lumber Co. of Calcutta was given the contract for a 44-x-72-foot steel building to be erected on the incinerator's landfill dump site in Bloomfield, St. Clair Township.

OTHER CONTRACTS awarded by the retiring administration were:

Mulligan & Williamson of M.C. 22, Lisbon St., for repainting of most of the interior of City Hall, $6,346.

H. R. (Mickey) Howard of Harding Ave. and Hill Blvd., for plaster repairs on City Hall walls, $990.

Armco Drainage & Metal Products, Inc., of Cleveland, for 2,000 feet of flexible guardrail for use along the River Rd. at $1.01 a foot, $2,020.

Boyd's contract price for the incinerator department building provides for an all-steel structure with some wood framing treated to be flame resistant. The same concern submitted a $9,225 bid for a similar building with concrete block walls, but it was rejected because it did not meet the city's specifications.

The $9,642 price includes $6,782 for material and $2,859 for labor in erecting it.

TWO OTHER bids were received on the basic building. Myers Bus - Houser Corp. of Canfield offered a metal building for $9,814 and the Beagle Construction Co. of East Liverpool, operated by Howard Keevert and Richard Beagle, bid $11,916.50 on a wooden building.

For the $9,642 contract price, the city will get only the basic building, as the officials were forced to reject separate bids on plumbing and heating.

Both the Schell Heating Co. and the Young & Hicks Heating Co. bid on an oil-fired heating system of four units which would be suspended from the ceiling. Schell bid $2,739 on Mueller Climatrol units and Young & Hicks offered Moncrief equipment.

Both prices covered the complete installation. But neither complied fully with the city's legal notice for bids, which required contractors to submit a certified check representing 5 per cent of the bid to guarantee they would enter into a contract.

THE LONE BID on plumbing, filed by Boyd, also was rejected. It called for $620 for material and $230 for labor, but the director pointed out it obviously was defective because it did not provide for drilling a well. The new building will be outside the reach of city water mains, so a well will be required.

Council provided $12,000 for the complete building job, so $2,358 will remain in the appropriation for the heating and plumbing contracts, which probably will be awarded by the new administration after a second call for bids.

The building will be used mainly for storage of incinerator department trucks.

Howard's $2,350 bid for overall plaster repairs in City Hall was rejected Wednesday because he did not enclose a certified check to guarantee he would execute a contract. His was the lone bid. To assure that some necessary plaster repairs would be made before the building is repainted, the board granted him a $990 job yesterday. Formal bids are not required for expenditures under $1,000.

THE CONTRACTORS were required to submit separate prices on plaster repairs in each room, so the board was able to accept Howard's price for work in eight rooms under the $1,000 cut - off points. Rooms affected will be: Income tax office, police special bureau, detention room, police office, juvenile interrogation room, the hallway from the outer door to the police office, the corridor on the first floor and the office of the mayor's secretary.

In the contract for Mulligan & Williamson, the board acted in a similar manner, awarding the work for all rooms and other areas where the plaster will be repaired under Howard's contract or where no plaster repair is required.

Except for two stairwells, the boiler room and the police department garage, the Mulligan & Williamson contract calls for repainting of the entire interior of the building.

THE WORK ON the River Rd. will be financed out of an $8,000 grant the city received from federal Civil Defense funds a month ago as reimbursement for damage in a January 1959 flood.

Out of the same fund, the mayor and director Wednesday awarded a contract for 7,000 tons of stone for construction of a riprap wall along the highway embankment to prevent further erosion by water.

The contract went to the Stover-Leslie Flying Service of Lisbon R. D., which will furnish the material from the old stone quarry in California Hollow.

Both contracts are for material only, with installation to be arranged later by the city.

Farmers Air Tainted Water

Ten farmers from the western part of the county attended the Columbiana County commissioners' meeting Thursday at Lisbon and requested closer co-operation between the county and Supt. Russell Phillis of the County Home.

They discussed the water pollution situation in the vicinity of the home and one reported he had taken water samples at the home and when analyzed they proved satisfactory. A commissioner said samples he took were approved yet the Health Department samples were returned as unsatisfactory after the test by the State Health Department.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, and Sanitarian Harry Stockdale explained how their samples were taken at the home and the reasons why they believe the water may become unsatisfactory.

The group also discussed the home finances and reports from the auditor's office were read, showing transfers from one fund to another and extra funds given to the home for operations last year.

The group suggested the commissioners request Judge Louis Tobin to appoint three or more County Home area farmers as a subcommittee of the Board of County Visitors to seek more co-operation in the farm management program.

The commissioners thanked the farmers for their interest in the home and Chairman Max Gard suggested that they give more notice when they wish to have meetings so commissioners could be prepared.

10 Face New Arrests For Traffic Violations

Re-arrest warrants for 10 Chester residents who have not paid fines for traffic violations are being prepared by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester to be served next week.

Mayor Ward said the warrants will be served Monday by Chester police unless the fines — totaling some $200 — are paid. The mayor said there are also a number of unpaid parking violation fines and the delinquent motorists are to be notified.

Like Son, Like Father

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — In a manner of speaking, it hurt father more than son when 3-year-old Donnie Stadler fell on porch steps at his home and cut his chin. His dad, Robert, became faint after watching a doctor treat the boy, fell against a water fountain, broke off two teeth and suffered face cuts which required eight stitches.

New Mayor Brings Lengthy Municipal Experience To Job

Bert H. Goodballet, who became mayor of East Liverpool today, has wider experience in municipal affairs than any other man who has held the office in many years.

Nearly 20 years of service as a ward councilman and Council president are behind the 55-year-old veteran potter, as well as experience on the City Planning Commission, the Municipal Civil Service Commission and the World War II War Price & Rationing Board. In Council, he headed the finance committee for many years and also served on the Police Pension Board.

In all, he tried three times for the mayor's office before he finally made the grade. He first sought the office in 1941, while serving his second term as First Ward councilman. He stepped down from the Council presidency in 1957 to run for the mayor's office, winning the nomination but losing in the general election.

He had been out of public office for two years when he entered the Democratic primaries last May. He took the party nomination and went ahead to win in the general election over Fred P. Lawrence, who had defeated Goodballet two years previously.

The new mayor was born in East Liverpool July 24, 1904, a son of the late Conrad and Alice Reed Goodballet. In 1924, he was married to the former Dorothy Nickelson. They have 3 sons, all married, and 9 grandchildren.

He has been employed the last 36 years at the Homer Laughlin China Co.

Goodballet originally was elected to the First Ward Council seat in 1937. He served from 1938 through 1941, when he lost in the mayoralty primaries. In 1942 he was named to the City Planning Commission and also served on the ration board. Named to the First Ward Council seat again for 1944-45, he lost in a bid for Council president in 1945. In 1946, he was appointed to the Civil Service Commission.

In a comeback, he was elected to the First Ward Council seat again in 1947 and later was named to 2 more consecutive terms. He was appointed Council president in 1953 to fill the unexpired term of W. A. Southan, who resigned to become a county commissioner. He was elected to the Council presidency for 2 more terms before he gave up the seat in 1957 to run for mayor the second time.

The inventor of the revolver was Colt.

2 Mayors At City Hall No Optical Illusion

A passerby could see two mayors at City Hall Thursday afternoon without being accused of starting his New Year's celebrating early.

The "seeing double" illusion became a fact when Bert H. Goodballet, who became mayor at midnight, stopped in the main corridor of the municipal building to chat with Mayor Fred P. Lawrence, who was preparing to step out of office in a few hours.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We've been married 17 years and have two lovely girls. My husband has no bad habits except he works when it doesn't interfere with his hunting, fishing and photography.

His mother has sent us sizeable checks periodically so we haven't gone hungry. But I've lost all love and respect for this man. I manage to put up a happy front for the girls' sake.

Shall I leave him now or make a go of it until the girls are out of high school? Yes, I've tried to encourage him in all his jobs (he's had about 30) but he doesn't stick with anything. Advise me, please. —DISGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: You recite your husband's faults without realizing the part you've played in the failure of the marriage.

A wife who would permit her husband to accept "sizeable checks periodically" from his mother promotes the dependency which destroys his self respect and her love.

Your husband doesn't stick with anything because he doesn't have to. If you'd have made it plain from the outset that he was responsible for his family's support and insisted he return Mama's first check, it might have been the makings of him.

Chances are slim that you can remake him now but it's worth a try. Insist that he accept his responsibilities. If he refuses tell him to get out—then go to work yourself.

Legal Loophole

Dear Ann: I'm 21, my boy friend just passed the bar and is a lawyer with a large firm.

Although he writes me daily (I'm away at college) and tells me he loves me madly, I get different reports from my uncle who is in the same law firm. He says Eddie is taking out three secretaries in the office and having a ball. All the women are older than he is.

I mentioned this to Eddie on the phone last week when I just couldn't hold it in any longer. He said these gals are a pack of man-hungry divorcees who chase after him and he wants to be a "good guy." He assures me I have nothing to worry about. Is this reasonable?—GAMMA.

Dear Gamma: So these man-hungry dames are chasing after your helpless little man and he's trying to be a "good guy"? My hunch is he can run faster than that—if he wants to.

You don't mention being engaged, which is good. This character isn't ready to settle down. Tell him he's free to go with whomever he pleases and you'd like the same privilege.

Counted Out

Dear Ann: What do you think of a good friend who lives in the same apartment building and has the nerve to borrow my poker chips and felt table cover and then not invite me to the game?

I am so hurt I don't know what to do. She told me she's having a game for the older girls." I am 65. Please tell me your opinion.—EXCLUDED.

Dear Excluded: Consider this a compliment. She looks upon you as a young friend and what could be higher praise?

Why not offer to bake a cake for the old dames and tell her you'll be looking forward to the next game with the younger set.

Confidentially

TO ANNOYED: Strap tuggers, finger drummers and girdle pullers are ill at ease. They need sympathy, not "telling off." Social discomfort is a pathetic thing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addresssed envelope.

'If' Strike Isn't Resumed

Crucible Sees Production Near Capacity To Mid-60

"The demand for steel at the turn of the year is at an extremely high level because of the near exhaustion of customers' inventories during the steel strike and activity in steel using industries," Joel Hunter, president of Crucible Steel Co. of America, said Thursday with the advent of 1960.

"If the strike is not resumed in January, near-capacity steel production will be required until the middle of 1960."

However, according to Hunter, some of the specialties will not be in such heavy demand.

"Tool steel, for example, was available throughout the strike period from plants which continued to operate," he said. "There is, moreover, greater capacity in relation to demand for tool steel than most steel products. On the other hand stainless, particularly flat rolled, is in short supply."

Crucible's building program is continuing in 1960, Hunter said. More than $41 million has been appropriated in 1959 and 1960 for new facilities and improvements. Major projects at Midland, where most of the expenditures will be made, include expansion and improvement of the Hot Strip Mill and electrification of the Blooming Mill.

Hunter added that establishment of Crucible Steel of Canada, Ltd., through the acquisition of Sorel Industries, Ltd., in June 1959, gave Crucible its first plant outside of the United States. The new plant, he said, will be devoted to the production of specialty steels for sale in the growing Canadian and world markets.

Looking toward the future, Hunter predicts that in the next 10 years technological advances in the field of specialty steels and other metals will be more rapid than in the past decade. He said that more companies are spending more than ever before to develop new metals and alloys, to improve existing materials and to invent more efficient processing methods and equipment. Crucible's research, he pointed out, has increased manyfold in recent years.

Crucible's Midland plant is the Company's largest facility, employing more than 7,000. It is the "integration plant" of Crucible, producing both iron and special purpose steels in large volume. Its products go direct to industry, to Crucible warehouses, and to Crucible's other plants for further processing.

Bulk of Crucible's vast expansion and improvement program undertaken since World War II has been concentrated in the Midland plant. Some of the major elements of the expansion and improvement program at Midland Works since 1949 include:

Installation of 3 open hearths, 4 electric furnaces, 29 coke ovens, facilities for production of silicon steels, Sendzimir mill, 2 annealing and pickling lines, a 54-inch temper mill, and a new bank of soaking pits; modernization and electrification of all merchant mills; acquisition of full ownership of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., and addition of various units of hot and cold strip mills.

Silver blanched almonds while they are still warm and easy to cut; dry the nuts in a shallow pan in a slow oven. Keep on hand in a covered jar in the refrigerator to brown in butter and use to give glamor to cooked cauliflower, snap beans, green peas and broccoli.

Shawnee District Scouter Resigns

LISBON — Leonard McDaniel, 30, executive director of the Shawnee District of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council, has resigned effective Feb. 1, according to Bennett D. Taylor, council director.

McDaniel will become executive director of the Northeast Ohio Council at Painesville and will reside in Ashtabula. He has been at Lisbon since April 1957.

A graduate of Salem (W. Va.) college, he also was graduated from the National Training School of Scouting at Mendham, N. J., coming directly to the Columbiana Council for his first assignment.

Interested in camping, he boosted summer camping in this district from an attendance of 88 to 500 last summer at Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake. His district also expanded from 35 units to 47 over the 2 - year period.

McDaniel also is active in local affairs, being a member of the Methodist Church, American Legion, Lions Club and Salem Hunt Club.

Taylor said no one has been appointed to the post as yet.

City Continues Quiet As New Year's Nears

Old 1959 was abdicating his throne in an exceptionally quiet manner in East Liverpool on New Year's Eve.

Police reported no arrests early in the evening and they had only one report of a traffic mishap and that occurred before the welcome for Little 1960 got under way.

A collision at 4:08 p. m. at St. Clair and Lincoln Aves. damaged the right front fender of a car driven by Stonewall Bowen Jr., 27, of 258 Ridgeway Ave. It was struck by a 1951 auto operated by Albert Hampson, 35, of 1714 Jennings Ave., police said.

Both vehicular and pedestrian traffic appeared less than usual, officers said.

Youngsters Blast Off

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two boys were put on probation in juvenile court after they stole chemicals from Scott High School to stock a home laboratory where they experimented in rocketry. The mother of one turned them in to police when she saw a rocket made from a detergent can swooping around her home.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We've been married 17 years and have two lovely girls. My husband has no bad habits except he works when it doesn't interfere with his hunting, fishing and photography.

His mother has sent us sizeable checks periodically so we haven't gone hungry. But I've lost all love and respect for this man. I manage to put up a happy front for the girls' sake.

Shall I leave him now or make a go of it until the girls are out of high school? Yes, I've tried to encourage him in all his jobs (he's had about 30) but he doesn't stick with anything. Advise me, please. —DISGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: You recite your husband's faults without realizing the part you've played in the failure of the marriage.

A wife who would permit her husband to accept "sizeable checks periodically" from his mother promotes the dependency which destroys his self respect and her love.

Your husband doesn't stick with anything because he doesn't have to. If you'd have made it plain from the outset that he was responsible for his family's support and insisted he return Mama's first check, it might have been the makings of him.

Chances are slim that you can remake him now but it's worth a try. Insist that he accept his responsibilities. If he refuses tell him to get out—then go to work yourself.

Legal Loophole

Dear Ann: I'm 21, my boy friend just passed the bar and is a lawyer with a large firm.

Although he writes me daily (I'm away at college) and tells me he loves me madly, I get different reports from my uncle who is in the same law firm. He says Eddie is taking out three secretaries in the office and having a ball. All the women are older than he is.

I mentioned this to Eddie on the phone last week when I just couldn't hold it in any longer. He said these gals are a pack of man-hungry divorcees who chase after him and he wants to be a "good guy." He assures me I have nothing to worry about. Is this reasonable?—GAMMA.

Dear Gamma: So these man-hungry dames are chasing after your helpless little man and he's trying to be a "good guy"? My hunch is he can run faster than that—if he wants to.

You don't mention being engaged, which is good. This character isn't ready to settle down. Tell him he's free to go with whomever he pleases and you'd like the same privilege.

Counted Out

Dear Ann: What do you think of a good friend who lives in the same apartment building and has the nerve to borrow my poker chips and felt table cover and then not invite me to the game?

I am so hurt I don't know what to do. She told me she's having a game for the older girls." I am 65. Please tell me your opinion.—EXCLUDED.

Dear Excluded: Consider this a compliment. She looks upon you as a young friend and what could be higher praise?

Why not offer to bake a cake for the old dames and tell her you'll be looking forward to the next game with the younger set.

Confidentially

TO ANNOYED: Strap tuggers, finger drummers and girdle pullers are ill at ease. They need sympathy, not "telling off." Social discomfort is a pathetic thing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addresssed envelope.

Youngsters Blast Off

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two boys were put on probation in juvenile court after they stole chemicals from Scott High School to stock a home laboratory where they experimented in rocketry. The mother of one turned them in to police when she saw a rocket made from a detergent can swooping around her home.

Shawnee District Scouter Resigns

LISBON — Leonard McDaniel, 30, executive director of the Shawnee District of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council, has resigned effective Feb. 1, according to Bennett D. Taylor, council director.

McDaniel will become executive director of the Northeast Ohio Council at Painesville and will reside in Ashtabula. He has been at Lisbon since April 1957.

A graduate of Salem (W. Va.) college, he also was graduated from the National Training School of Scouting at Mendham, N. J., coming directly to the Columbiana Council for his first assignment.

Interested in camping, he boosted summer camping in this district from an attendance of 88 to 500 last summer at Camp Twin Spruce at Leesville Lake. His district also expanded from 35 units to 47 over the 2 - year period.

McDaniel also is active in local affairs, being a member of the Methodist Church, American Legion, Lions Club and Salem Hunt Club.

Taylor said no one has been appointed to the post as yet.

City Continues Quiet As New Year's Nears

Old 1959 was abdicating his throne in an exceptionally quiet manner in East Liverpool on New Year's Eve.

Police reported no arrests early in the evening and they had only one report of a traffic mishap and that occurred before the welcome for Little 1960 got under way.

A collision at 4:08 p. m. at St. Clair and Lincoln Aves. damaged the right front fender of a car driven by Stonewall Bowen Jr., 27, of 258 Ridgeway Ave. It was struck by a 1951 auto operated by Albert Hampson, 35, of 1714 Jennings Ave., police said.

Both vehicular and pedestrian traffic appeared less than usual, officers said.

'If' Strike Isn't Resumed

Crucible Sees Production Near Capacity To Mid-60

"The demand for steel at the turn of the year is at an extremely high level because of the near exhaustion of customers' inventories during the steel strike and activity in steel using industries," Joel Hunter, president of Crucible Steel Co. of America, said Thursday with the advent of 1960.

"If the strike is not resumed in January, near-capacity steel production will be required until the middle of 1960."

However, according to Hunter, some of the specialties will not be in such heavy demand.

"Tool steel, for example, was available throughout the strike period from plants which continued to operate," he said. "There is, moreover, greater capacity in relation to demand for tool steel than most steel products. On the other hand stainless, particularly flat rolled, is in short supply."

Crucible's building program is continuing in 1960, Hunter said. More than $41 million has been appropriated in 1959 and 1960 for new facilities and improvements. Major projects at Midland, where most of the expenditures will be made, include expansion and improvement of the Hot Strip Mill and electrification of the Blooming Mill.

Hunter added that establishment of Crucible Steel of Canada, Ltd., through the acquisition of Sorel Industries, Ltd., in June 1959, gave Crucible its first plant outside of the United States. The new plant, he said, will be devoted to the production of specialty steels for sale in the growing Canadian and world markets.

Looking toward the future, Hunter predicts that in the next 10 years technological advances in the field of specialty steels and other metals will be more rapid than in the past decade. He said that more companies are spending more than ever before to develop new metals and alloys, to improve existing materials and to invent more efficient processing methods and equipment. Crucible's research, he pointed out, has increased manyfold in recent years.

Crucible's Midland plant is the Company's largest facility, employing more than 7,000. It is the "integration plant" of Crucible, producing both iron and special purpose steels in large volume. Its products go direct to industry, to Crucible warehouses, and to Crucible's other plants for further processing.

Bulk of Crucible's vast expansion and improvement program undertaken since World War II has been concentrated in the Midland plant. Some of the major elements of the expansion and improvement program at Midland Works since 1949 include:

Installation of 3 open hearths, 4 electric furnaces, 29 coke ovens, facilities for production of silicon steels, Sendzimir mill, 2 annealing and pickling lines, a 54-inch temper mill, and a new bank of soaking pits; modernization and electrification of all merchant mills; acquisition of full ownership of Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., and addition of various units of hot and cold strip mills.

Silver blanched almonds while they are still warm and easy to cut; dry the nuts in a shallow pan in a slow oven. Keep on hand in a covered jar in the refrigerator to brown in butter and use to give glamor to cooked cauliflower, snap beans, green peas and broccoli.

Syracuse Bids For First Bowl Win Today

The Sports Bench

Potters Pulled Big Upset In '59 . . .

Several surprises, individual achievements and all - out team efforts highlighted the 1959 sports picture in the district.

Most of the top sports stories were written from football, basketball and wrestling.

Rated as one of the year's biggest surprises was East Liverpool's 14-13 victory over Warren — together with the switching of the game to Warren. Not only did the game go down as an upset locally, but it was one of the biggest in the state.

The game took place Oct. 16. A week before Warren offered East Liverpool High School officials a chance to realize at least an additional $5,000 if the contest was switched to Warren.

Although the decision to move the game brought criticism from many Potter fans, the change was made.

As it turned out, the move proved more than successful. The game drew a crowd of 11,000 on a perfect football night and the Potters came home with a victory which boosted them into statewide recognition.

SHARING spotlight was Salem High's basketball team, which reached the state finals before bowing to powerful Cleveland East Tech.

The Quakers, under John Cabas, won 25 and lost only 2 games, with both setbacks coming at the hands of East Tech, one in regular season play and the other in the state finals.

And while on the subject of basketball, we can't forget Midland's battling to the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament at Pittsburgh and the near riot which marked the final game at the Pitt Fieldhouse.

ELHS Changed Basketball Mentors

IN THE COACHING ranks, the resignation of John Karaffa and the eventual appointment of Jim Harris as East Liverpool's basketball coach was among the top stories in 1959.

Karaffa's departure followed a disappointing season, which saw the Potters only winning three games.

The appointment of Harris marked the return of one of East Liverpool's basketball greats. Harris was a first team All - Ohio selection when he starred for the Potters in the 1944-45 and 1945-46 seasons.

The year also saw John Petchel, the winningest football coach in the district, resign after nine years at Midland. His resignation brought to an end an outstanding coaching career.

LOOKING over individual performances, Carl Hoppel, of the famous Hoppel wrestling family, grabbed the spotlight when he became the first freshman ever to win a state wrestling crown.

Hoppel lost only one match during his first year on the Beaver Local wrestling squad and turned around to beat the same wrestler who defeated him to win the state title.

Another individual who grabbed his share of headlines was Bob Mackall, East Liverpool's quarterback, who eventually wound up on the second All - Ohio team.

IN TRACK, Warren Lincoln was an outstanding distance man for the Potters last spring. Lincoln set new school records in the mile and half - mile events.

Chester Had Great Record . . .

WHEN IT comes to team performances, Coach Dom Amedeo and his Chester Panthers deserve the honors.

Chester, playing a schedule which included many larger "AA" schools, posted a 9-1 mark, with the only loss coming at the hands of Wellsville.

Steve Chapko, Chester's outstanding tackle, was named to the second all - state team in West Virginia.

Another surprise during the season was the 7-3 record posted by East Liverpool. Lou Venditti and his staff turned in a fine job with the Potters.

THIS PAST football season saw two former high school gridders rise to fame on the college gridiron.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen and Ivan Toncic of Midland quarterbacked Purdue and Pitt respectively.

Allen was remembered for his three touchdown passes that defeated Wisconsin and a late field goal that nipped Indiana.

Toncic had his day of days on the gridiron when he brought Pitt from three touchdowns behind by hurling four TD passes in an upset victory over UCLA.

Toncic's collegiate career was climaxed when he was named to the East squad for the annual East-West game which will be played at San Francisco on Saturday.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

DURING the holiday lull, the East Liverpool varsity has been scrimmaging former Potter cagers who are home from college.

The other day at Memorial Auditorium the ex-highs had some pretty good football talent on the court in Bernie Allen of Purdue fame and Jim Potts, Bowling Green quarterback.

Both Bernie and Jim were standouts in basketball at ELHS as well as outstanding quarterbacks.

THE EAST LIVERPOOL Potters, who started on the right foot with a victory in the opener, have fallen back to their old losing ways.

The losing string probably will continue Saturday night at Midland, when East Liverpool takes the floor against the much stronger Leopards.

We are picking Midland to win without too much trouble.

In two other games Saturday, we select Brilliant over Stanton Local in a close battle and Salem over Akron North.

SEVERAL FANS who watched Salem play Cleveland Latin feel that the Quakers are as strong or stronger than a year ago when they went to the state finals.

—:—

THE BLUE and White Nonpareil Club has been the first organization to show an interest in a holiday cage tournament here next year. We hope the interest mounts. It would be interesting to see a tournament here in 1960.

AT LEAST two East Liverpool people will see bowl games today. Potter football coach Lou Venditti has been in Miami, Fla., for the past week and will sit in on the Orange Bowl classic.

Lou, who is on a busman's holiday, also watched the North-South game at Miami last Saturday.

Bus Cartwright, local bowling alley proprietor, flew to New Orleans and will be on hand for the LSU-Mississippi clash.

—:—

WHILE Jim Harris is struggling to get East Liverpool back to its winning ways, Warrensville High, where he coached last year, has won seven straight games without a defeat.

Jim left a group of juniors at Warrensville, which compiled a 15-5 mark last season.

OUR SELECTIONS for the major bowl games follow: LSU over Mississippi.

Although the oddsmakers are favoring Ole Miss by 7 points, we feel Billy Cannon will explode again and pull it out for LSU.

The Orangemen of Syracuse get the nod in the Cotton Bowl. Texas may prove pesky for awhile, but we look for Syracuse to be on the long end of the score.

Out on the West coast, we are going against the experts again and picking Washington over favored Wisconsin. The Huskies have All - American quarterback Bob Schloredt, who is terrific, even though he only has one eye.

In the Orange Bowl, Georgia is a sound choice over Missouri.

Mississippi, LSU Cast In Game Of Day

By The Associated Press

National champion Syracuse bids for its first bowl victory, Wisconsin tries to save face with its Big Ten brethren, and the South gets a rematch of its "game of the year" Friday and Saturday in a power-packed climax to college football.

It's open season for the football buff with six major bowl games on national television in a total of nine postseason games expected to lure a total "in person" audience of nearly a half million.

Friday's schedule, with records, expected attendance, radio - TV coverage:

Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Syracuse (10-0) vs. Texas (9-1), 75,504, CBS TV, radio, 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—Wisconsin (7-2) vs. Washington (9-1), 100,295, NBC TV, radio, 5 p.m. (EST).

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Louisiana State (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1), 83,000, NBC TV, radio, 2 p.m. (EST).

Orange Bowl at Miami — Missouri (6-4) vs. Georgia (9-1), 76,500, CBS TV, radio, 1 p.m. (EST).

Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.—Presbyterian (9-1) vs. Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1), 12,000, 8:15 p.m. (EST).

Prairie View Bowl at Houston—Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wiley (Tex) (2-8), 18,000, 3 p.m. (EST).

Saturday's schedule:

Gagor Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech (6-4), 42,000, CBS TV, 2 p.m. (EST.

East-West at San Francisco — All-Star teams, 60,000, NBC TV, radio, 5 p.m. (EST).

All-American at Tucson, Ariz.—Major college All-Stars vs. Small College All-stars, 24,000, 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Having corralled the top four teams in the final Associated Press poll, the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl have the choice games of the New Year's Day program.

Top-ranked Syracuse could get its severest test from a blazing fast Texas team that was rated No. 4 in the nation.

Syracuse is a 13-point favorite over Texas in its bid to wipe out the stigma of three previous bowl losses.

The Sugar Bowl meeting of Mississippi and LSU brings back the No. 2 and No. 3 teams nationally for a rematch of a Halloween game which LSU won 7-3.

The Sugar Bowl matches two members of the All - America backfield — LSU's Billy Cannon and Mississippi's big fullback, Charlie Flowers. Mississippi is a 7-point pick.

Wisconsin's job against Washington is to try to make up for the only loss a Big Ten team has suffered in the Rose Bowl since the conference tie-up with the West Coast in 1947. The 1953 Badgers lost to Southern California 7-0. Washington's All-America quarterback, Bob Schloredt, duels with clutch-working Dale Hackbart, the Badger quarterback, in this one which finds Wisconsin the touchdown choice.

Georgia, which won the Southeastern Conference title, rates 12 points over Missouri, the four times beaten Big Eight Conference runner-up.

No Basketball But Swedes To Celebrate

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—A Swedish basketball team, its tour blacklisted by the AAU, had its choice of New Year's Eve parties Thursday night, but no basketball game.

The Swedes were to have played Lenoir Rhyne College here. The game was called off by college officials who said they did not want to risk the amateur standing of the players.

The Swedes were invited to parties at two country clubs here and at the Elk and Moose clubs. The 10 players have been staying in the Lenoir Rhyne Gymnasium living quarters.

The players leave Friday, for New York.

Their tour was denied sanction by AAU chief Dan Ferris, who said the tour was arranged by Jim McGregor of Portland, Ore., instead of through AAU channels. Ferris called McGregor a professional promoter. McGregor denied he made the arrangements.

Midland To Rate Big Edge

The Midland Leopards are heavy favorites to win their 10th game of the season when East Liverpool invades the Lincoln High gym Saturday night.

The Potters will be jumping into the lion's den when they meet the tall and win-happy Leopards. The varsity contest will get under way about 8, preceeded by a reserve game at 6:45.

Mel Laing, faculty manager at Midland, said tickets will be sold at the door and that an ample supply would be on hand. Reserve seat tickets will be $1 and general admission 75 cents. No tickets are being sold in East Liverpool.

Never in the last four years that these schools have met has Midland been so heavily favored.

Leopards Gunning For 10th Over EL

Fresh from winning the Ford City tournament, Midland will put an impressive 9-1 record on the line Saturday night.

On the other hand, the road-weary Potters, who will be playing away for the fourth consecutive game, will carry a 1-3 mark to Midland.

After winning their opener over Alliance, the Potters turned cold in the shooting department and have dropped three straight.

Coach Jim Harris, in his first year at his alma mater, will stick with the same lineup that started against Canton McKinley.

In that game, Phil Chan was moved up to a first team berth and will be in the starting five again Saturday night. Chan replaced Kenny Miller.

Kenny Cunningham will be at the other guard spot, Ray Bigelow at center and Craig Burbick and Bob Mackall at forwards.

After the lone victory over Alliance, East Liverpool has dropped successive games to Wellsville, Warren and McKinley.

Meanwhile, the high-flying Leopards of Coach George Hamilton have only tasted defeat once this year, that at the hands of New Castle. Midland dropped a 61-53 decision there last Saturday night.

Since the lone defeat, the Leopards have started a new winning string by knocking off North Braddock Scott and Ford City in the holiday tournament earlier this week.

Midland will have a height advantage. The Potters have two six-footers, in Ray Bigelow, 6-foot-6, and Craig Burbick, 6-foot-2½, but Midland shows three well over the six-foot mark.

Hamilton probably will start the same five he has depended on most of the way. It will show big Movie Smith, 6-foot-4, Gene Lake, 6-foot-3, and the tallest man of the starters, Steve Yetso, 6-foot-5.

Rounding out the first five will be steady Carl Anderson, 6-foot, and Don Migliore, 5-foot-7, the playmaker of the outfit.

Midland will be shooting for its third straight victory over East Liverpool.

Last year's game was a lopsided affair which found Midland running up a 57-35 count. The 1958 game ended in Midland's favor, 58-48.

East Liverpool's last victory came in 1957, 77-64 edge.

Judges Pull 'Big Switch' At Tropical

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It was a "human error" when Tropical Park judges reversed their decision on the winner of Wednesday's sixth race after many winning tickets had been discarded, some in fragments.

This was the judgment of John Ring, chairman of the Florida State Racing Commission, after a hastily called closed huddle Thursday with officials of the Miami race track.

Shortly after the race, Deemster was named official winner in a photo finish. An hour later, it was announced that Teacher and Deemster had finished in a dead heat.

The change in signals sent anguished backers of Teacher into a scramble for their discarded tickets, suddenly as good as gold. Some scuffles broke out as castaway Teacher tickets became fair game for all the 10,845 fans.

Responding quickly to the uproar, Ring went to Tropical Thursday for a session with owner Saul Silberman, judges and other officials.

After the huddle, Ring said the judges at first had decided unanimously that Deemster won. Later, after studying the film, they agreed there had been a dead heat.

Ring said Silberman "leaned over backwards to be fair to the bettors.

"He could have let the original decision stand and there would have been no trouble at all," Ring commented.

Teacher's backers who tore up their tickets will have a chance to get their money back. Forms are being prepared and complants may be filed up to Jan. 10, at which time they will be considered.

The change in decision, a rarity in racing, was made just before the ninth and final race. Deemster nose players already had collected $6 for 2, or about $2.50 more than they would have under dead heat conditions. Techer went into the win ve2ON TO under dead heat conditions. Teacher went into the win column to the Teacher went into the win column tun of $5.20.

Dawson Goes To Cleveland In 4-Man Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns today traded Preston Carpenter and Junior Wren to the Pittsburgh Steelers for quarterback Len Dawson and offensive end Gern Nagler.

Dawson, an Alliance, Ohio, boy who played at Purdue, was the chief figure in the deal so far as the Cleveland club is concerned.

Paul Brown, coach and general manager, said, "We have always wanted to see what Dawson could do. We definitely are trying to improve our passing offense and this is the first step in that direction."

Cleveland's passer is Milt Plum, with Jim Ninowski as his understudy. Dawson has been with Pittsburgh three seasons. In Dawson's rookie year the Steelers depended on Earl Morral for the passing, and for the last two seasons Bobby Layne has dominated that assignment.

Carpenter was the Browns' first draft choice in 1956 and played halfback that year, becoming the team's leading ground gainer. For the past three years he has played offensive end. The Steelers may want to return him to the halfback job.

Wren is a defensive back, and may be needed as a replacement for Jack Butler, who was injured.

The Browns also announced the signing of William Fowler, former Northwestern University halfback, in their search for more speed for 1960.

Fowler, a Big Ten 100 - yard-dash champion, was signed as a free agent. He had been drafted early by the Philadelphia Eagles, but was cut before last season opened. He was with the College All-Stars last summer, so reported late to the Eagles. He was Northwestern's No. 1 running halfback.

The Browns also announced the signing of another sprinter, Homer Floyd, who played fullback at Kansas. The 180-pound Massillon, Ohio, boy was drafted by the Browns on a late round a year ago, but he decided to play professional football in Canada.

Coach Brown said he was thinking of using Floyd on defense.

Irish Fighters Mix At Garden

Tom McNeeley Jr., 22, unbeaten 200-pounder from Boston, takes on George Logan, 23, another newcomer from Boise, Idaho, in the 10-round feature match.

As usual, the main event will be carried on netowrk (NBC) radio and television, starting at 10 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds.

McNeeley, 22, is managed by Peter Fuller, son of the former governor of Massachusetts. He has been brought along carefully, winning all of his 15 fights, 13 by knockouts.

Logan's record for 14 fights is 12-1-1 but the list of opponents includes Ezzard Charles, whom he stopped in eight rounds July 30, and Hurricane Jackson, who beat him Sept. 3.

Parry O'Brien Awarded AAU Sullivan Trophy

NEW YORK (AP) — Parry O'Brien, the world king of shotputters, Thursday won the 1959 James E. Sullivan Amateur Athletic Union Memorial Trophy.

O'Brien was first choice on 176 of the 622 ballots cast by a nationwide tribunal of sports authorities, giving him 1,318 points. Tommy T. Kono of Honolulu, the 1952 Olympic 148-pound and 1956 Olympic 181 - pound weightlifting champion, was runnerup with 113 firsts and 976 points.

Chris Von Saltza of Santa Clara, Calif., who won five gold medals in swimming at the 1959 Pan-American Games, was third with 73 points and 710 points.

O'Brien holds the Olympic record in the shot at 60 feet, 11 inches, the current world mark of 63-2, and has a toss of 63-4 made Aug. 1 up for recognition.

O'Brien, who will be 28 next Jan. 28, is a Los Angeles banking executive and was graduated from the University of Southern California. He stands 6-3 and weighs 238 but is tremendously fast for a big man.

The Sullivan award is given to "the amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

O'Brien's citation stated that "duting his competition in the shot put and discus for the past 10 years, he has made many foreign tours to compete and help in clinics. He has aided the Olympic Fund by freely giving of his time to put in public appearances."

New Mexico Aggies Take Sun Bowl Tilt

By JIM IRWIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — New Mexico State's Aggies scored for three long distance touchdowns in the first half Thursday and upset North Texas State 28-8 in the 25th anniversary Sun Bowl football game.

North Texas State lost six fumbles—four within the New Mexico State 24.

Charley Johnson opened the scoring by throwing a 20-yard pass to halfback Pervis Atkins who went 27 yards to score. Bob Gaiters ran over for the conversion.

One play after the next kickoff, Eagle quarterback Bob Duty's pass was picked off on the North Texas 33 by New Mexico State end Bob Kelly. Kelly got back as far as the Eagle eight where he fumbled the ball into the end zone. But Aggie tackle Billy Ray Locklin fell on it to put New Mexico State ahead 14-0.

An attempt to run the conversion was stopped.

The Aggies drove 98 yards for their second quarter tally. Johnson passed to Kelly on the Eagle nine. Kelly stumbled over one defender and scored. The extra point was kicked for a 21-0 lead.

In the third period and a strong wind at their backs, the Aggies kicked on third down. Halfback Billy Christie took the punt on his own 49 and scampered for the only North Texas score. Duty threw the conversion pass to Arthur Perkins.

Wildlife Service Rejects Extension Of Duck Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service Thursday rejected proposals for extension of the duck hunting season in states which have large numbers of birds in contrast to the general pattern of shortage.

There had been suggestions for extended seasons particularly in Colorado, where the season closed Dec. 14, and in Texas where it closes Jan. 1.

Recently the service also ruled against an early closing of the season in areas where ducks are in short supply. The season varies in different areas but will be over in all states Jan. 8.

The service said that as a result of vagaries in migration, caused by weather and food supplies, it is not uncommon for the duck distribution pattern to shift from year to year.

'No Commitment' For Rematch Says Champ's Advisor

NEW YORK (AP)—Edwin Ahlquist, adviser of heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson, cabled the New York State Athletic Commission Thursday that no commitment had been made to any group for a return match with Floyd Patterson.

Ahlquist's cable said nothing would be decided until the champion had a chance to talk with the commission and the New York district attorney on his arrival in New York about Jan. 10.

Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the commission, issued a statement, pointing out that no commitment had been made to any group about the Johansson-Patterson promotion.

A group headed by Roy Cohn, New York lawyer, visited Johansson and Ahlquist Monday in Sweden and reported complete agreement on the rematch.

Midland Sportsmen To Hold Shoot Monday

Potters Pulled Big Upset In '59 . . .

Several surprises, individual achievements and all - out team efforts highlighted the 1959 sports picture in the district.

Most of the top sports stories were written from football, basketball and wrestling.

Rated as one of the year's biggest surprises was East Liverpool's 14-13 victory over Warren — together with the switching of the game to Warren. Not only did the game go down as an upset locally, but it was one of the biggest in the state.

The game took place Oct. 16. A week before Warren offered East Liverpool High School officials a chance to realize at least an additional $5,000 if the contest was switched to Warren.

Although the decision to move the game brought criticism from many Potter fans, the change was made.

As it turned out, the move proved more than successful. The game drew a crowd of 11,000 on a perfect football night and the Potters came home with a victory which boosted them into statewide recognition.

SHARING spotlight was Salem High's basketball team, which reached the state finals before bowing to powerful Cleveland East Tech.

The Quakers, under John Cabas, won 25 and lost only 2 games, with both setbacks coming at the hands of East Tech, one in regular season play and the other in the state finals.

And while on the subject of basketball, we can't forget Midland's battling to the semi-finals of the WPIAL tournament at Pittsburgh and the near riot which marked the final game at the Pitt Fieldhouse.

ELHS Changed Basketball Mentors

IN THE COACHING ranks, the resignation of John Karaffa and the eventual appointment of Jim Harris as East Liverpool's basketball coach was among the top stories in 1959.

Karaffa's departure followed a disappointing season, which saw the Potters only winning three games.

The appointment of Harris marked the return of one of East Liverpool's basketball greats. Harris was a first team All - Ohio selection when he starred for the Potters in the 1944-45 and 1945-46 seasons.

The year also saw John Petchel, the winningest football coach in the district, resign after nine years at Midland. His resignation brought to an end an outstanding coaching career.

LOOKING over individual performances, Carl Hoppel, of the famous Hoppel wrestling family, grabbed the spotlight when he became the first freshman ever to win a state wrestling crown.

Hoppel lost only one match during his first year on the Beaver Local wrestling squad and turned around to beat the same wrestler who defeated him to win the state title.

Another individual who grabbed his share of headlines was Bob Mackall, East Liverpool's quarterback, who eventually wound up on the second All - Ohio team.

IN TRACK, Warren Lincoln was an outstanding distance man for the Potters last spring. Lincoln set new school records in the mile and half - mile events.

Chester Had Great Record . . .

WHEN IT comes to team performances, Coach Dom Amedeo and his Chester Panthers deserve the honors.

Chester, playing a schedule which included many larger "AA" schools, posted a 9-1 mark, with the only loss coming at the hands of Wellsville.

Steve Chapko, Chester's outstanding tackle, was named to the second all - state team in West Virginia.

Another surprise during the season was the 7-3 record posted by East Liverpool. Lou Venditti and his staff turned in a fine job with the Potters.

THIS PAST football season saw two former high school gridders rise to fame on the college gridiron.

East Liverpool's Bernie Allen and Ivan Toncic of Midland quarterbacked Purdue and Pitt respectively.

Allen was remembered for his three touchdown passes that defeated Wisconsin and a late field goal that nipped Indiana.

Toncic had his day of days on the gridiron when he brought Pitt from three touchdowns behind by hurling four TD passes in an upset victory over UCLA.

Toncic's collegiate career was climaxed when he was named to the East squad for the annual East-West game which will be played at San Francisco on Saturday.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

DURING the holiday lull, the East Liverpool varsity has been scrimmaging former Potter cagers who are home from college.

The other day at Memorial Auditorium the ex-highs had some pretty good football talent on the court in Bernie Allen of Purdue fame and Jim Potts, Bowling Green quarterback.

Both Bernie and Jim were standouts in basketball at ELHS as well as outstanding quarterbacks.

THE EAST LIVERPOOL Potters, who started on the right foot with a victory in the opener, have fallen back to their old losing ways.

The losing string probably will continue Saturday night at Midland, when East Liverpool takes the floor against the much stronger Leopards.

We are picking Midland to win without too much trouble.

In two other games Saturday, we select Brilliant over Stanton Local in a close battle and Salem over Akron North.

SEVERAL FANS who watched Salem play Cleveland Latin feel that the Quakers are as strong or stronger than a year ago when they went to the state finals.

—:—

THE BLUE and White Nonpareil Club has been the first organization to show an interest in a holiday cage tournament here next year. We hope the interest mounts. It would be interesting to see a tournament here in 1960.

AT LEAST two East Liverpool people will see bowl games today. Potter football coach Lou Venditti has been in Miami, Fla., for the past week and will sit in on the Orange Bowl classic.

Lou, who is on a busman's holiday, also watched the North-South game at Miami last Saturday.

Bus Cartwright, local bowling alley proprietor, flew to New Orleans and will be on hand for the LSU-Mississippi clash.

—:—

WHILE Jim Harris is struggling to get East Liverpool back to its winning ways, Warrensville High, where he coached last year, has won seven straight games without a defeat.

Jim left a group of juniors at Warrensville, which compiled a 15-5 mark last season.

OUR SELECTIONS for the major bowl games follow: LSU over Mississippi.

Although the oddsmakers are favoring Ole Miss by 7 points, we feel Billy Cannon will explode again and pull it out for LSU.

The Orangemen of Syracuse get the nod in the Cotton Bowl. Texas may prove pesky for awhile, but we look for Syracuse to be on the long end of the score.

Out on the West coast, we are going against the experts again and picking Washington over favored Wisconsin. The Huskies have All - American quarterback Bob Schloredt, who is terrific, even though he only has one eye.

In the Orange Bowl, Georgia is a sound choice over Missouri.

Mississippi, LSU Cast In Game Of Day

By The Associated Press

National champion Syracuse bids for its first bowl victory, Wisconsin tries to save face with its Big Ten brethren, and the South gets a rematch of its "game of the year" Friday and Saturday in a power-packed climax to college football.

It's open season for the football buff with six major bowl games on national television in a total of nine postseason games expected to lure a total "in person" audience of nearly a half million.

Friday's schedule, with records, expected attendance, radio - TV coverage:

Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Syracuse (10-0) vs. Texas (9-1), 75,504, CBS TV, radio, 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—Wisconsin (7-2) vs. Washington (9-1), 100,295, NBC TV, radio, 5 p.m. (EST).

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Louisiana State (9-1) vs. Mississippi (9-1), 83,000, NBC TV, radio, 2 p.m. (EST).

Orange Bowl at Miami — Missouri (6-4) vs. Georgia (9-1), 76,500, CBS TV, radio, 1 p.m. (EST).

Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.—Presbyterian (9-1) vs. Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1), 12,000, 8:15 p.m. (EST).

Prairie View Bowl at Houston—Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wiley (Tex) (2-8), 18,000, 3 p.m. (EST).

Saturday's schedule:

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech (6-4), 42,000, CBS TV, 2 p.m. (EST.

East-West at San Francisco — All-Star teams, 60,000, NBC TV, radio, 5 p.m. (EST).

All-American at Tucson, Ariz.—Major college All-Stars vs. Small College All-stars, 24,000, 3:30 p.m. (EST).

Having corralled the top four teams in the final Associated Press poll, the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl have the choice games of the New Year's Day program.

Top-ranked Syracuse could get its severest test from a blazing fast Texas team that was rated No. 4 in the nation.

Syracuse is a 13-point favorite over Texas in its bid to wipe out the stigma of three previous bowl losses.

The Sugar Bowl meeting of Mississippi and LSU brings back the No. 2 and No. 3 teams nationally for a rematch of a Halloween game which LSU won 7-3.

The Sugar Bowl matches two members of the All - America backfield — LSU's Billy Cannon and Mississippi's big fullback, Charlie Flowers. Mississippi is a 7-point pick.

Wisconsin's job against Washington is to try to make up for the only loss a Big Ten team has suffered in the Rose Bowl since the conference tie-up with the West Coast in 1947. The 1953 Badgers lost to Southern California 7-0. Washington's All-America quarterback, Bob Schloredt, duels with clutch-working Dale Hackbart, the Badger quarterback, in this one which finds Wisconsin the touchdown choice.

Georgia, which won the Southeastern Conference title, rates 12 points over Missouri, the four times beaten Big Eight Conference runner-up.

No Basketball But Swedes To Celebrate

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—A Swedish basketball team, its tour blacklisted by the AAU, had its choice of New Year's Eve parties Thursday night, but no basketball game.

The Swedes were to have played Lenoir Rhyne College here. The game was called off by college officials who said they did not want to risk the amateur standing of the players.

The Swedes were invited to parties at two country clubs here and at the Elk and Moose clubs. The 10 players have been staying in the Lenoir Rhyne Gymnasium living quarters.

The players leave Friday, for New York.

Their tour was denied sanction by AAU chief Dan Ferris, who said the tour was arranged by Jim McGregor of Portland, Ore., instead of through AAU channels. Ferris called McGregor a professional promoter. McGregor denied he made the arrangements.

Midland To Rate Big Edge

The Midland Leopards are heavy favorites to win their 10th game of the season when East Liverpool invades the Lincoln High gym Saturday night.

The Potters will be jumping into the lion's den when they meet the tall and win-happy Leopards. The varsity contest will get under way about 8, preceeded by a reserve game at 6:45.

Mel Laing, faculty manager at Midland, said tickets will be sold at the door and that an ample supply would be on hand. Reserve seat tickets will be $1 and general admission 75 cents. No tickets are being sold in East Liverpool.

Never in the last four years that these schools have met has Midland been so heavily favored.

Leopards Gunning For 10th Over EL

Fresh from winning the Ford City tournament, Midland will put an impressive 9-1 record on the line Saturday night.

On the other hand, the road-weary Potters, who will be playing away for the fourth consecutive game, will carry a 1-3 mark to Midland.

After winning their opener over Alliance, the Potters turned cold in the shooting department and have dropped three straight.

Coach Jim Harris, in his first year at his alma mater, will stick with the same lineup that started against Canton McKinley.

In that game, Phil Chan was moved up to a first team berth and will be in the starting five again Saturday night. Chan replaced Kenny Miller.

Kenny Cunningham will be at the other guard spot, Ray Bigelow at center and Craig Burbick and Bob Mackall at forwards.

After the lone victory over Alliance, East Liverpool has dropped successive games to Wellsville, Warren and McKinley.

Meanwhile, the high-flying Leopards of Coach George Hamilton have only tasted defeat once this year, that at the hands of New Castle. Midland dropped a 61-53 decision there last Saturday night.

Since the lone defeat, the Leopards have started a new winning string by knocking off North Braddock Scott and Ford City in the holiday tournament earlier this week.

Midland will have a height advantage. The Potters have two six-footers, in Ray Bigelow, 6-foot-6, and Craig Burbick, 6-foot-2½, but Midland shows three well over the six-foot mark.

Hamilton probably will start the same five he has depended on most of the way. It will show big Movie Smith, 6-foot-4, Gene Lake, 6-foot-3, and the tallest man of the starters, Steve Yetso, 6-foot-5.

Rounding out the first five will be steady Carl Anderson, 6-foot, and Don Migliore, 5-foot-7, the playmaker of the outfit.

Midland will be shooting for its third straight victory over East Liverpool.

Last year's game was a lopsided affair which found Midland running up a 57-35 count. The 1958 game ended in Midland's favor, 58-48.

East Liverpool's last victory came in 1957, 77-64 edge.

Judges Pull 'Big Switch' At Tropical

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It was a "human error" when Tropical Park judges reversed their decision on the winner of Wednesday's sixth race after many winning tickets had been discarded, some in fragments.

This was the judgment of John Ring, chairman of the Florida State Racing Commission, after a hastily called closed huddle Thursday with officials of the Miami race track.

Shortly after the race, Deemster was named official winner in a photo finish. An hour later, it was announced that Teacher and Deemster had finished in a dead heat.

The change in signals sent anguished backers of Teacher into a scramble for their discarded tickets, suddenly as good as gold. Some scuffles broke out as castaway Teacher tickets became fair game for all the 10,845 fans.

Responding quickly to the uproar, Ring went to Tropical Thursday for a session with owner Saul Silberman, judges and other officials.

After the huddle, Ring said the judges at first had decided unanimously that Deemster won. Later, after studying the film, they agreed there had been a dead heat.

Ring said Silberman "leaned over backwards to be fair to the bettors.

"He could have let the original decision stand and there would have been no trouble at all," Ring commented.

Teacher's backers who tore up their tickets will have a chance to get their money back. Forms are being prepared and complants may be filed up to Jan. 10, at which time they will be considered.

The change in decision, a rarity in racing, was made just before the ninth and final race. Deemster nose players already had collected $6 for 2, or about $2.50 more than they would have under dead heat conditions. Techer went into the win ve2ON TO under dead heat conditions. Teacher went into the win column to the Teacher went into the win column tun of $5.20.

Dawson Goes To Cleveland In 4-Man Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns today traded Preston Carpenter and Junior Wren to the Pittsburgh Steelers for quarterback Len Dawson and offensive end Gern Nagler.

Dawson, an Alliance, Ohio, boy who played at Purdue, was the chief figure in the deal so far as the Cleveland club is concerned.

Paul Brown, coach and general manager, said, "We have always wanted to see what Dawson could do. We definitely are trying to improve our passing offense and this is the first step in that direction."

Cleveland's passer is Milt Plum, with Jim Ninowski as his understudy. Dawson has been with Pittsburgh three seasons. In Dawson's rookie year the Steelers depended on Earl Morral for the passing, and for the last two seasons Bobby Layne has dominated that assignment.

Carpenter was the Browns' first draft choice in 1956 and played halfback that year, becoming the team's leading ground gainer. For the past three years he has played offensive end. The Steelers may want to return him to the halfback job.

Wren is a defensive back, and may be needed as a replacement for Jack Butler, who was injured.

The Browns also announced the signing of William Fowler, former Northwestern University halfback, in their search for more speed for 1960.

Fowler, a Big Ten 100 - yard-dash champion, was signed as a free agent. He had been drafted early by the Philadelphia Eagles, but was cut before last season opened. He was with the College All-Stars last summer, so reported late to the Eagles. He was Northwestern's No. 1 running halfback.

The Browns also announced the signing of another sprinter, Homer Floyd, who played fullback at Kansas. The 180-pound Massillon, Ohio, boy was drafted by the Browns on a late round a year ago, but he decided to play professional football in Canada.

Coach Brown said he was thinking of using Floyd on defense.

Irish Fighters Mix At Garden

Tom McNeeley Jr., 22, unbeaten 200-pounder from Boston, takes on George Logan, 23, another newcomer from Boise, Idaho, in the 10-round feature match.

As usual, the main event will be carried on netowrk (NBC) radio and television, starting at 10 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds.

McNeeley, 22, is managed by Peter Fuller, son of the former governor of Massachusetts. He has been brought along carefully, winning all of his 15 fights, 13 by knockouts.

Logan's record for 14 fights is 12-1-1 but the list of opponents includes Ezzard Charles, whom he stopped in eight rounds July 30, and Hurricane Jackson, who beat him Sept. 3.

City Shares In Bright Prospects

Like the rest of the nation, East Liverpool looks forward to higher levels of business and employment in 1960 — mainly because of a pent-up demand for steel and new autos that accumulated in the long strike that marked the last half of 1959.

The local area can look forward to a year of comparative prosperity, particularly in the first six months. It's part of the mainstream of American business and industry, so the area's fortunes cannot become much better or much worse than those in the rest of the nation.

Early 1960 is expected to see final settlement of the steel strike, releasing a surge in the economy because of the demand for the basic metal. A pent-up market for new autos also is expected to give the economy a strong shot in the arm.

ALTHOUGH IT had ups and downs in 1959, the district's dinnerware industry experienced a comparatively good level of employment and production last year. The industry is looking ahead to 1960 markets, preparing to show its lines for the new year at the second annual Atlantic City China & Glass Show opening Sunday.

Prosperity for the steel industry and its employes means a good year for East Liverpool, because thousands of area residents are employed at Midland and Weirton plants.

Steel is expected to lead the way in a "burst of activity" in the first half of 1960, according to the majority of the nation's leading economists. Their predictions for the last half of the new year are not so firm, but most expect the levels of employment, industrial production and retail trade to continue comparatively high for the full 12 months.

With long-term buying power assured again, workers in the basic steel industry will be on the market for major purchases that they deferred during the strike and the Taft-Hartley "truce."

THE OVERALL picture of business and industrial activity was brighter in the first 11 months of 1959 than in the comparable period of 1958.

Of 13 indices surveyed monthly by the Chamber of Commerce, 9 showed gains and 4 registered declines.

One of the brightest spots was in payrolls of 11 district industrial plants, where wages were up by $694,575, compared with the first 11 months of 1958.

Despite the crippling effect of a 23-day pottery strike in late spring, followed by a steel strike that continued into November, the 11 plants paid out $12,372,457 in wages, up 5.9 per cent from the $11,677,882 shown at the same time last year.

But payrolls fell off sharply between October and November. The plants paid out $1,050,759 in November, a decline of 20 per cent from the $1,312,889 their workers were paid in October.

EMPLOYMENT AT the same 11 plants remained virtually stationary in 1959. The concerns showed an average of 4,061 workers each month in the first 11 months of 1959, down 287 from the monthly average of 4,348 shown at the same time in 1958.

Gains also were shown in bank clearings and debits, postal receipts, inbound and outbound railroad carloadings, river traffic and new car registrations. There also was a decline in the city's relief case load. Indices that fell off in comparison of the two years were sales tax receipts, river tonnage and parking meter receipts.

Always an index of comparative prosperity, new car registrations in Columbiana County hit 3,170 in the first 11 months of 1959, up 33.3 per cent from the 2,378 shown at the same time in the preceding year. They fell to 196 in November, off 11.4 per cent from the 323 shown in October.

USED CAR SALES totaled 8,706 for the first 11 months of 1959, but no comparative figure is available for the same time in 1958. They hit 520 in November, off 25.7 per cent from the 700 shown in October.

The city's relief case load averaged 93 monthly through November, down 9.7 per cent from the 103 monthly average shown at the same time in 1958. The case load fell from 121 in October to 119 in November, a chance of 1.7 per cent.

Inbound railroad carloadings hit 3,416 for the first 11 months of 1959, up 25.9 per cent from the 2,712 shown at the same time in 1958. They totaled 284 in November, a gain of 1.8 per cent from the 279 shown in October.

Outboard carloadings totaled 2,897 through November, an increase of 11.2 per cent from the 2,605 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit 283 in November, an increase of 39.4 per cent over the 203 registered in October.

The river traffic represented 14,468,705 tons in the first 11 months of the year, off 2.6 per cent from the 14,855,075 tons shown at the same time in 1958. November tonnage was 1,144,100, a gain of 28.5 per cent over October's 890,300.

The city's parking meter receipts totaled $51,693 in the first 11 months of 1959, off 11.5 per cent from the $58,410 shown at the same time in 1958. They totaled $3,139 in November, down 45.8 per cent from October's $5,795.

Sales tax receipts totaled $560,735 for the first 11 months of the year, off 2.3 per cent from the $573,664 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit $37,999 in November, off 13.7 per cent from the $44,023 shown in October.

POSTAL receipts totaled $240,209 in the first 11 months of 1959, up 26.5 per cent from the $189,858 shown at the same time in 1958. They totaled $46,462 in November, up 118 per cent from October's $21,274.

Bank debits averaged $21,796,024 monthly through November, an increase of 3.8 per cent from the $21,001,456 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit $20,176,064 in November, off 6.8 per cent from the $21,653,409 shown in October.

Bank clearings totaled $36,259,187 in the first 11 months of the year, a gain of 4.1 per cent from the $34,834,133 shown at the same time in 1958. They reached $3,156,529 in November, down 4 per cent from the $3,290,463 shown in October.

Street Trucks Will Remove Yule Trees Starting Monday

The street department's annual roundup of discarded Christmas trees will open Monday morning at 7, continuing through Friday, Supt. W. M. Laughlin said Thursday afternoon.

The collection will follow the same route as the incinerator department's trash pickups, but it will cover in one day the streets the trash trucks service in two, Laughlin pointed out.

The trucks generally pick up 7,000 discarded evergreens — enough to represent one for each household in the city. Trees will be burned as quickly as they are collected, so that there will be no big accumulation for a single huge blaze, Laughlin said.

Trees rounded up in the downtown area will be burned in a big, vacant tract off Claiborne St. and those collected in East End will be burned on an empty lot off Pennsylvania Ave. near Oakland.

Householders should place the trees at the property line, either at the front or rear of their homes, Laughlin said. As trucks begin their rounds at 7 in the morning, householders should place the trees outside the night before a scheduled collection to assure they will not be missed, he cautioned.

The collection will be launched in East End, covering these streets Monday: Ohio Ave., St. George St., Railroad St., Kent St., State St., Mulberry St., 1st Ave., Virginia Ave., Mapletree St., Elmtree St., Pennsylvania Ave., Boyce St., Monaca St., Harker Ave., Erie St.

Globe St., Eturia St., Cleveland Ave., Palissey St., Wedgewood St., Holliday St., Park Ave., Alpha St., Oakland Ave., Price St., Valley Ave., Elizabeth St., Putnam St., Harvey Ave., Ohio Ave., Michigan Ave. and Little England.

On Tuesday, the collection will cover: E. 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th Sts., Broadway, Walnut St., Elm St., College St., Sugar St., Thompson Ave., Vine St., Blakeley St., Ravine St., Fawcett St., Bradshaw Ave., Ambrose Ave., Huston Ave., Laurel Alley, Bank St., Chester Ave., Riley Ave., Minerva St., Illinois Ave. and Oak St.

The schedule for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be announced as the work advances, Laughlin said.

Gov. Hodges Approves Cheers For Negro Stars

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Luther Hodges commented approvingly Thursday on applause which a crowd at the Dixie Basketball Classic gave to two Negro players Wednesday night.

The applause came while the University of Utah team members were presented trophies for winning the tournament consolation title.

Hodges said Utah's two Negro players were applauded "because they played good basketball."

NFL Slates Vote On Miami And Dallas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The National Football League will vote on adding Miami and Dallas to its membership at a meeting in Miami Beach Jan. 20, the Miami News said Thursday.

"The main reason these two cities will get first choice is because of their excellent facilities —the Orange and Cotton bowls," sports editor Ed O'Neil said he was told by a reliable NFL source.

Olympic Site Has Snow

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)— Squaw Valley, site of the Winter Olympics Feb. 18-28, was carpeted with eight inches of snow Thursday and a light snow was falling. Officials said much more would be needed to make conditions ideal.

Longest punt return in the Big Ten Conference last season was turned in by Darrell Harper of Michigan. He went 83 yards against Minnesota.

'Big O' Running Away In Cage Points Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's two-time All-America star, is making a runaway of the individual scoring race in major college basketball competition.

Big O set an ECAC Holiday Festival record in Madison Square Garden by scoring 122 points in three games as Cincinnati won the championship. In the final against Iowa Wednesday night he scored 50 points.

The 6-5 Cincinnati ace has tallied 375 points in nine winning games this season for an average of 41.7. Only one other player, Jim Darrow of Bowling Green is up to the 30-point level. Darrow has 242 in eight games for a 30.3 average.

Resigns Temple Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Stevens resigned Thursday as head football coach at Temple University. He had been head coach since 1956. His over-all record at Temple was 4 victories and 28 defeats, including the loss of the team's last 19 games.

U.S. May Balance Budget Despite Long Steel Strike

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration still may be able to achieve a balanced budget in the current bookkeeping year, despite the economic blow of the 116-day steel strike.

Officials close to budget affairs indicated Thursday that even if the government's finances slide into the red, the deficit will not be anywhere near as big as they had feared possible early last month.

Before a court injunction halted the steel walkout last November there were signs of a deficit approaching 500 million dollars in the 1960 fiscal year which ends next June 30.

Now, however, one official said he wouldn't want to bet either way on the possibility that the fiscal 1960 budget will be in the black.

If the administration can achieve a surplus, this would represent a political windfall in the 1960 election year. Since President Eisenhower is expected to predict a substantial surplus for the following fiscal year, it could mean two balanced budgets in a row.

The next official statement on the outlook presumably won't come until Jan. 18 when Eisenhower presents his fiscal 1961 budget to Congress.

The abrupt shift in the fiscal 1960 prospects reflects the apparent fact that the administration's earlier estimates of he steel strike's impact on revenues were too pessimistic.

Treasury officials hinted at this Wednesday when they disclosed they will borrow 500 million dollars less in January than they had originally expected.

They said they had been prepared for certain "adverse contingencies" which failed to develop. They apparently referred to the steel strike's effects.

Tax receipts have been helped by a quick recovery from the mild economic slump caused by the steel strike. This recovery was pointed up by a Federal Reserve Board statement this week. The board said production advanced sharply in December to a level close to the record highs of May and June.

Besides being helped by the recovery, revenues probably didn't suffer as much as expected during the strike itself. The Commerce Department for instance, has revised upward its personal income estimates for both September and October and reported a record total for November.

In the voting for members of the National Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico, Earl Sande was elected in 1955 with 571 votes, the largest number in the history of the balloting.

Folley Offered Bout

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bill Swift, manager of second-ranked heavyweight contender Zora Folley, Thursday said his fighter had been offered a January bout in West Jordan, Utah, against third-ranked Sonny Liston. Swift said he would like to accept the 10-round bout but would have to have a release from a Jan. 18 bout in San Francisco against Eddie Machen.

City Shares In Bright Prospects

Like the rest of the nation, East Liverpool looks forward to higher levels of business and employment in 1960 — mainly because of a pent-up demand for steel and new autos that accumulated in the long strike that marked the last half of 1959.

The local area can look forward to a year of comparative prosperity, particularly in the first six months. It's part of the mainstream of American business and industry, so the area's fortunes cannot become much better or much worse than those in the rest of the nation.

Early 1960 is expected to see final settlement of the steel strike, releasing a surge in the economy because of the demand for the basic metal. A pent-up market for new autos also is expected to give the economy a strong shot in the arm.

ALTHOUGH IT had ups and downs in 1959, the district's dinnerware industry experienced a comparatively good level of employment and production last year. The industry is looking ahead to 1960 markets, preparing to show its lines for the new year at the second annual Atlantic City China & Glass Show opening Sunday.

Prosperity for the steel industry and its employes means a good year for East Liverpool, because thousands of area residents are employed at Midland and Weirton plants.

Steel is expected to lead the way in a "burst of activity" in the first half of 1960, according to the majority of the nation's leading economists. Their predictions for the last half of the new year are not so firm, but most expect the levels of employment, industrial production and retail trade to continue comparatively high for the full 12 months.

With long-term buying power assured again, workers in the basic steel industry will be on the market for major purchases that they deferred during the strike and the Taft-Hartley "truce."

THE OVERALL picture of business and industrial activity was brighter in the first 11 months of 1959 than in the comparable period of 1958.

Of 13 indices surveyed monthly by the Chamber of Commerce, 9 showed gains and 4 registered declines.

One of the brightest spots was in payrolls of 11 district industrial plants, where wages were up by $694,575, compared with the first 11 months of 1958.

Despite the crippling effect of a 23-day pottery strike in late spring, followed by a steel strike that continued into November, the 11 plants paid out $12,372,457 in wages, up 5.9 per cent from the $11,677,882 shown at the same time last year.

But payrolls fell off sharply between October and November. The plants paid out $1,050,759 in November, a decline of 20 per cent from the $1,312,889 their workers were paid in October.

EMPLOYMENT AT the same 11 plants remained virtually stationary in 1959. The concerns showed an average of 4,061 workers each month in the first 11 months of 1959, down 287 from the monthly average of 4,348 shown at the same time in 1958.

Gains also were shown in bank clearings and debits, postal receipts, inbound and outbound railroad carloadings, river traffic and new car registrations. There also was a decline in the city's relief case load. Indices that fell off in comparison of the two years were sales tax receipts, river tonnage and parking meter receipts.

Always an index of comparative prosperity, new car registrations in Columbiana County hit 3,170 in the first 11 months of 1959, up 33.3 per cent from the 2,378 shown at the same time in the preceding year. They fell to 196 in November, off 11.4 per cent from the 323 shown in October.

'Big O' Running Away In Cage Points Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's two-time All-America star, is making a runaway of the individual scoring race in major college basketball competition.

Big O set an ECAC Holiday Festival record in Madison Square Garden by scoring 122 points in three games as Cincinnati won the championship. In the final against Iowa Wednesday night he scored 50 points.

The 6-5 Cincinnati ace has tallied 375 points in nine winning games this season for an average of 41.7. Only one other player, Jim Darrow of Bowling Green is up to the 30-point level. Darrow has 242 in eight games for a 30.3 average.

Resigns Temple Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Stevens resigned Thursday as head football coach at Temple University. He had been head coach since 1956. His over-all record at Temple was 4 victories and 28 defeats, including the loss of the team's last 19 games.

U.S. May Balance Budget Despite Long Steel Strike

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration still may be able to achieve a balanced budget in the current bookkeeping year, despite the economic blow of the 116-day steel strike.

Officials close to budget affairs indicated Thursday that even if the government's finances slide into the red, the deficit will not be anywhere near as big as they had feared possible early last month.

Before a court injunction halted the steel walkout last November there were signs of a deficit approaching 500 million dollars in the 1960 fiscal year which ends next June 30.

Now, however, one official said he wouldn't want to bet either way on the possibility that the fiscal 1960 budget will be in the black.

If the administration can achieve a surplus, this would represent a political windfall in the 1960 election year. Since President Eisenhower is expected to predict a substantial surplus for the following fiscal year, it could mean two balanced budgets in a row.

The next official statement on the outlook presumably won't come until Jan. 18 when Eisenhower presents his fiscal 1961 budget to Congress.

The abrupt shift in the fiscal 1960 prospects reflects the apparent fact that the administration's earlier estimates of he steel strike's impact on revenues were too pessimistic.

Treasury officials hinted at this Wednesday when they disclosed they will borrow 500 million dollars less in January than they had originally expected.

They said they had been prepared for certain "adverse contingencies" which failed to develop. They apparently referred to the steel strike's effects.

Tax receipts have been helped by a quick recovery from the mild economic slump caused by the steel strike. This recovery was pointed up by a Federal Reserve Board statement this week. The board said production advanced sharply in December to a level close to the record highs of May and June.

Besides being helped by the recovery, revenues probably didn't suffer as much as expected during the strike itself. The Commerce Department for instance, has revised upward its personal income estimates for both September and October and reported a record total for November.

In the voting for members of the National Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico, Earl Sande was elected in 1955 with 571 votes, the largest number in the history of the balloting.

Folley Offered Bout

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bill Swift, manager of second-ranked heavyweight contender Zora Folley, Thursday said his fighter had been offered a January bout in West Jordan, Utah, against third-ranked Sonny Liston. Swift said he would like to accept the 10-round bout but would have to have a release from a Jan. 18 bout in San Francisco against Eddie Machen.

U.S. Files Suit Against Sohio In Bid To Block Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department filed suit Thursday seeking to prevent the Standard Oil Company (Ohio) from acquiring the properties and assets of Leonard Refineries Inc. of Alma, Mich.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the suit in Federal District Court, Detroit, asks an injunction pending a determination on the merits of the issues raised in the antitrust suit.

Standard of Ohio and Leonard Refineries made an agreement Oct. 12 under which all the properties and assets of Leonard would be transferred to Sohio.

The Justice Department complaint contends this may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in violation of the Clayton Act.

Sohio is one of the larger integrated companies in the petroleum industry.

The Justice Department said Leonard is the largest independent petroleum company in Michigan.

The complaint said the effect of Sohio's proposed acquisition of Leonard would be to eliminate competition between them and enhance Sohio's competitive advantage over smaller competitors in Michigan.

Luck Of The Draw Against Ohio Soldier

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Just the luck of the draw, Army officials explained Thursday in announcing that a Willoughby, Ohio, soldier won't be celebrating New Year's eve.

The soldier's name came up, under the regular roster rotation, for assignment as charge of quarters for Company C at the Army chemical center here.

The name: Specialist 4C Raymond W. Newyear.

Wide Variety Of New Ware To Be Shown

of them using color inside the cups and on the hollow ware.

The patterns have been named "Serenade," "Allure," "Evening Song," "Garden Magic," "Lucerne," "Breath 'o Spring" and "Pink Dogwood."

Two new gold stamp patterns will be shown on the established "Accent" shape. On its "Four Seasons" casual china, Knowles will show four new patterns that continue the colors in the cups and on the outside of the hollow ware.

The new patterns on "Four Seasons" are called "Reflection," "Modern Classic," "Leaf Dance" and "Golden Foliage."

THE COLORS Knowles will feature include burnt orange, green and blue.

"We feel this is one of the best lines we've brought out in years," W. D. Christopher, sales manager, commented.

The new patterns were "tested" in eight or nine major cities in advance showings to buyers representing all types of retail outlets — small, medium and large. Knowles said it probably is the first time in the history of the local dinnerware industry that new shapes and patterns have been shown on an organized basis to buyers in advance, complete with arrangements for recording their reactions.

The ware was shown to the buyers individually — in their own stores and offices. Based on their comments and reactions, Knowles officials selected the ware that will be shown at Atlantic City.

Harker's will feature its new "Shellridge" translucent china, the culmination of at least six months of work. The ware is being produced on the company's new automatic jigger and as a result the firm said it will be able to promise buyers delivery within 30 days.

NORMALLY, a dinnerware producer cannot promise delivery until April, May or June for a new line exhibited in January.

The automatic jigger has been turning out the translucent china in the last few weeks and a few shipments have been made.

The "Shellridge" patterns are named "Forest Flower," "Leaf Swirl," "Forever Yours" and "Garden Trail."

A new engobe color called "Brown Sugar" will be used for three new patterns with Harker's exclusive engraved process. Used on a plain coupe earthenware shape, the patterns are called "Country Charm," "Daisy Dance" and "Regal."

In its "Stone China" line, the firm will add a new decorated pattern called "Kimberly."

Harker's also will show for the first time a series of six "cook and serve" translucent china prepackaged gift items. They include a 2-quart casserole with metal frame, a 14-inch diameter "chip 'n dip" bowl that can be used for shrimp, potato chips or other food items and also doubles for flower and fruit arrangements; a sauce boat; a divided vegetable or candy server and a set of 4 beverage mugs.

HALL'S showing its usual large line of teapots, also will introduce a new line of "Vintage" cookingware. The eight-piece line is produced in two colors, white and lemon. It includes tea pots, casseroles, bowl sets and other cookingware pieces which the consumer may buy as a matched set or individual items.

Three new patterns will be shown on a new shape on "Hallcraft," the dinnerware produced by Hall's and distributed by the Midhurst China Co. of Los Angeles.

The new shape is described as "antique," featuring a dead white glaze over a pink body. Hallcraft introduced a traditional shape and patterns last year, a change from the modern treatment used on the ware when it first was introduced about five years ago.

TST WILL introduce a new blue pattern, called "Rhapsody," on the "Taylorton" casual china line which it showed for the first time last year.

In its "Ever Yours" line of underglaze decal decorations, TST will show two new patterns. They are "Autumn Harvest" and a provincial motif called "Break 'o Day."

TST said it will continue to build its department store merchandising around the 53-piece "Invitation" sets which it brought out about 18 months ago. The sets are unique in that they include a number of accessory pieces not usually sold with the usual dinnerware set.

TST's national advertising refers to the accessory pieces as the "magic ten" items used in general living and entertaining.

She Has Word Of Rest For A Worried Border

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Edna Snedden, telephone operator at a hotel, received a call on the house telephone. The caller was a lad from a boy's ranch in Texas.

"Ma'am," the small voice asked, "do we have to make our own beds?"

Mrs. Snedden explained the maids make the beds, providing what may have been the high point of the boy's trip.

Idleness Claims Drop

Employment Outlook Good

Despite the lengthy, crippling steel strike which affected hundreds directly or indirectly in the Tri-State area, the employment picture in the East Liverpool district is somewhat brighter than it was a year ago.

Mrs. Mary Jane Frontone, acting manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office, reported in a yearend summary that new claims for unemployment benefits declined 40 per cent and the number of continuing claims dropped 49 per cent.

THE FIGURES indicated the area covered by the office made a comeback after a slump in business activity in 1958 sent claims soaring to a five-year high.

The average weekly number of new claims filed last year was 74, the lowest since 1956, Mrs. Frontone said. The average in 1957 was 88 and it boomed to 125 in 1958.

Included in the average last year were six new claims filed weekly under Ohio's extended benefits program, which has been ended, she said.

Continued claims dropped to an average of 406 weekly, including 48 filed for extended benefits, after reaching a peak of 790 in 1958.

The high period for both new and continued claims was the week ending Jan. 10, Mrs. Frontone continued. In that week, the average number of new claims was 196 while 679 continued claims were filed.

—:—

JANUARY GENERALLY is high, she explained, because of layoffs of extra Christmas help and a decline in construction. Adding to last year's seasonal layoffs was the bitter cold spell which virtually halted all outside work.

The lowest number of new claims was filed in the week ending May 16 with only 28 while the low period for continued claims was the 192 received in the week ending June 13.

Last year also saw a drop in the average number seeking work each month. Mrs. Frontone said there were 216 new people seeking jobs each month while the average, including carryovers, was 857.

The monthly average in 1958 was a whopping 1,450 while in 1957 it was 708.

In contrast, the number of job openings rose from 742 in 1958 to 930 last year, she said.

THE TOTAL NUMBER of placements through the office last year was 692 with virtually no seasonal agricultural jobs being filled, she said. The total included 23 agricultural workers and 35 handicapped persons.

The season agricultural jobs, such as berry and apple pickers, apparently were taken by idled steel workers, Mrs. Frontone said, with only a very few calls from farmers asking for seasonal help during harvests.

In 1958, the placements were 883, including 283 hired for agricultural work. In other years, calls for agricultural help kept the office busy in the peak months. For example, in 1956, 1,891 agricultural placements were made and in 1957 the total was 1,740.

The office counseled 727 people last year and conducted tests for 605. In 1958, 764 were counseled and 533 were tested, she concluded.

He'll Call Dog Out Next Time For Chow

He'll Call Dog Out 14 time

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The next time Dick Davidson of Shelby feeds his dog, he'll call him out of the doghouse first.

Davidson, 38, was treated at a hospital here for bite wounds in the forearm. He told attendants that he stuck his arm into his dog's house and was bitten — by a visiting raccoon.

West Virginia Candidate Taken By Heart Attack

FAIRMONT (AP) — A former state official died of a heart attack Thursday shortly after his candidacy for the Marion County Court was announced in the morning newspaper.

Howard E. Woodward, 77, was stricken at his home and died about 2:15 a. m. He had just returned home from downtown, where he had listened to a radio broadcast of the West Virginia University — California basketball game in Los Angeles. It did not begin until midnight (EST).

The Thursday morning Fairmont Times had been on the street about an hour carrying Woodward's announcement that he would seek nomination for the county court in the primary election next May.

Woodward, who was retired, was a former deputy director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs. He also had represented Marion County for one term in the House of Delegates, to which he was elected in 1934.

A widow survives.

U.S. Files Suit Against Sohio In Bid To Block Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department filed suit Thursday seeking to prevent the Standard Oil Company (Ohio) from acquiring the properties and assets of Leonard Refineries Inc. of Alma, Mich.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the suit in Federal District Court, Detroit, asks an injunction pending a determination on the merits of the issues raised in the antitrust suit.

Standard of Ohio and Leonard Refineries made an agreement Oct. 12 under which all the properties and assets of Leonard would be transferred to Sohio.

The Justice Department complaint contends this may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in violation of the Clayton Act.

Sohio is one of the larger integrated companies in the petroleum industry.

The Justice Department said Leonard is the largest independent petroleum company in Michigan.

The complaint said the effect of Sohio's proposed acquisition of Leonard would be to eliminate competition between them and enhance Sohio's competitive advantage over smaller competitors in Michigan.

Luck Of The Draw Against Ohio Soldier

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Just the luck of the draw, Army officials explained Thursday in announcing that a Willoughby, Ohio, soldier won't be celebrating New Year's eve.

The soldier's name came up, under the regular roster rotation, for assignment as charge of quarters for Company C at the Army chemical center here.

The name: Specialist 4C Raymond W. Newyear.

Wide Variety Of New Ware To Be Shown

The patterns have been named "Serenade," "Allure," "Evening Song," "Garden Magic," "Lucerne," "Breath 'o Spring" and "Pink Dogwood."

Two new gold stamp patterns will be shown on the established "Accent" shape. On its "Four Seasons" casual china, Knowles will show four new patterns that continue the colors in the cups and on the outside of the hollow ware.

The new patterns on "Four Seasons" are called "Reflection," "Modern Classic," "Leaf Dance" and "Golden Foliage."

THE COLORS Knowles will feature include burnt orange, green and blue.

"We feel this is one of the best lines we've brought out in years," W. D. Christopher, sales manager, commented.

The new patterns were "tested" in eight or nine major cities in advance showings to buyers representing all types of retail outlets — small, medium and large. Knowles said it probably is the first time in the history of the local dinnerware industry that new shapes and patterns have been shown on an organized basis to buyers in advance, complete with arrangements for recording their reactions.

The ware was shown to the buyers individually — in their own stores and offices. Based on their comments and reactions, Knowles officials selected the ware that will be shown at Atlantic City.

Harker's will feature its new "Shellridge" translucent china, the culmination of at least six months of work. The ware is being produced on the company's new automatic jigger and as a result the firm said it will be able to promise buyers delivery within 30 days.

NORMALLY, a dinnerware producer cannot promise delivery until April, May or June for a new line exhibited in January.

The automatic jigger has been turning out the translucent china in the last few weeks and a few shipments have been made.

The "Shellridge" patterns are named "Forest Flower," "Leaf Swirl," "Forever Yours" and "Garden Trail."

A new engobe color called "Brown Sugar" will be used for three new patterns with Harker's exclusive engraved process. Used on a plain coupe earthenware shape, the patterns are called "Country Charm," "Daisy Dance" and "Regal."

In its "Stone China" line, the firm will add a new decorated pattern called "Kimberly."

Harker's also will show for the first time a series of six "cook and serve" translucent china prepackaged gift items. They include a 2-quart casserole with metal frame, a 14-inch diameter "chip 'n dip" bowl that can be used for shrimp, potato chips or other food items and also doubles for flower and fruit arrangements; a sauce boat; a divided vegetable or candy server and a set of 4 beverage mugs.

HALL'S showing its usual large line of teapots, also will introduce a new line of "Vintage" cookingware. The eight-piece line is produced in two colors, white and lemon. It includes tea pots, casseroles, bowl sets and other cookingware pieces which the consumer may buy as a matched set or individual items.

Three new patterns will be shown on a new shape on "Hallcraft," the dinnerware produced by Hall's and distributed by the Midhurst China Co. of Los Angeles.

The new shape is described as "antique," featuring a dead white glaze over a pink body. Hallcraft introduced a traditional shape and patterns last year, a change from the modern treatment used on the ware when it first was introduced about five years ago.

TST WILL introduce a new blue pattern, called "Rhapsody," on the "Taylorton" casual china line which it showed for the first time last year.

In its "Ever Yours" line of underglaze decal decorations, TST will show two new patterns. They are "Autumn Harvest" and a provincial motif called "Break 'o Day."

TST said it will continue to build its department store merchandising around the 53-piece "Invitation" sets which it brought out about 18 months ago. The sets are unique in that they include a number of accessory pieces not usually sold with the usual dinnerware set.

TST's national advertising refers to the accessory pieces as the "magic ten" items used in general living and entertaining.

She Has Word Of Rest For A Worried Border

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Edna Snedden, telephone operator at a hotel, received a call on the house telephone. The caller was a lad from a boy's ranch in Texas.

"Ma'am," the small voice asked, "do we have to make our own beds?"

Mrs. Snedden explained the maids make the beds, providing what may have been the high point of the boy's trip.

Idleness Claims Drop

Employment Outlook Good

Despite the lengthy, crippling steel strike which affected hundreds directly or indirectly in the Tri-State area, the employment picture in the East Liverpool district is somewhat brighter than it was a year ago.

Mrs. Mary Jane Frontone, acting manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office, reported in a yearend summary that new claims for unemployment benefits declined 40 per cent and the number of continuing claims dropped 49 per cent.

THE FIGURES indicated the area covered by the office made a comeback after a slump in business activity in 1958 sent claims soaring to a five-year high.

The average weekly number of new claims filed last year was 74, the lowest since 1956, Mrs. Frontone said. The average in 1957 was 88 and it boomed to 125 in 1958.

Included in the average last year were six new claims filed weekly under Ohio's extended benefits program, which has been ended, she said.

Continued claims dropped to an average of 406 weekly, including 48 filed for extended benefits, after reaching a peak of 790 in 1958.

The high period for both new and continued claims was the week ending Jan. 10, Mrs. Frontone continued. In that week, the average number of new claims was 196 while 679 continued claims were filed.

—:—

JANUARY GENERALLY is high, she explained, because of layoffs of extra Christmas help and a decline in construction. Adding to last year's seasonal layoffs was the bitter cold spell which virtually halted all outside work.

The lowest number of new claims was filed in the week ending May 16 with only 28 while the low period for continued claims was the 192 received in the week ending June 13.

Last year also saw a drop in the average number seeking work each month. Mrs. Frontone said there were 216 new people seeking jobs each month while the average, including carryovers, was 857.

The monthly average in 1958 was a whopping 1,450 while in 1957 it was 708.

In contrast, the number of job openings rose from 742 in 1958 to 930 last year, she said.

THE TOTAL NUMBER of placements through the office last year was 692 with virtually no seasonal agricultural jobs being filled, she said. The total included 23 agricultural workers and 35 handicapped persons.

The season agricultural jobs, such as berry and apple pickers, apparently were taken by idled steel workers, Mrs. Frontone said, with only a very few calls from farmers asking for seasonal help during harvests.

In 1958, the placements were 883, including 283 hired for agricultural work. In other years, calls for agricultural help kept the office busy in the peak months. For example, in 1956, 1,891 agricultural placements were made and in 1957 the total was 1,740.

The office counseled 727 people last year and conducted tests for 605. In 1958, 764 were counseled and 533 were tested, she concluded.

He'll Call Dog Out Next Time For Chow

He'll Call Dog Out 14 time

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The next time Dick Davidson of Shelby feeds his dog, he'll call him out of the doghouse first.

Davidson, 38, was treated at a hospital here for bite wounds in the forearm. He told attendants that he stuck his arm into his dog's house and was bitten — by a visiting raccoon.

West Virginia Candidate Taken By Heart Attack

FAIRMONT (AP) — A former state official died of a heart attack Thursday shortly after his candidacy for the Marion County Court was announced in the morning newspaper.

Howard E. Woodward, 77, was stricken at his home and died about 2:15 a. m. He had just returned home from downtown, where he had listened to a radio broadcast of the West Virginia University — California basketball game in Los Angeles. It did not begin until midnight (EST).

The Thursday morning Fairmont Times had been on the street about an hour carrying Woodward's announcement that he would seek nomination for the county court in the primary election next May.

Woodward, who was retired, was a former deputy director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs. He also had represented Marion County for one term in the House of Delegates, to which he was elected in 1934.

A widow survives.

$376,796 In City Balances

East Liverpool finished 1959 with $44,110.84 in the general fund as part of cash balances totaling $376,796, retiring City Auditor H. J. Gallimore reported Thursday afternoon as he closed his books for the last time and prepared to retire after a working span of 49 years.

The auditor completed work on computing the cash balance in each fund in time to turn over the books and the office to Lawrence C. Applegate, who took over the post today for a four - year term — part of the new Democratic administration at City Hall.

THE GENERAL fund total is most significant of the list, as it represents cash with which the new administration will be able to operate the city early in the new year.

Actually, however, other expenditures have been encumbered which will not be deducted from the totals until the auditor's office starts work on the new year. For instance, the Board of Control issued vouchers late yesterday for several major expenditures — after the books had been closed for 1959.

Taking into account the encumbrances, the actual balance in the general fund is expected to total $20,000 to $25,000 or better.

Many of the balances do not represent working capital, but money that is held in reserve by the water and sewage departments, for instance.

HERE ARE THE balances in the other funds:

Garbage, $27,422.63; swimming pool, $2,102.99; relief, $8,534.70; income tax revenue, $888.35; water meter rotating fund, $18,197.61; water department depreciation, $10,000; water department replacement and reserve, $2,146.86.

Regular water department fund, $40,654.89; sewage revenue, $40,654.89; sewage construction, $52,791.54; sewage department replacement and improvements, $47,260; "disaster" street repair fund, $9,430; street construction, maintenance and repair, $16,429.34; state highway street repair fund, $2,236.68; rotating bicycle license fund, $692.29; Civil Defense, $107; special assessments and auditor's special assessment fund, $47,548.17, and transfer account, treasurer's state highway fund, $94.05.

WHEN GALLIMORE closed his office door yesterday, he walked into retirement after a working span just short of a half century.

A postal employe for 43 years, he was appointed city auditor Jan. 1, 1954, to serve the 2 years remaining in the term of E. Allan McKeever, who was assuming office as mayor.

Gallimore later was elected to a four - year term, which closed yesterday.

He said he has no immediate plans for the future, but expects to "take it easy" at least in the first stages of his retirement.

GALLIMORE was a familiar figure at City Hall for many years before he became an official, as his Post Office route in the downtown area included stops every day at the municipal building.

A flower fancier, he has been active for many years in the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society as well as in church and Boy Scout work.

In addition to spending his leisure time at his home on Smithfield St., the retiring auditor said he expects to take advantage of the opportunity to take short motor trips to enjoy the scenery and may make a vacation jaunt to Florida.

Two Men And Woman Charged With Burglary

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Two young men and a woman, captured Wednesday by Strongsville police in a fast auto chase, Thursday were charged with the burglary of a North Eaton supermarket.

The charges were filed in Elyria Municipal Court against James Ringer, 26, of Nova, his brother-in-law, Steve Hlovac, 27, of Route 1, Polk, and Luella Gamm, 21, also of Nova.

Miss Gamm and Ringer entered innocent pleas and were held on bond for a hearing Wednesday. Hlovac requested and received a continuation until Monday.

The Dutch, who first explored Australia in 1613, called the land New Holland.

New Year

thronged churches for midnight services.

President Eisenhower, back from a historic three-continent tour to 11 friendly nations and looking ahead to a Soviet visit as well as a summit conference, was in Augusta, Ga.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower had a small private dinner party at the Augusta National Golf Club.

In the Soviet Union the celebration closely resembled that of an American Christmas. New Year's is one of the three major holidays there.

It is featured by gift-giving on a grand scale. Fir trees are set up in Soviet homes just as Christmas trees are in the West. Stores are lavishly decorated and there are representations of hwat Westerners would call Santa Claus but he is called Grandfather Frost.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, members of the Soviet Presidium and high-ranking artists and scholars gathered in the Kremlin to drink toasts.

New Year's Day was one of marked contrast in Cuba. Exactly a year ago the revolutionary forces of Fidel Castro emerged triumphant after a bitter struggle and overthrew the government of Fulgencio Batista.

But the year of 1959 was not an easy one for Castro and his followers. Executions of hundreds of his foes and other stringent measures imposed on Cubans drew increasing criticism from outside, notably the United States.

Castro, in turn, began to unleash acid verbal blasts at the United States.

But in a surprising turnabout—possibly in an effort to restore better feelings—Castro invited a number of Americans and other foreigners to a special New Year's dinner.

Among those invited were former boxing champion Joe Louis; baseball's Willie Mays, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson; French novelist Claude Faux; and editor Claude Julian of the Paris Le Monde.

The semiofficial Havana newspaper Revolucion said the dinner carried special significance as "more than 50 North American personalities, both black and white, will sit down together with color no bar to their meeting as brothers."

In New York Robinson reported that he had not been invited to any dinner in Havana.

Mouse Is TV Viewer; That's What Man Said!

BALTIMORE (AP) — C. Heath Johnson says there's a mouse in his house that creeps out on a desk top every evening to watch television, for as long as 30 minutes at a time.

Johnson doesn't plan to try to trap the mouse. He has nothing against it, he says, except its taste for TV spectaculars.

No, Lad, They're Not Electing New Teachers

BON AIR, Va. (AP) — A curious lad looked at the ballot boxes at the Bon Air Elementary School.

"What are these for?" he asked.

An election official explained that the people were voting that day.

"Are they electing new teachers?" he asked hopefully.

Dairy Herd Group Elects

LISBON — Officers were re-elected at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Wednesday afternoon at the Paul Whitmer farm on Columbiana R. D. 1.

They are Robert Witmer chairman; Lowell Baker of Salem R. D. 1, vice chairman; Blaine Hart of Salem R. D. 3, treasurer, and Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, secretary.

The directors authorized purchase of four Milk-O-Meters so that operators with pipeline milk installations can keep individual records of their cows. The meters will cost $125 each from a Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) concern.

The meters will be used by the association's four testers — Carl Shipley of Damascus, Oscar Webster of East Palestine R. D. 2, John Hammond of North Benton and P. W. Freshley of Homeworth.

The board decided to charge $1 per year per cow and the testers will take the meters from farm to farm in their territories.

Approximately 20 of the 165 association members have pipeline installations by which they pipe milk directly from the cow into a storage tank. Anyone interested in the Milk-O-Meter service may contact the extension office in Lisbon or Canfield.

A representative of the meter company will meet with the board and testers to demonstrate the equipment when it arrives. It will then be placed into operation.

Rogers

pear to have been used as effectively as they can be."

He said the FCC clearly has authority to consider deceptive programs and advertising in connection with licensing of stations but "the commission has used this authority sparingly in recent years."

Among other things, Rogers recommended that the FCC consider adopting regulations which would "require some guarantees of honesty with respect to matter that is broadcast." He said that stations could be required to obtain from networks, the networks from independent, outside producers, warranties that a contest program is what it purports to be.

What Rogers was proposing contrasted with some of the offhand impressions Eisenhower had at the time he asked Rogers to made the study of abuses in broadcasting.

At a news conference in Augusta, Oct. 22, the President told a questioner that if there was TV rigging, "It's a terrible thing to do to the American public," he added that he had made an inquiry of his own right away "and so far as I can see up to this moment the executive branch of the government has had no responsibility or even no place to do anything."

The Rogers' report reviewed what came out at congressional hearings about abuses in the broadcasting field, what federal agencies and the industry have done since, and what he thinks still needs to be done.

Rogers said there was widespread rigging of TV quiz shows and that "it is likely that known instances of payola are more than isolated cases."

"The testimony before a House committee in connection with the quiz shows has shown that schoolteachers, infants, clergymen and others from many walks of life had been drawn into a gigantic hoax perpetrated upon the nation through the medium of television," Rogers said.

As a practical matter, he said, the individual station was not in a position to control or even know about show rigging. He noted that heads of networks and some of their principal aides testified that they also were completely surprised by the disclosures of rigging.

"The fact that the quiz shows were produced by independent packagers provides the networks with neither a practical excuse—the networks could nevertheless have seen to it that necessary precautions were taken — nor a legal one," he added.

The attorney general's report reached Eisenhower Wednesday at his vacation headquarters here. In a brief letter of reply, Eisenhower told his chief legal adviser to keep his inquiry going and bring in recommendations from time to time.

"The report indicates that there may be further developments and that governmental bodies concerned have not completed all of the action which they may be considering," the President said.

Killed And Devoured

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Tibetan porters claim a Soviet climber on Mt. Everest was killed and devoured last spring by an Abominable Snowman (Yeti), long sought what's-it of the Himalayas. The head lama, a fugitive from Red Chinese troops, says he believes the man was killed by an avalanche rather than a Yeti.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

The Year Of Scandal

It's not been a very creative year, has it? It's been the year of scandal and that has not been a bad thing. But the creativity which follows a clean-up, I devoutly hope, will come later. At least it has not come yet.

John Crosby

Television produced no new shows and what's more surprising, no new faces.

There were no outstanding live original dramas.

It is significant that the best drama of the year, "Moon And Sixpence" combined the talents of two old pros—Somerset Maugham, who wrote it, and Sir Laurence Olivier who starred in it, both English.

CBS started a workshop for writers and directors which indicated the great paucity of those two commodities.

There aren't any young directors around. The woods used to be full of them but most of the better ones have gone on to greater glory in the cinema or the Broadway stage.

It's a crying shame that youngsters were not encouraged to follow in their footsteps, to work in the shadow of the talented fellows before they left.

THE AFTERMATH of scandal has been the promise of better things but so far it's been only promise.

We were promised, for example, an end of fake laughter on the comedy shows. Instead we got a lot of gibberish. "This has been a recorded program with audience response technically augmented."

CBS's programs now all end with some such malarkey as that, all sounding as if they have been written by lawyers.

I didn't mean to disparage the honest intent behind these clumsily worded announcements. The honesty is a great thing. CBS just needs a new writer.

However, I wish they'd follow through and really get rid of the canned laughter and not just announce that it's canned.

Where are the new faces? Through the year, three of the top faces (all NBC's) Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Steve Allen have all dimmed a little.

Como and Allen both lost caste by moving away from the weekend.

Miss Shore's show is in the same place and it's as good as ever, if not better, but it's familiar.

Jack Benny's show has lost some of its sparkle. Phil Silvers and Gleason have disappeared.

OF THE NEW FACES the one which seems to have the greatest promise of remaining is "Dennis The Menace," a kid's face which seems aimed unabashedly at the kid's trade.

This is not a bad show but it calls attention to an alarming trend in television to aim the shows at the very young and the very old.

(The advertising industry, I'm convinced, isn't really interested in selling anything. They're interested only in ratings and ratings only mean the set is turned on; not that anyone's paying much attention. The most reckless set turners-on are the very old and very young.)

There were sporadic and not very successful efforts during the year to interest the teen-age set.

This started last spring with such confections as "Too Young To Go Steady" and "Peck's Bad Girl," whose titles are self-explanatory and continued with "Many Loves Of Dobie Gillis" which introduced Tuesday Weld to the mass audience from which it may never recover.

None of these shows has made show biz history exactly.

It's just possible that the teenager, one of the mainstays of radio ("Henry Aldrich" Corliss Archer" and the rest of it) is not going to leave such footprints on television, conceivabley because you have to look at him.

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT development of the year—and possibly of several years—lay in the public affairs field.

Largely because of the quiz scandal, sponsors were lining up to pay up the tabs on such public affairs shows as "CBS Reports" (whose "Biography of a Missile" and Population Explosion" were marvellously serious journalism) and "Journey To Understanding" and "Eyewitness to History."

These programs were put on prime evening time over the full network and attracted respectable audiences and enormous attention to the top issues of the day.

If Van Doren did nothing else, he managed to spring important television from the Sunday afternoon pocket.

Miami Watershed's Directors Okays Improvement Program

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Like a wagon train plodding toward its goal, the revised plan for improvements in the Maumee watershed has survived another skirmish and moved closer to fruition.

The watershed district's board of directors approved the plan Thursday after hearing 12 individuals speak for or against it. Eight of the speakers favored the plan, three objected to the part concerning the Tiffin River basin (saying it isn't extensive enough), and one objected to the plan in its entirety.

The directors also considered 13 formal objections submitted in writing and one from the Allen County Commissioners, the only public body to voice objection Thursday.

The last time, 62, individuals and several public bodies attacked the Tiffin River phase, and 245 objected to the part of the plan involving the Auglaize River.

Improvements for the Tiffin River are expected to cost around $1,321,900, for the Little Auglaize about $1,026,100 and for Grassy Creek $571,000.

The 15-judge (all common pleas jurists) Maumee Watershed Conservancy Court meets here sometime between Feb. 1 and 11 to hear arguments for and against the plan. If the court approves it, appraisals will begin in the local areas where improvements are proposed. Local hearings could still result in minor changes.

The conservancy district was formed five years ago. Its original plan for improvements met considerable opposition, particularly from the Allen County commissioners, and a new plan was drawn up early in 1959.

Deaths

somber pattern of traffic deaths was concentrated in the northeast portion of the county. Sites of fatal accidents were scattered as far west as the area near the Stark County line, but most were east of Salem and north of East Liverpool, and none occurred south of Route 30 except for 2 in the Glenmoor district.

Well-traveled Route 30 again claimed the most lives, 2 in California Hollow and 5 in the Kensington area, including the one in which four young Salem and Lisbon men were killed in August.

Route 7, another main traffic artery, took 2 lives — a double fatality involving an Elkton man and his son. In 1958 there were 4 killed on Route 30 and 2 on Route 7.

The patrol said a year-end survey shows the most accidents of all types took place on Route 62 west of Salem, followed by Route 30 between Lisbon and East Liverpool and Route 7 between Route 30 and Route 14. Route 45 between Lisbon and Salem was the scene of many mishaps, officers said.

A breakdown of the fatalities in each month shows one killed in January, two in February, four in March, two in April, three in May, one in June, three in July, seven in August, one each in September and October, none in November and three in December.

The 1959 traffic toll boosted an even 600 the number killed in auto accidents in the country in the past 23 years since records were kept.

The death list for the past decade has been: 1957—28; 1956—17; 1955—30; 1954—24; 1953—27; 1952—35; 1951—19; 1950—19, and 1949—35. The average number killed annually since 1949 has been 26.

Speeding was to blame in more than half the accidents in the county, according to Cpl. John Miller of the Lisbon post who is completing the annual report on traffic mishaps in the county.

"The No. 1 cause was speeding in excess of road conditions, followed by just plain speeding — in excess of legal limits," he said. Next in order of causes were improper passing and driving left of center.

Miller agreed the theme for safe driving this new year could be, "Don't Drive 'Like Sixty' in 1960.

Police Across Nation Seek To Avert Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Motorists took to the roads by millions Thursday night for New Year's Eve parties or weekend jaunts while police across the nation girded for all-out accident prevention measures.

But nothing like the flow of traffic which took 493 lives during the Christmas weekend was expected. Efforts were directed mainly at coping with the tippling reveler behind the wheel during the zero hours before and immediately after the old year's death.

In some cities, police cleared out their drunk tanks for weaving drivers who'll face stern judges during their first 1960 hangovers. Thousands of traffic officers went on night shift to patrol streets.

The National Safety Council estimated that the New Year holiday could bring 320 traffic deaths between 6 p.m. Thursday night and midnight Sunday, local times.

$376,796 In City Balances

East Liverpool finished 1959 with $44,110.84 in the general fund as part of cash balances totaling $376,796, retiring City Auditor H. J. Gallimore reported Thursday afternoon as he closed his books for the last time and prepared to retire after a working span of 49 years.

The auditor completed work on computing the cash balance in each fund in time to turn over the books and the office to Lawrence C. Applegate, who took over the post today for a four - year term — part of the new Democratic administration at City Hall.

THE GENERAL fund total is most significant of the list, as it represents cash with which the new administration will be able to operate the city early in the new year.

Actually, however, other expenditures have been encumbered which will not be deducted from the totals until the auditor's office starts work on the new year. For instance, the Board of Control issued vouchers late yesterday for several major expenditures — after the books had been closed for 1959.

Taking into account the encumbrances, the actual balance in the general fund is expected to total $20,000 to $25,000 or better.

Many of the balances do not represent working capital, but money that is held in reserve by the water and sewage departments, for instance.

HERE ARE THE balances in the other funds:

Garbage, $27,422.63; swimming pool, $2,102.99; relief, $8,534.70; income tax revenue, $888.35; water meter rotating fund, $18,197.61; water department depreciation, $10,000; water department replacement and reserve, $2,146.86.

Regular water department fund, $40,654.89; sewage revenue, $40,654.89; sewage construction, $52,791.54; sewage department replacement and improvements, $47,260; "disaster" street repair fund, $9,430; street construction, maintenance and repair, $16,429.34; state highway street repair fund, $2,236.68; rotating bicycle license fund, $692.29; Civil Defense, $107; special assessments and auditor's special assessment fund, $47,548.17, and transfer account, treasurer's state highway fund, $94.05.

WHEN GALLIMORE closed his office door yesterday, he walked into retirement after a working span just short of a half century.

A postal employe for 43 years, he was appointed city auditor Jan. 1, 1954, to serve the 2 years remaining in the term of E. Allan McKeever, who was assuming office as mayor.

Gallimore later was elected to a four - year term, which closed yesterday.

He said he has no immediate plans for the future, but expects to "take it easy" at least in the first stages of his retirement.

GALLIMORE was a familiar figure at City Hall for many years before he became an official, as his Post Office route in the downtown area included stops every day at the municipal building.

A flower fancier, he has been active for many years in the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society as well as in church and Boy Scout work.

In addition to spending his leisure time at his home on Smithfield St., the retiring auditor said he expects to take advantage of the opportunity to take short motor trips to enjoy the scenery and may make a vacation jaunt to Florida.

President Eisenhower, back from a historic three-continent tour to 11 friendly nations and looking ahead to a Soviet visit as well as a summit conference, was in Augusta, Ga.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower had a small private dinner party at the Augusta National Golf Club.

In the Soviet Union the celebration closely resembled that of an American Christmas. New Year's is one of the three major holidays there.

New Year's Day was one of marked contrast in Cuba. Exactly a year ago the revolutionary forces of Fidel Castro emerged triumphant after a bitter struggle and overthrew the government of Fulgencio Batista.

But the year of 1959 was not an easy one for Castro and his followers. Executions of hundreds of his foes and other stringent measures imposed on Cubans drew increasing criticism from outside, notably the United States.

Castro, in turn, began to unleash acid verbal blasts at the United States.

But in a surprising turnabout—possibly in an effort to restore better feelings—Castro invited a number of Americans and other foreigners to a special New Year's dinner.

Among those invited were former boxing champion Joe Louis; baseball's Willie Mays, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson; French novelist Claude Faux; and editor Claude Julian of the Paris Le Monde.

The semiofficial Havana newspaper Revolucion said the dinner carried special significance as "more than 50 North American personalities, both black and white, will sit down together with color no bar to their meeting as brothers."

In New York Robinson reported that he had not been invited to any dinner in Havana.

Two Men And Woman Charged With Burglary

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Two young men and a woman, captured Wednesday by Strongsville police in a fast auto chase, Thursday were charged with the burglary of a North Eaton supermarket.

The charges were filed in Elyria Municipal Court against James Ringer, 26, of Nova, his brother-in-law, Steve Hlovac, 27, of Route 1, Polk, and Luella Gamm, 21, also of Nova.

Miss Gamm and Ringer entered innocent pleas and were held on bond for a hearing Wednesday. Hlovac requested and received a continuation until Monday.

Dairy Herd Group Elects

LISBON — Officers were re-elected at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Wednesday afternoon at the Paul Whitmer farm on Columbiana R. D. 1.

They are Robert Witmer chairman; Lowell Baker of Salem R. D. 1, vice chairman; Blaine Hart of Salem R. D. 3, treasurer, and Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, secretary.

The directors authorized purchase of four Milk-O-Meters so that operators with pipeline milk installations can keep individual records of their cows. The meters will cost $125 each from a Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) concern.

The meters will be used by the association's four testers — Carl Shipley of Damascus, Oscar Webster of East Palestine R. D. 2, John Hammond of North Benton and P. W. Freshley of Homeworth.

The board decided to charge $1 per year per cow and the testers will take the meters from farm to farm in their territories.

Approximately 20 of the 165 association members have pipeline installations by which they pipe milk directly from the cow into a storage tank. Anyone interested in the Milk-O-Meter service may contact the extension office in Lisbon or Canfield.

A representative of the meter company will meet with the board and testers to demonstrate the equipment when it arrives. It will then be placed into operation.

Rogers

pear to have been used as effectively as they can be."

He said the FCC clearly has authority to consider deceptive programs and advertising in connection with licensing of stations but "the commission has used this authority sparingly in recent years."

Among other things, Rogers recommended that the FCC consider adopting regulations which would "require some guarantees of honesty with respect to matter that is broadcast." He said that stations could be required to obtain from networks, the networks from independent, outside producers, warranties that a contest program is what it purports to be.

What Rogers was proposing contrasted with some of the offhand impressions Eisenhower had at the time he asked Rogers to made the study of abuses in broadcasting.

At a news conference in Augusta, Oct. 22, the President told a questioner that if there was TV rigging, "It's a terrible thing to do to the American public," he added that he had made an inquiry of his own right away "and so far as I can see up to this moment the executive branch of the government has had no responsibility or even no place to do anything."

The Rogers' report reviewed what came out at congressional hearings about abuses in the broadcasting field, what federal agencies and the industry have done since, and what he thinks still needs to be done.

Rogers said there was widespread rigging of TV quiz shows and that "it is likely that known instances of payola are more than isolated cases."

"The testimony before a House committee in connection with the quiz shows has shown that schoolteachers, infants, clergymen and others from many walks of life had been drawn into a gigantic hoax perpetrated upon the nation through the medium of television," Rogers said.

As a practical matter, he said, the individual station was not in a position to control or even know about show rigging. He noted that heads of networks and some of their principal aides testified that they also were completely surprised by the disclosures of rigging.

"The fact that the quiz shows were produced by independent packagers provides the networks with neither a practical excuse—the networks could nevertheless have seen to it that necessary precautions were taken — nor a legal one," he added.

The attorney general's report reached Eisenhower Wednesday at his vacation headquarters here. In a brief letter of reply, Eisenhower told his chief legal adviser to keep his inquiry going and bring in recommendations from time to time.

"The report indicates that there may be further developments and that governmental bodies concerned have not completed all of the action which they may be considering," the President said.

Killed And Devoured

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Tibetan porters claim a Soviet climber on Mt. Everest was killed and devoured last spring by an Abominable Snowman (Yeti), long sought what's-it of the Himalayas. The head lama, a fugitive from Red Chinese troops, says he believes the man was killed by an avalanche rather than a Yeti.

Pat Earey has coached the North Carolina swimmers the last two seasons and each time the Tar Heels won Atlantic Coast Conference titles.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

The Year Of Scandal

It's not been a very creative year, has it? It's been the year of scandal and that has not been a bad thing. But the creativity which follows a clean-up, I devoutly hope, will come later. At least it has not come yet.

John Crosby

Television produced no new shows and what's more surprising, no new faces.

There were no outstanding live original dramas.

It is significant that the best drama of the year, "Moon And Sixpence" combined the talents of two old pros—Somerset Maugham, who wrote it, and Sir Laurence Olivier who starred in it, both English.

CBS started a workshop for writers and directors which indicated the great paucity of those two commodities.

There aren't any young directors around. The woods used to be full of them but most of the better ones have gone on to greater glory in the cinema or the Broadway stage.

It's a crying shame that youngsters were not encouraged to follow in their footsteps, to work in the shadow of the talented fellows before they left.

THE AFTERMATH of scandal has been the promise of better things but so far it's been only promise.

We were promised, for example, an end of fake laughter on the comedy shows. Instead we got a lot of gibberish. "This has been a recorded program with audience response technically augmented."

CBS's programs now all end with some such malarkey as that, all sounding as if they have been written by lawyers.

I didn't mean to disparage the honest intent behind these clumsily worded announcements. The honesty is a great thing. CBS just needs a new writer.

However, I wish they'd follow through and really get rid of the canned laughter and not just announce that it's canned.

Where are the new faces? Through the year, three of the top faces (all NBC's) Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Steve Allen have all dimmed a little.

Como and Allen both lost caste by moving away from the weekend.

Miss Shore's show is in the same place and it's as good as ever, if not better, but it's familiar.

Jack Benny's show has lost some of its sparkle. Phil Silvers and Gleason have disappeared.

(Of course, with the rerun business the way it is, no one exactly disappears.)

OF THE NEW FACES the one which seems to have the greatest promise of remaining is "Dennis The Menace," a kid's face which seems aimed unabashedly at the kid's trade.

This is not a bad show but it calls attention to an alarming trend in television to aim the shows at the very young and the very old.

(The advertising industry, I'm convinced, isn't really interested in selling anything. They're interested only in ratings and ratings only mean the set is turned on; not that anyone's paying much attention. The most reckless set turners-on are the very old and very young.)

There were sporadic and not very successful efforts during the year to interest the teen-age set.

This started last spring with such confections as "Too Young To Go Steady" and "Peck's Bad Girl," whose titles are self-explanatory and continued with "Many Loves Of Dobie Gillis" which introduced Tuesday Weld to the mass audience from which it may never recover.

None of these shows has made show biz history exactly.

It's just possible that the teenager, one of the mainstays of radio ("Henry Aldrich" Corliss Archer" and the rest of it) is not going to leave such footprints on television, conceivabley because you have to look at him.

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT development of the year—and possibly of several years—lay in the public affairs field.

Largely because of the quiz scandal, sponsors were lining up to pay up the tabs on such public affairs shows as "CBS Reports" (whose "Biography of a Missile" and Population Explosion" were marvellously serious journalism) and "Journey To Understanding" and "Eyewitness to History."

These programs were put on prime evening time over the full network and attracted respectable audiences and enormous attention to the top issues of the day.

If Van Doren did nothing else, he managed to spring important television from the Sunday afternoon pocket.

Miami Watershed's Directors Okays Improvement Program

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Like a wagon train plodding toward its goal, the revised plan for improvements in the Maumee watershed has survived another skirmish and moved closer to fruition.

The watershed district's board of directors approved the plan Thursday after hearing 12 individuals speak for or against it. Eight of the speakers favored the plan, three objected to the part concerning the Tiffin River basin (saying it isn't extensive enough), and one objected to the plan in its entirety.

The directors also considered 13 formal objections submitted in writing and one from the Allen County Commissioners, the only public body to voice objection Thursday.

The last time, 62, individuals and several public bodies attacked the Tiffin River phase, and 245 objected to the part of the plan involving the Auglaize River.

Improvements for the Tiffin River are expected to cost around $1,321,900, for the Little Auglaize about $1,026,100 and for Grassy Creek $571,000.

The 15-judge (all common pleas jurists) Maumee Watershed Conservancy Court meets here sometime between Feb. 1 and 11 to hear arguments for and against the plan. If the court approves it, appraisals will begin in the local areas where improvements are proposed. Local hearings could still result in minor changes.

The conservancy district was formed five years ago. Its original plan for improvements met considerable opposition, particularly from the Allen County commissioners, and a new plan was drawn up early in 1959.

Deaths

somber pattern of traffic deaths was concentrated in the northeast portion of the county. Sites of fatal accidents were scattered as far west as the area near the Stark County line, but most were east of Salem and north of East Liverpool, and none occurred south of Route 30 except for 2 in the Glenmoor district.

Well-traveled Route 30 again claimed the most lives, 2 in California Hollow and 5 in the Kensington area, including the one in which four young Salem and Lisbon men were killed in August.

Route 7, another main traffic artery, took 2 lives — a double fatality involving an Elkton man and his son. In 1958 there were 4 killed on Route 30 and 2 on Route 7.

The patrol said a year-end survey shows the most accidents of all types took place on Route 62 west of Salem, followed by Route 30 between Lisbon and East Liverpool and Route 7 between Route 30 and Route 14. Route 45 between Lisbon and Salem was the scene of many mishaps, officers said.

A breakdown of the fatalities in each month shows one killed in January, two in February, four in March, two in April, three in May, one in June, three in July, seven in August, one each in September and October, none in November and three in December.

The 1959 traffic toll boosted an even 600 the number killed in auto accidents in the country in the past 23 years since records were kept.

The death list for the past decade has been: 1957—28; 1956—17; 1955—30; 1954—24; 1953—27; 1952—35; 1951—19; 1950—19, and 1949—35. The average number killed annually since 1949 has been 26.

Speeding was to blame in more than half the accidents in the county, according to Cpl. John Miller of the Lisbon post who is completing the annual report on traffic mishaps in the county.

"The No. 1 cause was speeding in excess of road conditions, followed by just plain speeding — in excess of legal limits," he said. Next in order of causes were improper passing and driving left of center.

Miller agreed the theme for safe driving this new year could be, "Don't Drive 'Like Sixty' in 1960.

Police Across Nation Seek To Avert Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Motorists took to the roads by millions Thursday night for New Year's Eve parties or weekend jaunts while police across the nation girded for all-out accident prevention measures.

But nothing like the flow of traffic which took 493 lives during the Christmas weekend was expected. Efforts were directed mainly at coping with the tippling reveler behind the wheel during the zero hours before and immediately after the old year's death.

In some cities, police cleared out their drunk tanks for weaving drivers who'll face stern judges during their first 1960 hangovers. Thousands of traffic officers went on night shift to patrol streets.

The National Safety Council estimated that the New Year holiday could bring 320 traffic deaths between 6 p.m. Thursday night and midnight Sunday, local times.

Chairmen Review Activity Of Kiwanis Club For 1959

Reports of Kiwanis Club activities, ranging from youth programs to winning first place in interclub meetings, were given by committee chairmen at a luncheon Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Sponsoring of 7 surgical operation, sending 15 youngsters to summer camps and aid for diabetes tests for Boy Scouts were reported by Joe Prayer, head of the youth activities committee. He said the club also contributed $150 to Key Club work and $100 for the annual basketball banquet.

Marion Horger reported on the club's annual Christmas party for needy youngsters, and James Walker described the activities of the club-sponsored PONY baseball league, two more youth projects.

Ed Maloney, interclub chairman, said club members traveled 18,500 miles and garnered 1,068 points to win the Kiwanis Division distance and points contests for interclub meetings.

David (Pete) Beatty, attendance and membership chairman, said the club's attendance averaged just under 90 per cent, and cited interclub activities as aiding the attendance. The club has 64 members.

Judson English reported in programs for the year, commending club officers for helping provide interesting programs. Rowland Kaufman, retiring president, cited English for his work.

A report on vocation guidance activities of the club was given by Paul Blair, who said five speaking programs were presented, and aid was given the high school guidance program, future teachers group and to establishment of the Kent State University Center. He said the club contributed $100 to the library fund.

John Mostoller, chairman of the church support committee, said six religious programs were presented during the year, including a visit from Dr. Perry E. Gresham of Bethany College. He also reported a census is being completed on club membership which shows a high amount of church activity and leadership.

Harold Allison, chairman of the public affairs committee, said the committee has had safety and community discussions with city officials and the Chamber of Commerce, and sponsored some radio announcements.

A report on club finances was summarized by Harry George, treasurer.

Kaufman expressed appreciation to the club for its accomplishments of the past year, and turned the gavel over to William Porter, new president.

Charles Schell pointed out the club is tied for 16th place among the 262 in Ohio, and said the primary reason was the leadership in the city organization. He called for a vote of thanks for Kaufman which was given.

Installation of officers will be held Jan. 12 at the Country Club with wives as guests.

TV For Home Work

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Children should be required to watch TV as part of their home work, says Michael Swann, professor of natural history at Edinburgh University. He told an education meeting TV would develop their critical faculties and stimulate classroom discussion of "the ultimate boringness of the bad and the excitement of the good." He recommends quiz shows, documentaries and plays.

'59 Termed Wettest Year In Many Decades In County

Jupiter Pluvius, mythical rain deity, or more beleivable meterological factors, helped give Columbiana County one of the wettest years in many decades, according to the 1959 weather summary.

With a total of 44.28 inches of precipitation, the past year became the fourth dampest on the records of Edwin Copeland of Millport, U. S. weather observer, who said the average annual rainfall in 67-year period has been 37 inches.

Copeland said 1959 succeeded 1958 in fourth place in rainfall by almost a quarter of an inch — the total for the previous year was 44.04 inches. The wettest year on the books was 1898 with 51.10 inches.

There were 115 days in 1959 with measurable rain or snow. The heaviest rainfall occurred Aug. 4 with an even 2 inches, Copeland said. June was the wettest month with 5.37 inches.

Snowfall amounted to 30 inches, compared to the normal 24 inches. March had a total of 10½ inches of snow for the year's monthly high.

Copeland said there were only three months in which the rainfall did not exceed normal — March, August and September. December had 2.72 inches compared to the normal 2.54 inches, and posted 8 inches of snow, well over the normal 5.7 inches.

The weather observer said there is an abundance of water in the ground at present, revealed by the high level of creeks and streams. He said many farmers, including himself, had the best corn and hay crops ever, due to the rainfall and fine growing days. He said wheat and barley crops suffered due to the very cold winter, however.

The past year also posted an above-normal temperature mark—averaging 49.6 degrees, one full degree over the annual norm of 48.6 degrees. In 1958 the average was 47 degrees.

The mercury ranged from a low of 12 degrees below Jan. 18 to a high of 94 degrees Sept. 8. There were 8 days of below zero readings and 12 days ni the 90's, according to Copeland.

December was also warmer than usual, posting an average temperature of 33.4 degrees, almost 4 degrees over the norm of 29.5 degrees.

The coldest day last month was Dec. 22 with a 1 degree reading, and the warmest was Dec. 27 with 58 degrees. There were 5 days during the month in the 50's. Sunshine was 5 per cent over the average of 30 per cent.

There were 16 cloudy days, 8 partly cloudy and 7 clear days.

A-Sub Being Prepared For Extended Cruise

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Navy disclosed Thursday that the world's largest known submarine, Triton, is being prepared for an extended cruise.

A spokesman said the 447-foot nuclear submarine is undergoing preparation at General Dynamics Corp. Electric Boat Division for extended operations which probably will include visits to foreign ports.

Names of the ports were not announced.

The 5,900-ton ship will leave early next year, but no return date was announced.

The Triton, presently in drydock, was launched Aug. 19, 1958, and commissioned last month.

Triton is the first submarine to be powered by twin pressurized water reactors. She already has successfully completed sea trials.

Snow Or No Snow—

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Snow or no snow, motorists here must have snow tires or chains on their vehicles Jan. 1 to April 1. The City Council made it a law.

Gen. McC. Pate Ends 38 Years In Marines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Randolph McC. Pate ended 38 years of service in the Marine Corps Thursday at a retirement ceremony in which he received the Distinguished Service Medal.

The formal retirement ceremonies for the outgoing Marine commandant, were held at the Marine Barracks with troops in review.

Undersecretary of Navy Fred A. Bantz pinned the medal on the general.

Lt. Gen. David M. Shoup will don a fourth star today and take over command of the Corps.

Americans Are Among Guests At Castro Fete

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro played host at a New Year's Eve dinner for a group of Americans and other foreigners invited to Havana by the Cuban Institute of Tourism, the newspaper Revolucion reported.

The semiofficial newspaper said special guests included ex - world heavyweight champion Joe Louis, who arrived from Los Angeles; baseball's Willie Mays, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson; French novelist Claude Faux and his wife; and Claude Julian, editor of the Paris Le Monde.

A-Sub Being Prepared For Extended Cruise

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Navy disclosed Thursday that the world's largest known submarine, Triton, is being prepared for an extended cruise.

A spokesman said the 447-foot nuclear submarine is undergoing preparation at General Dynamics Corp. Electric Boat Division for extended operations which probably will include visits to foreign ports.

Names of the ports were not announced.

The 5,900-ton ship will leave early next year, but no return date was announced.

The Triton, presently in drydock, was launched Aug. 19, 1958, and commissioned last month.

Triton is the first submarine to be powered by twin pressurized water reactors. She already has successfully completed sea trials.

Snow Or No Snow—
